and including March 31st, 1905 and July 3rd, 1905, for which there is record.

GEO. R. BOWLEY, Clerk.

TO THE MUNICIPAL OFFICERS OF THE TOWN OF SANFORD:

The Board of Engineers of Alert Fire company present herewith their annual report for the year ending February 22, 1906.

Our company has 33 men (all that our by-laws allow) and 6 substitutes who stand ready at any time to take the place of any member unavoidably absent from any fire. Each of the three divisions has competent Foremen and Assistant Foremen who, together with the members, constitute an efficient Fire company of which the town may well feel proud. The most harmonious relations and best of feelings exist between the the officers and members.

The Insurance Inspector who recently visited our town complimented our company, and expressed himself highly pleased with our facilities for fighting fire and the very satisfactory test of our water supply, the pressure remaining at 90 pounds even when discharging a 2 1-2 inch steam, estimated to be over 500 gallons per minute.

We respectfully suggest the advisability of buying a rubber lined hose in the future. The pressure is now so great that linen hose soon gives out. We also suggest the advantage of "shutoff" nozzles, it is so often the case that more damage is done by water than by the fire, and with a "shutoff" nozzle the amount of water used can be controlled by the pipemen. Seven of our coats have been torn and ought to be replaced. Large coats last longer than small ones.

The Board of Engineers wish to thank the municipal officers for their kindness, and the promptness with which they have responded to all our requests for supplies; the members for their loyalty and faithfulness; the Sanford Mills Fire Department for timely and efficient aid rendered, and, the cordial relations maintained under trying circumstances; and the citizens for the generous support and supplies given the company without which the present efficiency could not be maintained.

ROBERT RANKIN, Chief Engineer.
LINCOLN C. HOLMES, 1st Asst. Engineer.
ED. H. EMERY, 2nd Asst. Engineer.

In the above account we have counted no liability for breaking roads the present winter; the usual allowance of $1000 00 for this work would increase the liabilities that amount. Also please note that an error was made on the concrete sidewalk account. The balance from Cottage and River street should have been $204.59.

The time for making up and getting out the town reports is much too short. If the fiscal year closed earlier the usual complaint about the reports being late could be avoided. Many times in the experience of at least one member of the present board all the copy for the reports has been in the printer's hands by the 23rd day of February, but even then it has been found impossible to get the reports printed and distributed early enough for the voters to read them before the warrant was posted for the next annual meeting. The reading of the reports sometimes suggests things to voters that they would like to have acted on, but if they do not get the report until the warrant is up it is too late to get action on them. We suggest that the time for getting out the report should be extended.

REPORT

. . . . OF

Superintending School Committee.

To the Citizens of the Town of Sanford:

Your school committee beg to submit the following reports from superintendent, high school principals, supervisor of music and supervisor of drawing.

These reports cover the working conditions of our schools together with suggestions which will be of benefit if carried out. We would urge that the reports be carefully read. The work done by all connected with our schools deserves commendation, and we feel a just degree of satisfaction with the results obtained. The future of the town depends to a large extent on the training given our children. We would impress upon all parents the importance of using every effort to give a full course in our schools to those under their care.

During the year most of the rural school buildings have been painted outside, and made as attractive inside as funds will allow. These buildings will need shingling the coming year.

The Lincoln building was painted outside, and the interior walls tinted. New floors need to be laid in some of the rooms of this building.

The Springvale primary building has been supplied with a furnace, and the sanitary conditions improved; there yet remains some work to be done to make complete. This building should be covered with metal roofing.

It is very desirable that the hall in the Emerson building be finished for the use of school entertainments. We would recommend that three hundred dollars be appropriated for this purpose.

To maintain the schools for the coming year we recommend the following appropriations: Common schools, $9000; high schools, $3500; books and supplies, $1000; repairs and insurance, $1500.

Respectfully submitted,

W. E. DAVIS,
JENNIE P. WEYMOUTH,
GEORGE A. GOODWIN,

School Committee.

EDUCATION.

It is impossible for an intelligent man to-day to read or think or act in the narrow lines prescribed by the customs of the past.

“New occasions teach new duties,
Time makes ancient good uncouth.”

For a child to read and write fluently, spell and cipher correctly, know all the bays, capes, and rivers of the world, will not insure his prosperity, happiness, or peace of mind. The school is responsible for intellectual discipline. The school must do all its work in such a way as to develop incidentally, but effectually, all the essential negative and positive virtues. It must be easier for a boy from the public schools to be sober, industrious, honest, upright, than it would have been otherwise.

The tendency in his life must be away from personal abuse, social demoralization, physical neglect, idleness, and political vagabondism. It must help him to endure hardship, acquire patience, cultivate hope, attain peace of mind and buoyancy of spirit. We do not teach discipline for its own sake, but for the results of discipline in everyday life, in every sphere of life.

Infinitely above all other influences combined for the best discipline in our schools is the personality of the teacher. Consciously or unconsciously she must influence them for good or evil. That influence is always greater than we suppose. Who of us cannot to-day recall some teacher of our childhood whose memory is fragrant with all that is beautiful, good, and true?

I have often in my reports referred to the worth, ability and skill of the majority of teachers in our schools. At the present time, by far the greater number are graduates of a state normal school, or of a training school, or a college. Most of the others by long experience and study have become strong teachers.

Our grade teachers' salaries are scarcely large enough to allow them to live respectably. Every teacher ought to have a good home, and good food. Should be able to dress neatly and have something to spend for books and recreation. Surely the grade teachers cannot with the present schedule of salaries, have these things and save very much. Should we not be willing to pay for value received?

DRAWING.

Drawing has been in our schools for five years and it has come to be considered as a regular study, and in consequence, is taught as thoroughly as other subjects. The result is a line of work that educates both hand and eye, that helps to cultivate in children an appreciation of the beautiful things of life.

MUSIC.

Probably the pupil has no study which requires more careful thought, or that brings into exercise more of his faculties at the same time, than the study of music. Music is a great harmonizer, it inspires patriotism, it elevates the pupil and makes discipline easier.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

Our High schools have often been criticised for not being practical; especially for offering no opportunities to those who wish to enter the sphere of other activities than those of the professions. Our commercial course is one argument against the above criticisms. It has proven its worth and has caused many to continue their course in the high school who otherwise would not have done so.

I firmly believe, as I have often reported, that too much time is being devoted in our high schools in the college preparatory department. During the last three years not one pupil has entered college from the Emerson school, and only two pupils from the Lincoln school.

Under our revised course of study pupils may obtain an excellent preparation for any college; but, in view of the fact that comparatively few pupils from our high school enter college, we should insist on a larger amount of time being devoted to turning out a finished product of our own.

Our high schools should be a place where pupils are taught to have a higher regard for truth, to be more considerate for the rights of others, to be better qualified to take their places as citizens and neighbors, to know better how to care for their health. These are vital points that concerns the welfare of every pupil.

Several changes have taken place in the teaching force of our high schools during the year. Miss Alice E. Todd, resigned at the end of the spring term to accept a more lucrative position in the high school at Quincy, Mass. Miss Marguerite D. Webber was elected to succeed Miss Todd, and after teaching two weeks she contracted typhoid fever and was compelled to resign. Miss Elvena Young, a senior at Bates College completed the work of the fall term. Mr. Thompson gave up his work shortly after Miss Webber left, he also, had a severe run of typhoid. Mr. Gunnar J. Leufgren was secured to take Mr. Thompson's place. At the opening of the winter term Mr. Thompson returned, and Mr. Leufgren accepted the position of assistant.

At the end of the spring term, the position of Assistant in the Sanford High school was declared vacant. Miss Blanche Dole was elected as 1st. Assistant and Miss Ethel C. Buckman was elected to teach the commercial branches. Next year another assistant will be needed in order to carry on the work in a proper manner.

SPECIAL REPORTS.

I take pleasure in calling your attention to the reports from the principals of the high schools and the special teachers, which follow my report, as worthy of careful consideration.

Report of Principal of Sanford High School.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS,

Dear Sir:—I hereby submit my annual report of the condition and progress of the Sanford High school. Since the beginning of the fall term there has been on the average twenty-six recitations daily. The studies have been divided among the three teachers as follows: Algebra, geometry, advanced mathematics, college English, physics, astronomy and Virgil have been in charge of the principal; U. S. history, English history, French, Latin lessons, Caesar, and English III, have been taught by Miss Blanche Dole; while three classes in typewriting, two in stenography, two in book-keeping, one in arithmetic, and one in English have been in charge of Miss Ethel Buckman, who now spends all her time in the high school department, whereas last year she devoted the greater part of her time to the ninth grade. Twenty-five pupils are now taking typewriting, of which number seven are in the two years course. The advanced classes in this department are already practicing in speed work. In shorthand a speed of one hundred words per minute of familiar work has been reached by several, while in typewriting fifty-seven words of familiar work have been written in the same time. Two new studies have been introduced this year, solid geometry and astronomy, both electives.

The department of physics is now quite thoroughly equipped. All the apparatus for the Crowell cabinet has been bought, which provides for at least three hundred experiments in all branches of that science. Much more work could be accomplished if it were possible to get longer periods. This however is a difficulty which is met in all departments. We believe however that the work in all classes as far as it goes is thoroughly done.

We would recommend that some change be made in the present elective system of the curriculum. Although we believe in giving a pupil every possible freedom in his choice of electives, yet we think that matters would be somewhat simplified if certain electives could be confined to certain years. This would partly obviate the possibility of having classes composed of representatives from so many grades, and therefore it would be much easier to arrange a convenient daily program of recitations.

The school is very much in need of an up-to-date set of encyclopaedias. During the four years that we have been connected with the school we have had as reference books a two volume set of the Student's Cyclopaedia of the edition of 1897. These are good as far as they go, but the work is not extensive enough to satisfy our wants, and still further its latest article is at least nine years old.

In respect to attendance the school is still growing. This year the largest number registered has been sixty-four, as compared with fifty-four last year and forty-three the year before. There is no junior class at present owing to the introduction of a ninth grade two years ago. Six pupils are attending from neighboring towns, two from Lyman, and four from Alfred. Eight are registered from the Springvale district.

A teacher would consider his work a failure in some directions if he were unable to create in his pupils a desire for knowledge, and inspire them with a wish to go higher in the educational field. It is interesting to note that of the sixty pupils registered this term, thirty-four are intending to continue their studies in some educational institution after leaving this school. Five of last year's graduating class of eleven are continuing their studies elsewhere.

The educational trip to Boston and vicinity, taken by the graduating class last June was a success in every way. All the historic places in and around Boston were visited, and no pupil spent over thirteen dollars for necessary expenses. The present senior class, appreciating the benefits to be derived from such a trip, has requested the principal to take them on a similar excursion to Boston, Philadelphia and Washington. The school board has granted permission for the class to omit the usual graduating exercises in June and substitute this educational trip, as was done last year. The same careful preparation is being made, and several of the teachers are to join the party. The excursion will be made in March in order to avoid the June heat. It is interesting to note that the senior classes of several of our New England high schools are to visit Washington this March. Five graduating classes from New Hampshire and Vermont high schools are to go in one special train.

The custom established a few years ago whereby each graduating class is to present some gift to the school, has been continued. The beautiful statue of "Diana of the Chase" has been presented by the class which graduated last June. This piece of art including pedestal, is about seven feet high and is a valuable and attractive addition to the decorations in the main room.

Two American flags have been given by the present third class (1908) for use in decorating the large room. This gift was prompted by the belief that the flag of our country should be found in every school room, to be constantly before the eyes of the pupils.

It is the wish of all connected with the high school that a sufficient amount be raised this year to finish the large hall on the third floor of the building. The room is already plastered, and if the floor could be laid and the room finished, it would be very useful for the school entertainments and socials which are now held in the high school room, at more or less inconvenience.

At this point I wish to thank the pupils for the good spirit, and geniality which seems to exist between them and their teachers. There is a loyalty and harmony existing which is to be commended.

In conclusion I wish to thank all those who have so kindly aided me in my work, and encouraged me in my efforts to make the school a success.

Respectfully submitted,

WILL O. HERSEY, Principal.

Feb. 21, 1906.

Report of Principal of Lincoln High School.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

In accordance with your request, I submit the following report of the Springvale High school for the past year.

The work of the spring term, 1905, was quite successfully accomplished and a class of eight was graduated. The "graduation trip" to Boston was successful in every way. To judge from the experience of the class of 1905 I should certainly recommend such an undertaking to other classes.

During the summer Miss Todd was elected to a position in the High school at Quincy, Mass. Our corps of teachers thereby lost a valuable member, and our school a most excellent example of what a high school teacher should be.

At the beginning of the fall term, our work was hampered by the lack of an adequate teaching force, due to the resignation, just at the opening of the term, of a teacher previously elected. Miss Margaret D. Webber was chosen for the position of first assistant, but, after three week's service resigned on account of sickness. Miss Mary C. Mason has had charge of stenography and typewriting through the past two terms and appears to be accomplishing excellent results. Mr. Gunnar J. Leufgren was chosen acting principal during the last ten weeks of the fall term. Notwithstanding the difficulties under which he labored, I consider that Mr. Leufgreu has done good work with his classes. He is, at present, the first assistant. Miss Young, a student at Bates college, taught some of the classes during the fall term, with good success.

Owing to the fact that we lack a junior class and that we had a comparatively small entering class, the enrollment is somewhat smaller than in previous years.

I am glad to note an improvement in the work of preparation for the high school which gives the pupils a decided advantage after they come into high school work. I think that the increased average age of students entering the school is also an advantage tending toward greater strength in a high school course.

I am especially glad to see quite a decided improvement in general work in English throughout the classes. I still insist that this is the most important department of our work.

"The chief business of a republic is the education of its citizens" is an oft quoted statement. Our high schools, above all the grades, should inculcate the principles of good citizenship. The cultivation of proper habits of study teaches economy of time and concentration of effort. Insistence that pupils do their work well, accurately, and on time leads ultimately to punctuality and efficiency in the citizen. Occasional talks along ethical lines teach the common virtues. Citizenship is tested, not by what one knows, but by what he can do and is.

I wish to thank the committee and superintendent for cordial support in my work and for their kindness during my recent sickness; also would I remember my co-workers who have labored so well for the success of the school.

Very respectfully

FRANK C. THOMPSON, Principal.

Springvale, Feb. 22, 1906.

Report of Supervisor of Music.

Mr. Myron E. Bennett, Superintendent of Schools.

The study of music in the schools, like that of any other subject, is one in which the methods should be constantly progressive. While the underlying principles of music remain unchanged, the teacher should always be ready to welcome any new way of presenting these principles which will make them more readily comprehended. A change of method and material is often of great benefit in stimulating the interest of the pupils, and thus leading to better work. The Modern Music Series, recently published in Boston, embodies modern methods and fresh, tuneful material, and I would recommend that, as fast as practicable, this series should be substituted for the one now in use.

In the work of the past year more attention has been paid than formerly to sight reading and to the writing of music; the latter aids greatly in fixing the musical idea firmly in the mind of the pupil, while the former is the point toward which the greater part of the study is directed. "School Songs with College Flavor," which was introduced into one of the highest grades this year, has proved very satisfactory and enjoyable.

The usual kind co-operation of the superintendent and teachers has helped to make the music work pleasant and profitable.

Respectfully submitted,

SUSAN E. FROST,

Instructor of Music.

Report of Drawing Supervisor.

Mr. M. E. Bennett, Superintendent of Schools,

As teacher of drawing in the public schools of Sanford and Springvale since September 1905, I can easily say that all grades and classes have improved in appreciation, intelligence, enthusiasm, though one or two classes may not be so well included.

Grade No. — at the beginning of the year were careless and inattentive. Now, no other class does better work.

The general subjects that are being considered are illustration, perspective designing, figure, and animal drawing. The animal drawing has not been a great success, but the children have enjoyed it and indeed improved.

I have been surprised with the work of the three first grades. The class work for hill, mountain, meadow, pasture, and so forth, was very good. Our Nursery Rhyme illustrations are improving. The second and third grades, Springvale, have been illustrating the winds and the weather. They have just now finished illustrations for their study theme—The Eskimo People.

Four classes are illustrating Hiawatha.

I am pleased with the perspective work in the grades.

The High school classes are doing very well in their perspective, illustrative, figure and mechanical drawing.

I am hoping that Manual Training will be another incentive to good drawing.

Very truly I thank the teachers for their kindness and co-operation, and our superintendent I thank very cordially.

Respectfully submitted,

V. GERTRUDE FLETCHER.

Conclusion.

I can not justly close my report, without again calling your attention to the unsatisfactory arrangement of the toilet rooms, installed during the summer vacation in the primary building of the Lincoln school. The apparatus is not only unsatisfactory, but the arrangement, whereby the boys and girls are not given separate rooms, but are allowed to mingle together in the basement; is a flagrant disregard for common decency. There is not a germ known to the medical profession, that is as contagious among children, as the immoral germ. This school will be infected with this immoral germ until the toilet rooms are made entirely separate.

I would recommend that the above conditions be remedied at the earliest possible moment.

This being the last report that I shall have the pleasure of making, I feel that it would not be out of place to mention some of the most important changes which have taken place during my administration.

The common schools have all been graded and a course of study adopted.

The high schools have been graded and a course of study adopted.

In place of the different buildings being known by district numbers, they are now named after some noted American.

Music and drawing have been introduced and special teachers engaged for these departments.

The wages of the common school teachers have been increased 25 per cent.

The wages of the high school teachers have been increased 50 per cent.

The teachers have organized a local Teachers'

Association and are thus able to receive mutual aid which would not be received in any other way.

The erection of the Emerson building for the High school and grammar grades.

Permanent decorations have been made in all of the schools; the walls of every room have been tinted and more than $800 worth of pictures and casts have been secured for the different rooms.

The Crowell Physical Cabinet was the first of its kind to be introduced into the Maine schools. It was my pleasure to learn the priceless value of this Cabinet while attending the National Educational Association at Detroit, Mich., in 1901.

The Tiffany Industrial Nature Cabinet has been added during the past year; this is another valuable addition to the equipment of the common schools.

The drinking fountains which have been installed in the Emerson and Lincoln buildings are a desirable addition from a hygienic standpoint, at least.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation of all that has been done to assist me in the improvement of our public schools. Especial thanks is due and heartily given to the loyal teachers who have been my one pillar of strength. My only desire, is, that the citizens of our town may soon realize the great and lasting work of these teachers, and be willing to pay them for value received.

Respectfully submitted,

MYRON E. BENNETT,

Superintendent of Schools.

Amount appropriated$1,000.00

1906.

Oct. 20. J. G. Ridley, pay roll for building State road.....$1,305.00
Amount overdrawn$305.00

The State road was built of gravel at a cost of about $1.00 per foot, which seems quite expensive for a gravel road, but where this road was built next to Shapleigh town line for about two hundred and fifty feet, a fill had to be made of two and one-half feet. The gravel was given by the Sanford Mills and the cost of the steam roller was fifty cents per day for the actual time it was in use. Under favorable conditions gravel road can be built for about seventy cents per foot. The road bed was built twenty-two feet wide and there is due from the State the sum of $300.00.

The above balance undrawn is caused by the Springvale Aqueduct Co. not keeping the water pressure up so that it was satisfactory to the Fire Underwriters as per contract. The Underwriters recommended certain changes in the system and unless they are made the present rate of Insurance will not be maintained. We have been advised by the management of the Water Co. that these changes, as are recommended by the Fire Underwriters, are being made, and it is hoped that the present difficulties will soon be adjusted.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE R. BOWLEY, Clerk.

Jan. 31st, 1907.

To the Municipal Officers of the Town of Sanford:—

The Board of Engineers of Alert Fire Department present their annual report for the year ending January 31st., 1907.

Our company is composed of 33 regular men and six substitutes, who stand ready at any time to take the place of regular men who may be absent from any fire, and who are promoted to regular positions in case a member withdraws from the department.

The company has been highly complimented by the insurance inspectors for the dispatch in answering alarms and for the efficient manner in handling fires. There is often more damage done by water and ripping and tearing than by fire.

With new men we get new methods and with our new apparatus and the addition of a horse for our chemical division, purchased by members of Alert Chemical Co., and belonging to said members, together with the high pressure of water, we are getting the most efficient service the town has ever had.

We respectfully suggest the advisability of buying more rubber lined hose to replace the cheap linen hose that has been previously bought.

Our hose wagon is too light for the heavy rubber hose and other supplies necessary to carry, and a new wagon will be a necessity in the near future.

We would suggest the advisability of installing an indicator in the engine house to register the number of a box pulled. It would save much valuable time in cases of mixed alarms.

We need several new alarm boxes, the village is growing and the outlying streets are not properly protected.

We would respectfully recommend that two or more horses be added to the Department as it has been amply demonstrated the past year with the dispatch in getting the chemical to the fires, that much damage can be averted by getting to the fires quickly.

It is with deep regret that we refer to the fire of Dec.

19th, 1906, when the first life was lost in a fire in the history of the town. While it was no fault of the Department, as the alarm was very quickly responded to by both our Department and also Sanford Mills Company, the fire had gained great headway and no doubt the life was lost before the alarm was given as the fire was quickly under control and the body recovered upon the arrival of the companies.

We feel that we cannot close this report without expressing our hearty thanks to the Municipal officers for their interest in the Fire Department and promptness with which they have responded to all our requests for supplies. We also wish to especially thank all the members of the Department for their loyalty and faithfulness and promptness in responding to all calls of duty.

We would also make special mention of the Sanford Mills Fire Department for prompt and efficient aid and cordial relations always maintained between the two Departments, and also the citizens for their loyal support and supplies given, without which the high efficiency of the Department could not be maintained.

Respectfully submitted,

R. RANKIN, Chief Engineer,
L. C. HOLMES, 1st Asst. Engineer,
ED. H. EMERY, 2nd Asst. Engineer.

REPORT

. . . OF . . .

Superintending School Committee.

To the Citizens of the Town of Sanford:

Your school committee herewith present their report together with that of superintendent, high school principals, and heads of various departments.

School work for the year has shown very satisfactory results; especially are we pleased with high average attendance, general deportment and harmonious relations existing between superintendent, teachers and pupils. This, together with the well-trained, conscientious, and painstaking teaching force, insures to our children the foundation of a liberal education.

We bespeak the hearty co-operation of all parents and guardians of children in the effort made to give every child the advantage offered in our common schools, and earnestly urge that as many as can find it possible complete a course in the high school. Education is the best stock in trade to the possessor, always of marketable value, and cannot be foreclosed upon.

The committee were fortunate in securing Mr. A. R. Paull as superintendent of schools, whose report we heartily endorse and commend to your careful perusal. Mr. Paull's previous experience as superintendent has been valuable to us and his aptness in applying himself to the duties of his position has been of material assistance to the committee.

Most of the recommendations made in our last report have been carried out. As repair account will show, considerable money has been spent for building improvement. Floors were laid in four rooms of Lincoln building, also in Lincoln primary; new seatings were also provided for this room, and metal roof put on building; Holmes building shingled and painted outside and in; the Bryant building reshingled, and Hawthorne, South Sanford, thoroughly repaired outside and in; hall in Emerson building finished and furnished, making a very useful room for the school.

For the ensuing year insurance premiums amounting to $1,000.00 will come due. Jefferson building should be shingled; Longfellow building should be painted and sanitary drinking fountains added; chimneys in Emerson building should be re-topped; these with general repairs always necessary will require $2,500.00. We recommend this sum be raised.

High schools, as indicated by principals' reports, will call for enlarged teaching force another year.

For high schools we recommend that $4,300.00 be raised.

For high school transportation, $100.00.

For common schools, $9,000.00.

For books and supplies, $1,200.00.

For salary of Superintendent, $1,200.00.

Respectfully submitted,

W. E. DAVIS,

GEORGE A. GOODWIN,

JENNIE P. WEYMOUTH,

REPORT

OF THE

Superintendent of Schools

To the School Board of Sanford:

I have the honor to present to you, and through you to the citizens of the town of Sanford, my first annual report, the eighth of the series of superintendent's reports.

I am glad to say, what in justice I should be compelled to say, that I found on taking up my work, many things to commend, and very little to condemn.

The policy of the year has been to conserve what was best, and to work for the betterment of that which was weaker. We have tried to look with fairness upon all sides of the work, and to strive for the harmonious working of all parts of the school organism.

The real school is mind in effort to unfold mind; and not the schoolhouse and appliances, school officers, and school law. This effort binds into a school, citizens, parents, officers, teachers, and pupils. These minds may not be actively making such effort in order that there be a school, but they must be permanently disposed to make it. When such disposition is withdrawn the whole organization falls to pieces.

We are too apt to be materialists in school affairs, setting objective and fixed forms and rules hard and fast over against a growing and pulsating life. Everything in the external organization must be kept in movement to the realization of an ideal; that the end dominate the means, and never be dominated by it.

At the very center of the organism of the school, stand the teacher and the pupil. They both have needs, and each owes something to the other. It is their business to work harmoniously for the highest good of the organism of which they are the visible center.

And as we conceive the position of the superintendent, it is his business to get such a clear view of both teacher and pupil, that he can by direction, and suggestion, and direct and indirect help, bring it to pass that each shall be the complement of the other.

Thus will harmony result at the center of the organism, and this will work out to the circumference; and so will the school as comprising all the factors mentioned above, be a perfect organism, bringing forth the highest and best results conceivable.

This ideal of the position and work of the superintendent is what has guided us during the past year, and in the doing of this work we have sought to establish the best of relations with all parties concerned. We have spent much time in the schools, to see the work under all conditions and circumstances, and have sought by suggestion and conference to bring all the work up to the highest standard.

As to the measure of success which has attended our efforts, we will leave you to judge.

TEACHERS.

Three-quarters of the value of a term of school depends upon the teachers who conduct the exercises. If to rub against college walls is a liberal education, the importance of coming daily in contact with a wise, true man or woman as teacher, must be infinitely greater. This is recognized in various ways. In later life successful men refer to the influence of their teachers in shaping their life courses much oftener than they do to fine buildings, or the great endowment, or the athletic record that stood to the credit of the college. These things are all good, and probably are necessary. Without them teachers could not be employed. But without the personality of the teacher, to impress itself upon the student and to form the character while it is firing the mind and arousing the ambition and informing the mind, these other things are of secondary value.

We found the teachers of Sanford a body of men and women of high ideals, and in most cases of broad training, and we believe that their influence over those who are in their care is always uplifting and helpful. They have been in nearly every case responsive to suggestion, and we feel that they are working from a true spirit of love for their work, and not for so many dollars per week or per year.

Notwithstanding this fact, they must have the dollars with which to live, and they would be unjust to themselves if they did not look for the opportunity to at the same time teach, and get a good return for their teaching.

We can never get the best into the teaching profession, and keep them there after we get them, until we make it worth their while to come and to stay.

I quote from the words of Superintendent Brooks of Boston: "Increased compensation for teachers means the attraction of the ablest women to the service. The increased expense of living has not been met by corresponding increases in salary, and the rapidly expanding opportunities for women in commercial pursuits has produced a condition quite different from that which prevailed when teaching offered the best social and financial opportunity open to women. Now the ablest women are likely to be attracted to other fields of labor, and if conditions are not soon remedied the schools will suffer.

It is evident that both of these propositions mean increased expenses, and in the end it is unquestioned that the tax rate for school purposes will soon need to be increased."

When we compare the salaries paid to the teachers in Sanford with those paid in the towns around us, we find that our salaries are higher on the average than are paid in the towns. But we are not brought into competition with the towns, but with the cities, and not wholly and not mostly with the cities of Maine, but of neighboring states, where salaries average much higher than they do here.

We are able, because of the salaries we pay, to get the best out of the graduating classes of our normal schools, and sometimes to get a teacher who is both trained and experienced. But we ought to put ourselves into the position where we can not only get them, but keep them. And to do this we must raise the salaries of grade teachers to a higher point than they have yet reached.

- While I believe that it is better for us to work under the salary schedule that we have at present, than it would be not to put any premium on a continued service, I believe that a promotional system of examinations, with a salary schedule, based, not upon length of service, but upon real worth, would be still better.

This I believe, is one of the things we should endeavor to establish, for the mutual protection of teachers and of school officers. An adequate system of excluding the incompetent and working for the deserved promotion of the competent, will be in the end, of great advantage to the teaching force as a whole, and to all connected in any way with the schools.

THE WORK OF THE SCHOOLS.

A properly balanced course of study, which is being carried out by those having it in charge, will take into account the relative importance of each subject, and will seek to apportion to each its fair share of time. Notwithstanding this, it is undoubtedly true that every school system gets weak at some point, and from time to time special emphasis and effort need to be placed upon particular subjects.

We are far more apt to give all needed attention to the culture subjects of the curriculum, than to the utilitarian subjects, because the former are perhaps more interesting than the latter. We do well if we discover for ourselves those places in which we are weak, and turn our attention to them.

During the first term of the fiscal year, we had no definite objective other than to discover the places which needed special attention. Among these, and the one which seemed to need it most, was the subject of arithmetic.

There is no question but that the subject of arithmetic is one of the most important in the common school curriculum. We are inclined to believe, however, that it is not the most important, and we believe, too, that the reason for the position which it does occupy is not wholly its utilitarian value.

F. A. Hill says: "The direct utilitarian value of arithmetic,—its value to the bread winner—has been much overestimated; or perhaps it is nearer to the truth to say that, while accuracy and speed in simple fundamental processes have been underestimated, the value of presenting numerous and varied themes in pure arithmetic and of pressing each to great and difficult lengths, has been seriously overrated."

What should be expected of a child in the way of the utilities of arithmetic? A good working knowledge of the fundamental processes; accuracy and reasonable rapidity; a knowledge of the ordinary problems of daily life. Were arithmetic taught for the utilities alone, all this could be accomplished in about one-third of the time now given to the subject.

There is a deeper value in the subject than the utilitarian, and it is this which has led us to place our emphasis on the subject during the last two terms.

If the child has been taught to think in solving the problems of the school, he will think in solving the broader problems he must thereafter meet. The same forms of logic, the same attention to detail, the same care in checking results, exercised in solving a problem in greatest common divisor, may show itself years afterward in commerce, in banking, or in one of the learned professions. Hence arithmetic, when taught with this in mind, gives to the pupils not knowledge of facts alone, but that which transcends knowledge, namely, power.

We have been at work during the past two terms to secure if possible more independent thinking, and more accurate work from the pupils. We think that we have succeeded to an extent that is gratifying. We do not mean that we are satisfied, but that we are certain that progress has been and is being made.

We hope that you will be interested, as we have been, in a test which has been made in the ninth grade.

Opponents of modern educational methods argue sometimes that with the enrichment of the course of study, and the changes in the methods of teaching, we are neglecting the more important matters, and that even the attention we do give does not produce so good results as in the former days of the "Three R's." Fortunately we are enabled to make a comparison of our work in arithmetic with theirs. Dr. Thomas M. Balliet, while superintendent of schools in Springfield, Mass., discovered in the archives a volume of examination papers in arithmetic, written by the students of the Springfield High School in 1846. With the papers were the original questions.

In March, 1905, Dr. Balliet caused the examination to be given in the ninth grades of Springfield, and in November, 1905, it was given in the last year of the elementary schools of Brooklyn, N. Y. It has been given in some other cities since, but I have at hand only the data which I give. January 22nd. this examination was given in the ninth grades at the Emerson and the Lincoln schools. I give first the list of questions asked, then a somewhat careful analysis of the results. In considering and comparing results, do not forget that when given in 1846 it was given to high school scholars, who were older, and who spent more hours per year in school than do those who have taken it now.

QUESTIONS IN ARITHMETIC.

1. Add together the following numbers: .009, 29, 1, 301, 61, 702, 9000, $19\frac{1}{2}$, $1\frac{1}{2}$.

2. Multiply 10,008 by 8,009.
3. In a town 5 miles wide and 6 miles long how many acres?
3. How many steps of $2\frac{1}{2}$ ft. will a person take in walking one mile?
5. What is 1-3 of $175\frac{1}{2}$?
6. A boy bought 3 doz. oranges for $$0.37\frac{1}{2}$, and sold them for $$0.01\frac{1}{2}$ apiece. What would he have gained if he had sold them for $$0.02\frac{1}{2}$ each?
7. There is a certain number 1-3 of which exceeds $\frac{1}{4}$ of it by 2. What is the number?
8. What is the simple interest of $1,200 for 12 yr. 11 mo. 29 da. at 6 per cent?

It may well be said that this examination was very easy, as indeed it was. But in accordance with my requirement a monthly examination is given in all grades above the second, and in the last of which I have the returns, an examination which was in many cases really difficult, we had an average in all grades of 62.41 per cent. Of the seventeen grades which took the examinations three had 80 per cent or over, seven had 70 per cent or over, while only five grades averaged less than 60 per cent.

All our time and effort and strength have not, however, been spent upon arithmetic. We have endeavored to be just to other branches.

The style of penmanship has as you know, been changed, in the first six grades, a medial system so called, being introduced. The change of system involves many problems, and for a time seems to disorganize everything. We believe, however, that the change was wise, and we look to see in a short time a real improvement in penmanship.

We believe that a great help toward the securing of the best results in penmanship would be the employment of a special teacher or supervisor of penmanship; such a position could be combined with something else, or perhaps some one could be secured for part of the time, and good work could thus be done.

The teachers are working faithfully and intelligently, but writing needs a specialist to teach it to the best advantage.

The subject which we look upon as the most important in the whole curriculum of our elementary schools is language, meaning in the term language to include reading, spelling, language and grammar. To this subject we intend to devote our time and strength and effort so far as we can in justice to other things, until we feel that we, too, have come more nearly up to the standard of the best.

LONGFELLOW. SCHOOL.

Very early in the year we became convinced that we needed to have a definite head in each of the buildings. The principals of the two high schools were placed in charge of their respective buildings, and Miss Dow in charge of the Longfellow Building.

During the spring term Miss Dow attended to the work of the building in addition to caring for the room in which she was teaching, the sixth grade. With the opening of the fall term Miss Dow was placed in charge of the building with another teacher in grade six, thus leaving the principal free to use her time to what she believed to be the best advantage.

The results of this advance step have fully justified its being taken. The principal has been at work all of the time with zeal and with intelligence, and the result has been a raising of the grade of work being done there.

In presenting her report I would call your attention to its statement concerning the crowded condition of the building. This condition coupled with what we say in connection with the conditions at the Emerson building, make it necessary for the committee and the citizens to be thinking about and planning for a new school house in the near future. We believe that a location should be selected and a lot purchased at once, and the building erected at the earliest possible date.

The matter of semi-annual promotions mentioned in the report, is one upon which we have spent and are spending much time and thought, and we hope to see it in full operation by another year.

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL OF LONGFELLOW BUILDING.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I submit the following report of the Longfellow School:

The Longfellow building is at the present time crowded beyond the point which it ought to be. Most of the rooms are taxed to their utmost capacity, and in grade four conditions are such that there has been need for additional seats beyond what we have ever had in the room. Nor can we see that conditions will be any better in the future, for entering classes are growing larger each year.

The crowded condition is in part due this year, to the fact that pupils who were not up to the standard of their grade were not promoted last June.

The results obtained from the work in this building have fully justified your action in making this requirement. Most of the pupils in the various grades are now capable of doing the required work of the grade.

It was the plan last June to make semi-annual promotions, and to a certain extent this has been done. Promotions were made in the third, fourth and fifth grades at the end of eighteen weeks.

These promotions were made possible in the following way. The principal has taken all the work in geography in grades four, five and six, and while she is attending to these classes the regular class teacher takes a class from some other room to the recitation room, or assists some other class teacher in her work. This in addition to drill work given by the principal to pupils from various grades, has greatly strengthened the work of the building; in this special work the pupils have received special help in reading, writing and arithmetic.

The Medial Slant writing system which was introduced last fall, has proved very satisfactory. The children have made as much progress as could be expected without the special instruction of a writing teacher.

Since less ground is now required to be covered in arithmetic, the work can be done more thoroughly, and the Other studies will be given their proper attention.

I wish to thank the teachers for their hearty co-operation, and the superintendent and committee for their encouragement and support.

Respectfully submitted,

GERTRUDE E. DOW, Principal.

Sanford, Maine, January 25, 1907.

EMERSON SCHOOL.

The principal of the Emerson high school has not been able to spend so much time in keeping in touch with the grade work in the Emerson building, as has the principal of the Lincoln school in his building. But he has been a valuable assistant to the teachers in maintaining discipline, and in keeping up regularity and punctuality of attendance.

Taking into account all conditions and circumstances, we feel that we are getting excellent results in the grades in this building.

LINCOLN SCHOOL.

As noted in connection with the report of the Longfellow school, the principals of the Lincoln and Emerson high schools were early in the year given charge of their respective buildings.

The principal of the Lincoln high school has not found time to spend in keeping in close touch with the work of the grades, and has used his time well.

He has reported the school somewhat in detail so there will be no need to repeat what has been said. The attention of the committee is particularly called to what he says concerning the work in grades six to nine. Examinations given in grades below the sixth, produce good results. But examinations given in grades six to nine, produce poor results. The teacher has only half as much time to spend with each grade, and is thereby seriously handicapped. It is hoped that in the near future something may be done to remedy the evil, and enable us to get results, which under more favorable conditions we believe we could get.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

A rearrangement of the courses of study for high schools was made at the opening of the school year. By the present arrangement we have three courses. One is a strictly classical course, one a general course, and one a commercial course. Each of these is a four year course, with a basis of required work, and some latitude in the matter of electives.

With the change of courses, the commercial course was changed from two to four years, and a strong course was outlined and is being followed.

The commercial course in the high school can compete with the work done in the business college, only as it gives its students a broader and better training. This we are endeavoring to do, and we believe that the added maturity given by the additional two years will be a great help in giving this training.

We believe that the high school should be a fitting school, for college if the individual desire it, or for some useful occupation if that be desired. This belief is guiding us in our work in the high schools, and we are seeking to make them as good as they can be made.

The question of the number of high schools to be maintained seems never to have been permanently settled. Whether we maintain two, as at present, or only one, we believe that we should maintain a commercial department in only one.

Not to go into the matter at too much length, the reasons may be briefly stated.

To do our work in such a manner as to thoroughly equip our students for business, we have included in our commercial course, during the fourth year, office practice and banking. But that means an office equipment which we have not as yet. It is apparent that we could have a good equipment for one office, while if we attempted to have two, we should probably not succeed, at least in getting that which would be perfectly satisfactory.

We are obliged to maintain an extra teacher if we have the commercial department in both schools, at quite an increase in expense.

It is becoming increasingly difficult to secure a satisfactory teacher of shorthand and typewriting for the salary which we pay in the smaller schools. Teachers whom we want, can do better for themselves after they have been with us for a year, and so they leave us.

Other reasons could be given, but they will occur to you. Our recommendation is this: That the committee decide that any pupils from Springvale who elect the commercial course, be required to come to the Emerson school, and that free transportation be furnished them.

The matter of transportation for high school pupils is one that must be settled. Such transportation can be paid only when there is a special appropriation for the purpose.

Your attention is called to the item in the report of Principal Hersey, concerning the need for an additional teacher for next year. This need will be imperative, and we believe that it must be met, and an additional teacher engaged.

We present herewith the reports of the principals of the high schools.

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL OF SANFORD HIGH SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Dear Sir:—I hereby submit my annual report of the condition and progress of the Sanford high school. The whole number of pupils attending at the present time is sixty-one, of which number nine are tuition pupils from neighboring towns, six from Alfred, two from Lyman and one from Wells Depot. There are only three classes in the school, there being no senior class. According to the change made at the beginning of the school year the three courses of study are known as the Classical, the Commercial and the General. The first is intended to prepare pupils for college, the second to give the pupil a good business course including stenography, typewriting and bookkeeping, while the last is as its name implies, a course in which much freedom is given in the choice of electives. The two years business course has been discontinued. Spelling is required of all pupils twice each week.

The same teachers have been retained for the past year while Miss Louise S. Waterhouse, one of the advanced pupils in typewriting, has been giving valuable assistance in that study. There have been on the average twenty-three recitations daily, the periods averaging forty minutes in length. Each teacher is allowed one spare period during the day. We are much pleased with the conscientious and satisfactory work of our assistants, and if the monthly work of the pupils is not satisfactory we are very sure that the fault is not with the teachers. Rank cards are sent home every four weeks to be inspected and signed by the parent. Few pupils can do satisfactory high school work without some study at home, and home work is to quite an extent beyond the control of the teacher.

As there is no class to graduate this year, and as the incoming class from the ninth grade numbers over thirty the prospects are good for an enrollment of ninety pupils or more next September, when the school will again have its full number of classes. The presence of the extra class will increase the number of daily recitations from twenty-three to thirty. This will require an extra teacher. That the school is growing may be shown by the fact that four years ago when we first took charge of the high school there were four classes with forty-three pupils. Next September there will be ninety pupils or more.

As the present seating capacity of the main room is only ninety-five some new arrangement must be made to accommodate the classes in bookkeeping. This study requires desks or tables at which to work, and the spare desks in the main room have been used for this purpose up to the present time. A room specially equipped for this department would not only solve this problem, but would provide a room which could be used for some of the extra classes as well.

Since our last report the school board has had the assembly hall on the third floor finished, greatly to our satisfaction and convenience. This large room not only gives opportunity for having exhibitions of school work for the interest of the public in general, but affords an excellent chance for holding sociables and entertainments. The drawing teacher occupies this room each day with her high school classes. Two large drawing tables have been provided, thus adding greatly to the equipment of her department. One hundred assembly hall chairs and a platform make the room well furnished for public occasions.

A class of fourteen graduated last June, and two received certificates for a two years business course. By permission of the school officers the class was permitted to omit the usual graduating exercises and take an educational trip to Washington instead. Several of the teachers took advantage of this opportunity, so that the party was enlarged to thirty-six. The trip was very satisfactory and profitable. At the close of the school year informal exercises were held in the high school hall, at which the diplomas were presented by Supt. Paull. The class gift to the school was a beautiful statue of Apollo, a companion piece to Diana which was given the year before.

In conclusion I wish to express my thanks to the school board and superintendent for their cordial support, to my assistants for their willing co-operation, and to all those who in any way have been of assistance to me in my efforts to make the school a success.

Respectfully submitted,

WILL O. HERSEY, Principal.

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL OF SPRINGVALE HIGH SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Agreeably to your request, I submit my report of the condition and progress of the Lincoln school, including the Springvale High School, from Feb. 22, 1906, to the present time.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

As had been anticipated the number of students registered has been small. The attendance, however, has been exceptionally regular and the interest of the students excellent. It is hoped that with a fair entering class, and no loss by graduation, that the school will double in registration during the next fall term. It seems reasonable to expect, if the town continues to maintain a high school in our village, that parents will urge upon their children the importance of a complete, or at least partial, course of study in the school.

The teaching force seems now fairly adequate to the number of students instructed. Yet, if the attendance increases as anticipated, it seems to me that a much larger proportion of the time of one of the teachers should be given strictly to high school work. If the teacher of stenography and type-writing should be given charge of other commercial branches, the needs of our classes would be more nearly met.

The equipment for teaching physics is quite inadequate, and the inconvenience of borrowing apparatus from the Sanford school makes such an arrangement undesirable. I earnestly hope that the committee will see its way clear to fill this long-felt want at the earliest moment,—if not with an equipment as elaborate as that of the other school, at least, sufficient for our barest needs.

A class of four were graduated in June, 1906. According to the new custom, the class joined with the class of the Sanford High School in an educational trip to Washington, D. C.

During the fall term, a change in our curriculum was made, to meet the demand for more commercial training in our high schools. It is rather early yet to state results, but it seems to me that a strengthening of our commercial course is a great step forward in making our school attractive and useful.

Two of our teachers, Mr. Leufgren and Miss Mason, declined re-election during the summer. The former has become principal of a school in Massachusetts and the latter has charge of the commercial work in the High School at Marblehead. Mr. Leufgren's place is filled by Miss Blanche A. Bragdon, A. B., Bates, '06, and Miss Mason's place by Miss Lucie M. Eaton, of North Reading, Mass.

THE LINCOLN SCHOOL.

Two changes in grade teachers were made, Miss Delia A. Drew succeeding Miss Whittier in the second grade, and Miss Josephine McIntire succeeding Miss Beard in the eighth and ninth.

A gratifying increase of attendance has occurred, due largely to a more thorough enforcement of the truancy law.

As a body, the teachers are earnest, and thoroughly alert to the requirements of their various positions. In this connection, it is well to note the disadvantages under which Mr. Butler, of the sixth and seventh grades, and Miss McIntire of the eighth and ninth grades are working. It ought not to be necessary to say that each of these grades should be in full charge of a separate teacher. Our course requires a large amount of exceedingly important work to be done in each grade. To my mind, the work cannot be successfully done, if two grades are maintained under one teacher. I am very strongly inclined to lay the failure of so great a majority of our ninth grade pupils to pass the first entrance examinations to the High School to the fact that they have not had a fair chance to be thoroughly instructed in the higher grades. This failure to pass is becoming, of late, rather notorious.

I find that pupils coming to the High School are not so weak in mathematical development,—some recent public discussion to the contrary notwithstanding,—as in a knowledge of the structure and proper use of the English language. We cannot begin too early or dwell too long on correct English, especially as the habit of using good language is rather difficult to develop, in view of the fact that in so many of our homes the opposite practice is so common. We have the pupils in charge only six hours a day for one hundred and eighty days in a year, and the remainder of the time they are out of our care. We should, therefore, during that short period, do our utmost to develop and instil a habit which in itself is the first indication of culture and refinement.

The repairs made during the summer have added to the convenience and appearance of the buildings, especially in the "little school," so-called, whose interior has been thoroughly renovated.

The installation of telephone service, in December, fills a long-felt need.

I wish to extend my thanks to yourself for timely advice and suggestions, and to my fellow-teachers for their co-operation in the work of the year.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK C. THOMPSON,

Principal of the Lincoln School.

Springvale, Maine, Jan. 26, 1907.

DRAWING.

The law of at least one of the New England states places drawing upon the list of subjects required to be taught. Maine does not do this, but our town does, and employs a special teacher of drawing who spends all her time in the work of the schools.

We believe that it would be a great loss to drop drawing out of the work. We believe that better work is done in the other subjects, because of the influence of this.

We wish that more of the parents and friends of the schools would avail themselves of the opportunity to see what is being done in drawing, by attending the exhibits of the work of that department. An exhibit is being held each term, of the work in each of the main buildings, and at the end of the year, the best of the work from these term exhibits will be collected for a general exhibit.

REPORT OF DRAWING SUPERVISOR.

Mr. A. R. Paull, Superintendent of Schools, Sanford, Maine.

DEAR SIR:—

I have the honor to present herewith my report as teacher of drawing in the schools of Sanford.

Teachers and supervisors of drawing the country over would tell you that drawing is much the same, wherever you may go.

The drawing in Sanford and Springvale during the past year, has been along similar lines with the outline of the previous year, but presented differently, though holding to the same principles, and striving toward the same end.

Emphasis has been laid upon the fact that the work in drawing must be more careful, neat and accurate. This has resulted in more time being placed upon one subject than before, but to the advantage and improvement of the work.

A few references are given to the grades and the subjects being treated in them.

In both the first grades the children go about their work with much enthusiasm. They draw some of the easier things which nature brings us, animals and birds, and also picture nursery rhymes.

In the third grade, Springvale, the outline is Hiawatha illustrated and constructed. The preparatory work for this subject has been excellent, especially the figure planning and measuring.

The eighth and ninth grades have improved much in their work. Their outline is landscape study.

In the high school department, at Springvale, the work of the freshman class has been especially pleasing. They have been quiet and enthusiastic. Some of their landscape copies were from the old masters, and quite in their spirit of expression. This, the second term, the class have designed mottoes and illustrated poems quite successfully.

The third grade at Sanford is doing excellent work in figure planning and measuring, thus preparing for illustrative and constructive work in Hiawatha.

In one of the fifth grades the subject is figure drawing from nature. There is promise that very good drawings will be made.

In the ninth grade the drill in lettering which was given last year, counts. Good work is also being done in perspective.

In the high school department the class in free-hand drawing, and the teacher especially, are pleased with the large new drawing room. The drawings have blossomed out. The few visitors during the School Art Exhibition, much admired the work. Talent is being developed in the high school, even in the freshman class. This year's class in mechanical drawing find the problems difficult.

Some of the grades might do better work, but among all the grades there are many whose work is worthy of commendation.

The help and good will of the teachers, and of the superintendent is much appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,

V. GERTRUDE FLETCHER,

Special Teacher of Drawing.

Sanford, Maine, January 29, 1907.

MUSIC.

The subject of music in the public schools has passed beyond the experimental stage. It has come to take its place as one of the subjects which cannot be left out of the course.

We give it place only in the elementary schools, but we firmly believe that it should have a place in our high schools, as an elective, that the young men and young women might be enabled to reap a reward of pleasure for the years spent in the grades in the study of the technical.

We present herewith the report of the Supervisor of Music. We believe that faithful, intelligent and profitable work is being done in this department. Especially do we believe the report to be true to facts when it says, "The object is to preserve the natural sweetness of the child's voice, and to prevent the loud and harsh singing in which many children are apt to indulge."

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC.

Mr. A. R. Paull, Supt. of Schools:

DEAR SIR:—

The study of music as practiced in the schools for the past year begins in the lowest grades with the learning of songs by rote, thus cultivating in the children the art of correct listening and imitation, and developing a sense of rhythm. As the child advances, the intervals and scale passages already familiar in songs are learned by note, and gradually as he becomes familiar with the different keys he reverses the process, first learning the notes and then fitting the words to the melody thus learned. The frequent practice of written exercises gives the child a more definite and fixed idea of his work in scale and interval study.

Two part singing is practiced in the fifth grade and in the fourth grade the latter part of the year. Three part singing is practiced in the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

In the ninth grade, although not all of the boys have changed voices, the study of the bass clef is taken up, since this is the last year music is taken as a study, the bass being sung an octave higher by the boys who have unchanged voices. Unison singing is also practiced in the higher grades, thus giving the pupils opportunity to use a wider range of voice than is possible for all in part singing.

The singing at sight of songs of medium difficulty has been attended with excellent results.

A constant effort is made to preserve the natural sweetness of the child's voice, and to prevent the loud and harsh singing in which so many children are apt to indulge.

At Sanford the first reader of the Modern Music Series has been purchased for use in the fourth and lower fifth grades, and the Cecilian Series of Study and Song, Book III, for the seventh and eighth grades. The latter book has also been placed in the eighth and ninth grades in Springvale.

On the evening of March 1st, 1906, a public concert was given by the pupils of the Sanford schools, mainly from the Emerson building. Those who took part acquitted themselves with great credit, and the willingness and faithfulness which they showed in the preparation for this event were very gratifying to their instructor. The money received from this concert was used for the first payment on a piano placed in the ninth grade room of the Emerson building, in November, 1906.

As in previous years, the kindly assistance of the superintendent and teachers has been greatly appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,

SUSAN E. FROST,

Supervisor of Music.

Sanford, Maine, January 22, 1907.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION.

The attitude of your superintendent toward the enforcement of the compulsory attendance law was well understood at the commencement of our work. We believe in the law, and in its enforcement.

It would undoubtedly work hardship on some to make a sudden and complete enforcement of the law. A more rational course needed to be adopted for conditions here are peculiar. The State Factory Inspector says in a personal letter of the date of November 30, 1906: "I hardly know what I would do if I were superintendent of schools in Sanford. I find the conditions there very much different from any other place in the state."

What has been attempted, a gradual enforcement looking toward a complete enforcement of the law, we believe has been a success from every point of view.

In the majority of cases it is not those who are the most needy who are the most rebellious in the matter, and who must be pushed the hardest to compel them to obey the law. But it is those who are the most narrow minded and stubborn, and who selfishly desire to defraud their children of that which is their right, an education, for their own personal ends and profit.

Many more truancy calls have been made than ever before, but the result has been an increase of attendance. It has been necessary in a few cases to prosecute offenders, but it is a notable fact that we have scarcely any truancy in which the children themselves are to blame; and we have not needed to prosecute a single child during the year.

In our work we have been greatly aided by the efficiency of the two truant officers, who have promptly and efficiently attended to their duties.

Our efforts have not ceased with the effort to have the pupil present, but we have desired and intended to have him in school on time. In this we are succeeding beyond our expectations, one grade of twenty-two pupils having in the first eight weeks of the fall term only one pupil tardy.

In this matter of tardiness, as in that of attendance, it is often the parent who is either directly or indirectly at fault. A hearty, loyal co-operation between parent and teacher will result in great good to the child and hence to the school. Hence we are working to enlist the parent in our effort to promote promptness, to work with us, and we feel that to a large extent we are succeeding.

NOTES.

The school census for the year showed a gratifying increase, the number enrolled being 2,678.

The enrollment in the Parochial School as reported is 380.

The financial report is for only eleven months, the year ending February 1. At the close of the winter term the balance for common schools will be reduced to about $1,830. The balance at the beginning of the year was $1831.44. This shows that we have just about paid expenses this year. The balance for high schools will be about $50. This shows that with the increased expenses next year, we shall need a larger appropriation.

The amounts which will be due for tuitions at the close of the current term are, common schools $8.33, high schools $68.64.

The cost for repairs on the various buildings has been approximately as follows:

Lincoln	$1,306.50
Longfellow	410.01
Emerson	508.33
Hawthorne	283.39
Holmes	90.25
Miscellaneous	312.75

The average cost per pupil for common schools was $17.02. This amount includes the fuel for high schools, which in the Emerson school distributes a large sum for fuel among a small number of pupils.

The average cost per pupil for high schools was $53.52.

The average cost per pupil for books and supplies has been, for common schools 90c, and for high schools $4.74.

The average enrollment has been 958, the average attendance 832, the per cent of average attendance 86.

In comparing the cost per pupil in the various schools, it should be remembered that the Hawthorne school has been maintained only two terms, compared with three for the others.

The Webster school has failed to maintain the required average attendance, and is discontinued, unless reopened by vote of the town.

The figures in the tables of expenses for common schools and high schools, are made to cover the whole of the three terms, and hence do not correspond with those given in the financial statement of the schools.

I desire to express my thanks to the teachers for their loyal and hearty support, and to the committee for their cordial co-operation in whatever plans have been suggested, and in the work of the year.

Respectfully submitted,

A. R. PAULL,

Superintendent of Schools.

Sanford, Maine, February 1, 1907.

"A poor Stove is not cheap at any price."

When it comes to equipment, all we can ask is that you compare the elegant finish, and time saving adjuncts for which the

is famous, with any other Range you have in mind to know for a certainty that the best is none to good for you.

Both the lift plate and the lift hearth are held up by automatic catches; the top plate to insure even fire feeding is also admirable for broiling, while the hearth does not swing or slide into the room. This permits an extra large ash pan to catch all the ashes and aside from saving frequent emptying, does not let them heap up to burn out the grate. Note how doors are removed from fire box to slide grate out at will, as the grate is entirely independent of the fire brick for they rest on an independant brick frame of their own, and not on the grate frame as in most stoves.

Look at the transparent double oven door, how the process of baking or roasting may be watched through heavy mica without losing a particle of heat from the oven; and by pressing your foot on nickle lever the entire oven door swings open with ease. You know the oven is large enough to bake sixteen 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. loaves at one time. A money and time saving range because every STERLING "bakes a barrel of flour with a hod of coal," and you may have seen our baking exhibits.

See how all nickle parts lift right off for blacking the range.

In fact, the unsurpassed cooking qualities of the STERLING come from several patented features which cannot be incorporated in any other stove. The beautiful exterior does not cover a single imperfection; there's quality in every portion of the interior as well as the outside, and that's why this range is named the STERLING, because it "has no equal". Send for our booklet and become convinced that it really is the best Range money can buy.

The State road this year was built as follows: 1,750 feet was constructed with crushed stone and gravel. First 8 inches of crushed stone, rolled to 6 inches, then another of three inches, rolled to two inches, and finished with a coating of three inch gravel, and rolled to two inches. Also there were 550 feet of macadamized road built, and making a total of 2,300 feet. We find that the macadam costs no more per foot than part crushed stone and part gravel, and we feel assured that the macadam will give the best satisfaction, and we recommend in the future, that the State road be built of all macadam. There is due from the State the sum of $300.00.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

The Building Committee for building the New Town Hall reports as follows:

Two years ago at the annual town meeting, the town voted to expend the sum of $30,000.00 to build a town building, and chose a committee to look after the same. The only work done during that year was to get plans and specifications for the building and the actual work was not begun.

At the last annual town meeting the town again voted to instruct the building committee to go on with the building, but that the building should not cost the town over $30,000.00, outside of the furnishings. It was found by your committee that this sum would not build a building suitable for the growing needs of the town, and that it would not be possible to build a building that would be acceptable or satisfactory for the amount named.

It was at this time that Hon. E. M. Goodall, chairman of the committee, made the offer or guarantee to furnish the balance of whatever sum would be necessary to build such a building as would be adequate for the needs of the town. Upon that basis the committee went ahead with the plans and specifications as drawn up by Mr. Penn Varney of Lynn, and the present building, which is being built by Woodbury & Leighton Co. of Boston, is being built at a total cost of about $50,000.00. The difference between the amount raised by the town of $30,000.00 and what the building will cost is being furnished by Hon. Thomas Goodall, Hon. E. M. Goodall and Sanford Mills, each giving $10,000.00, and the only other expense that the town will be put to will be the furnishings.

The committee feel that good progress is being made and that the building will be completed on or before June 1st.

ENGINEERS' REPORT.

To the Municipal Officers of the Town of Sanford:

The Board of Engineers of the Sanford Fire Department present herewith their report for the year ending Jan. 31, 1908.

The Department is composed of 33 regular men and six (6) substitutes who answer all alarms, the substitutes taking the places of any regular men who may be absent. The Chemical Engine and Hose wagon are now hauled by the horses purchased the first of the year. This saves much valuable time and the men are in better condition, and able to do better work than they could do had they been obliged to draw the same by hand.

We regret the loss of one of the original pair of horses. In some unaccountable manner he stuck a nail into his foot, and while we had one of the best veterinaries in the state, it was impossible to save the animal, and upon the advice of the veterinary and several well known and experienced horsemen from Springvale and Sanford, he was ordered killed. Another was bought to take his place and we now have two first class horses. The department is fitted out with a good work rigging for both summer and winter, and considerable work has been done on the streets, and other town work as shown by the Treasurer's report. On account of the extra expense the past year, we have economized in every way possible where it would not interfere with the efficiency of the Department. We purchased 400 feet of first class rubber lined hose and other necessary equipment. We would recommend the buying of at least 500 feet of hose the coming year, for should a big fire get started, we would be seriously handicapped by the lack of suitable hose to reach it from all sides.

As the Town is gradually growing, we wish to say that it will, in the near future be necessary to put up several more alarm boxes, and to install an indicator at the engine house. We have been extremely fortunate during the year both in regard to the number of fires and the amount of property destroyed. However, we have no assurance that the same good fortune will always be our lot, and considering the property to be protected, we feel that money spent for the improvement of the Fire Department is a wise investment.

We wish to thank the Sanford Mills Fire Department for their help at various times, and the cordial relations existing between us. They are willing and ready at all times to turn out and help us in every way. Also the citizens and Municipal officers who have assisted us in many ways and taken much interest in the Department. It has been our aim to keep up the high efficiency of the Companies and we wish to thank the individual members and substitutes who have turned out cheerfully and promptly in all kinds of weather, both day and night, and done their best, and considering the way the different fires of the past year were taken care of, we feel we have one of the best departments in the history of the town, and second to none of any town of the size of Sanford.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT RANKIN, CHIEF ENGINEER.

LINCOLN C. HOLMES, 1ST ASST. ENGINEER.

GEORGE A. FIELD, 2ND ASST. ENGINEER.

February 1st, 1908.

REPORT

of the

SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

To the citizens of the town of Sanford:

Your committee take pleasure in submitting their annual report, with that of the superintendent of schools, high school principals and special teachers.

These reports will give to the people of Sanford a good idea of the work being done in our schools. They will also call attention to urgent need of added accommodation to meet the increase in number of pupils, as well as the desirability of additional equipment to keep pace with modern educational advantages.

We feel certain that our teachers have been faithful to their trust, and that the pupils have responded nobly to the teachers' call. Therefore every effort within our means should be given for their encouragement.

The voters of Sanford have ever shown a desire to maintain a high standard in the schools of the town and freely appropriated money therefor, and we are sure this year will be no exception.

As plainly shown in the following report, it is necessary that a building be erected in the village of Sanford, to be ready for occupancy in the fall, which will accommodate six grades. We think it desirable that an eight-room building be planned, so that two rooms can be used for evening schools, apart from day school rooms.

We consider the rural school buildings which are occupied in very good condition. All are comfortable and as well decorated as means would allow. We recommend that the Franklin, Edison, and building in Nowell division be sold.

We feel that not enough is being done to keep school grounds in order in our villages. Much of refinement and esthetic taste can be infused in the pupils by a strip of well kept lawn with flowers in the school yard. The special appropriation for improving Lincoln school yard in building sidewalk and draining yard has resulted in much improved conditions, and we hope to see in the summer a fine grass plot in this yard, also at Longfellow and Emerson.

There will be some necessary repairs on village school buildings. Lincoln needs a coat of paint and tower repaired. Longfellow needs painting and fire escape repaired. All outside finish on Emerson needs painting.

Your committee wish to express their appreciation for assistance given by parents in maintaining a high average of attendance. We wish parents might come to have a more intimate acquaintance with the workings of our school system.

“If the teacher is such a person as to undo the work of the home, where influence is for the best, the home and child suffer, and equally true is the case if conditions are reversed. Parents should visit the schools oftener and there should be a greater spirit of co-operation between parent and teacher. The child will be quick to learn that opposition to authority on either side will not elicit sympathy or be tolerated.”

In December Superintendent A. R. Paull resigned to accept a position in Massachusetts. We feel that much was accomplished under his administration, and the work so carefully planned that Superintendent Henry J. Hall took up the duties without delay. We are especially fortunate in securing a man so well qualified as Mr. Hall for this position.

We recommend the following appropriations for maintaining schools:

For high schools,	$4,000.00
high school transportation,	200.00
common schools,	10,000.00
evening schools,	2,000.00
books and supplies,	1,500.00
insurance and repairs,	2,500.00

W. E. DAVIS,) JENNIE P. WEYMOUTH,) Superintending
School Committee.

To the Citizens of the town of Sanford:

I approve of the report of the School Committee as presented with this exception.

I do not even passively concur in the unwise recommendation to abolish the Springvale High School.

This school has had many years of usefulness and is now in successful operation.

It was no mistake when the second high school was established in this town, and with an assured attendance of at least forty-five at the beginning of the next school year, if this school is continued, it would be unwise and unjust to abolish this school against the protests of the citizens of Springvale.

GEORGE A. GOODWIN,
Member of School Committee.

REPORT

of the

Superintendent of Schools

To the School Board of Sanford.

It is my pleasure to offer to you, and through you, to my confreres in educational effort—the citizens of Sanford,—the ninth annual superintendent's report.

From necessity, the major part of this report must be in the words, and express the judgment of others. Less than three months of contact with the situation is not enough to give us the full knowledge of the details of the educational conditions in Sanford. Certain general matters are perfectly apparent; but numerous minor things can be understood, only when through more intimate acquaintance with them, their relations to final principles can be determined.

In the public prints, and in school and college papers, we are hearing much about "School Spirit," an intangible abstract something, which so commands the attitude of the pupils toward the school, as to render their devotion to it almost perfectly altruistic. This is a fine thing and reacts powerfully upon the developing character of the pupils. Interestingly enough, this "School Spirit" has its finest development in academies and private schools, and in colleges. We are inclined to think that this is so, because the pupils are apart from the intimate parental influence, which often, without such intent, acts against the best interests of the public schools. For this reason we feel the desirability of the establishment and maintenance of a sympathetic acquaintance between our schools,—as represented in the personnel of our teaching force, and as found in their organized activities and their results,—and the fathers and mothers of the boys and girls in our care. Therefore do we call the parents and friends of our pupils our “confreres in educational effort,” and we invoke their aid through patient confidence and rational co-operation.

We appreciate the difficulty of a sustained high percentage of attendance, in an industrial community like ours, but believe that it is necessary. We understand that the policy of our predecessors in office has been a strict but rational enforcement of the law relating to this matter, and it is our intention to continue that policy.

It is quite evident that our school system has become practically automatic in its action, so that it has been possible for a change, in superintendents, to occur in midyear, with no serious interruption in the school work, and without presenting any finally serious difficulties to the new incumbent in office. We regard this as evidencing three things: First, an efficient and conscientious school board, whose influence has become organically wrought into the system; secondly, a capable and well balanced teaching force, and thirdly, a superintending policy in the past, that has worked to make its own efficiency felt through the self reliance of the system, that at the same time, is intelligently operative at all levels.

It is not our purpose to review the work of the past year in all the departments, nor to make radical suggestions for change. The scene is still too new to us for that. Elaborate statistics are not the stuff out of which important determinations for future plans can be made. These statistics and records are finally valuable only when leavened by personal knowledge, gained by the experience of personal contact, and this can be had only in time.

Suffice it to say, that we believe in the Sanford schools; that we appreciate the difficulty of some of the problems confronting us; and that we are conscientiously committed to a faithful attempt to solve them. Our aim is the establishment of an educational environment for the youth of Sanford, that shall as adequately as possible prepare them to meet the ordinary demands of the world about them. Their success with the emergencies of life must depend upon character and inherent ability. The first of these, we will try to aid in development, while the second must be regarded as a fortunate heritage.

We believe that the practice of special reports, from the principals of our high schools, and of the Longfellow school, together with the reports of our special teachers in drawing and penmanship, and in music, is a good one, as thus is made clearer, from the testimony of those best informed, the conditions and the needs of their own particular fields. We ask your careful reading of these reports as we now present them.

We feel,—even after brief acquaintance, which is all that has been possible in the short time that we have been on the ground,—that the School Board and the town should regard themselves as fortunate in the administration of the high schools.

The words, of the respective principals should be heard with attention. Their knowledge of their schools is assured. While progressive they are at the same time conservative, and in setting forth the needs of the work in their charge, they are serving no selfish ends.

We take pleasure, therefore, in presenting the reports of the principals of the high schools.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE SANFORD HIGH SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Dear Sir:—I hereby submit my annual report of the condition and progress of the Sanford High school. The class entering in September numbered thirty, one of the largest in recent years. The presence of four classes in the school brought the total number registered to ninety. The number of pupils in the several classes is as follows: Seniors, nineteen; juniors, fifteen; sophomores, twenty; freshmen, thirty-two and specials, four. Of this number six are tuition pupils. Twenty-four are in the Classical course, forty-three in the Commercial, and nineteen in the General.

On account of the large number attending the school, it was necessary at the beginning of the year to increase the teaching force. Miss Ethel Buckman is still in charge of the Commercial department; Miss Elizabeth Watson, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke college, is the teacher of history and English; Miss Edith Mahy, a graduate of Brown University, is in charge of the Latin and French; Miss Jessie Chapman of Farmington Normal school is an assistant, devoting part of her time to the mathematical department in the high school, and the remainder of her time to grade work. The science work, advanced mathematics, senior and junior English are in charge of the principal.

In September instruction in music was introduced into the school, and very satisfactory results have been accomplished. Sheet music is used entirely, and the chorus is trained every Friday afternoon. This work is in charge of Miss Susan Frost. Another departure is in the introduction of penmanship, under the direction of the drawing teacher, Miss Clara Barnitz, a graduate of the Zanerian Art school. The entering class and all who are in the business course are required to take penmanship.

To accommodate conveniently the twenty-eight periods per day more recitation rooms are greatly needed. The large exhibition hall on the third floor was not intended for recitation purposes, but at present all the bookkeeping, typewriting and advanced drawing is done in this room. Often three recitations are in progress here at the same time. Early in the year six large tables were procured for the bookkeeping department. These, together with the eight typewriters, occupy considerable space in the upper hall. Room B, on the second floor is used for the beginners' drawing classes as well as for recitation purposes. Two long tables are used by the drawing pupils, and it is necessary to rearrange the room for the convenience of the several classes. The fact that the drawing material cannot be kept in the drawing room, causes a great inconvenience. At times recitations are held in the small rooms known as the teachers' rooms. This difficulty could be remedied if the high school department could have one or more of the rooms on the first floor now occupied by the grades. One of these rooms specially equipped for the commercial department would be a valuable addition.

Several improvements have been made, both in the line of school equipment and in the course of studies. Lockers have been furnished for the chemical laboratory so that the apparatus belonging to each pupil can be placed in safe keeping. A better place has been provided also for the chemical supplies. Under the direction of Miss Watson a new English course has been arranged. Heretofore no regular progressive plan has been followed for the four years. The new arrangement gives each class its particular work to do including supplementary reading from well known authors. The plan is to be submitted to the English department of Brown University for approval. This plan for the high school English course can be successfully carried out only when a similar plan is in operation in the grades.

It is a pleasing fact to note that in several instances business men have asked us to recommend pupils for important positions. When the young people realize more fully that the high school graduate has a better chance in the world than the boy or girl who lacks academic training, then a high school education will be better appreciated. A class of nineteen will graduate in June, and an educational trip to Washington is already being planned for the March vacation. The usual careful preparation is being made in order that the most good may be obtained from the trip.

The Goodall medal for highest rank in general scholarship was won last year by Miss Laura Hamilton, who also won it the year before. Miss Annie Sugden and Miss Carrie Gile, who held second and third places in point of scholarship, each received a book.

Since September the Emerson building has accommodated four grades besides the high school, making the total number of pupils in the building about two hundred twenty-five. The attendance throughout all grades has been very good, except recently when the prevailing colds have had their effect.

A new gong has been placed on the back of the building, as the principal play ground is in the rear. Better lighting arrangements have been made, and more recitation chairs have been purchased. The drinking fountain on the first floor can hardly satisfy the demand at times, although it is used almost entirely by the grade pupils. A small drinking fountain in the upper entry would be a great accommodation to high school pupils.

In conclusion I wish to express my thanks to the school board and superintendent for their cordial support, and to the teachers of the building for their hearty co-operation in the work we have been called upon to do the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

WILL O. HERSEY, Principal.

Sanford, Feb. 4, 1908.

We would call special attention to the crowded condition of the High school, as set forth in this report, in anticipation of the argument that will be made later with reference to increased school facilities.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE LINCOLN SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools of Sanford:

I submit, according to custom, my annual report of the Lincoln school and of the Springvale High school.

The work, in general, has been successfully accomplished and, in many ways, much improvement has been made over any previous year. I consider myself very fortunate to be privileged to work under a system which passes from one administration to another with practically no friction or interference with established plans,—as, indeed, has been the case since the retirement of Superintendent Paull.

THE LINCOLN SCHOOL.

We are already confronted with the problem of an overcrowded building,—a situation which will even more urgently need attention next fall. Our sixth grade, numbering 30, and the seventh, numbering 26, are placed in one room, which properly accommodates 48. Such a condition is not sanitary, because the room has no system of ventilation adapted to so many pupils at one time, and because many of the pupils are so seated as to see the blackboards with difficulty. According to the present outlook, the number to be assigned to those grades next fall will exceed the present number.

It seems to me that the several grades from the sixth to the ninth should be under separate teachers. Under the present arrangement, it is practically impossible for each individual pupil to receive the entire amount of the teacher's time and attention that rightfully belongs to him. The ninth grade, especially, is the class preparing for the high school and, as such, ought to have especially thorough instruction. This latter cannot be given by a teacher, half of whose time is devoted to another class.

As we have been obliged to give up to the sixth and ninth grades, during certain periods in the day, the recitation room connected with the high school room, it was necessary to equip the little room in the tower as a recitation room to accommodate some of the smaller classes of the high school.

Electric light service was installed in the upper story of the building during the fall. This highly appreciated improvement should be extended to the lower story for the benefit of the teachers on that floor, who need the light at a certain season of the year as much as those on the upper floor.

I am glad to commend the efforts of the teachers and pupils in several of the rooms towards having their schoolrooms better furnished. The gradually increasing amount of papers required in written work, drawing, etc., demands suitable receptacles. The teachers' desks in most of the rooms are not at all adequate to such service. I, however, venture to express as my humble opinion that such articles of furniture as chiffoniers or suitable tables with drawers should be furnished from the public school funds rather than by popular subscription.

I wish to say, furthermore, that the school officials and teachers should do all in their power to make the schoolrooms neat and attractive. Many of our pupils come from homes where neatness and refinement are practiced. Such children receive wrong impressions when they are obliged to attend school in untidy schoolrooms. The other class of children should gain from their school those things which make for culture and refinement, since they do not get them at home.

Another difficulty that has been experienced in our second and third grades is the fact that many of the pupils, of French parentage, were almost unable, at first, to speak or to understand English. Most of these were children who had been sent in from the mills, when special emphasis was laid on enforcing the compulsory attendance law, about a year and a half ago. In less than a year, this particular trouble will cease to exist, as there appears now no reason why more children should be found in such circumstances.

Only one change of teachers has been made. Mr. H. L. Butler, who had faithfully and efficiently taught in the sixth and seventh grades for eight years, declined a re-election. The position is now filled by Miss Rena A. Saunders.

There is just now a great need of a definite course of study for the grades. The teachers are seriously handicapped by the lack of knowing just what they are expected to accomplish with their classes. I understand that such a course is in prospect. Its advent, I am sure, will be gladly welcomed.

Many of the text books in the upper grades are very much out of repair and ought to be replaced by next fall.

The local truant officer, Mr. F. A. Clark, is to be commended for the prompt, cheerful and efficient performance of his duty. The excellent attendance through the year has been due, in no small degree, to his efforts. In this connection, I wish publicly to express to Fr. Casavant my appreciation of his kindness in helping us, among his own people, in this matter of regular attendance.

THE SPRINGVALE HIGH SCHOOL.

The interest on the part of the pupils is excellent and their progress is good. The school is quite evenly divided in the three courses.

The entering class in September last numbered 14, bringing the registration up to 30. Present indications show that the school will number about 45 next fall.

The present seating capacity of the main room is inadequate to the latter number. I recommend a new seating outfit of modern adjustable seats and desks in one or both rooms, in order to meet this need and to do away with the "patched-up" appearance of the present outfit in the main recitation room.

In the summer, Miss Eaton accepted a better position in Methuen, Mass., and was succeeded by Miss Corinne L. Hayward.

Owing to the increasing demands made by our courses of study, we shall need at the beginning of the next school year in September, either an additional teacher or that the teacher of shorthand be in charge of the classes in other commercial subjects, such as bookkeeping, arithmetic and the allied subjects. I am inclined to the latter plan, if a teacher can be procured who can handle all this work.

Some arrangement ought to be made whereby the principal should have at least twenty minutes free, in each session, for general supervision of the building. Also all the high school teachers should have one free period during the school day for necessary preparatory work for their classes and also for a consultation period when individual students may seek help needed in their studies.

The introduction of penmanship and singing under the special teachers is a welcome addition to our school work.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

I earnestly wish that there might be a more evident and active interest in the schools, on the part of the parents. I wish that parents, both fathers and mothers, might be seen in our schools more often. I wish that more intimate relations existed between parents and the teachers of their children. On the one hand, many cases of misunderstanding in matters of discipline and consequent harsh and unjust criticism might be avoided, if parents would only take the trouble to hear both sides of the case. On the other hand, parents who are intelligently interested can often be of great assistance to the school as a whole.

We hear a great deal, nowadays, about the "school spirit" which makes a system of schools enjoyable and efficient. Why can we not have in our village such a spirit in which pupils, teachers, parents and school officials share equally?

I desire to commend all my fellow teachers for faithful service, and some for successful results in especially trying situations, and also to thank all for hearty co-operation.

My thanks are due to the school committee and to yourself for wise suggestions and for prompt attention to supplying the needs of our schools.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK C. THOMPSON,

Principal of the Lincoln School and of the Springvale High School.

Springvale, Maine, Feb. 1, 1908.

We feel that the needs of the Lincoln school have been moderately stated, and would note that which has its rise from the presence of pupils who are limited in their knowledge of English. An arrangement, similar to that in the Longfellow school, to be referred to later, would probably lessen or solve this difficulty.

The situation in the Springvale High school demands attention and will be treated later.

We are glad to hear the appeal that is made for a closer relation between parents and the schools, and also the call for "school spirit." These influences, if active, could contribute greatly to the results that are expected from our schools.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF LONGFELLOW BUILDING.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

There are now four hundred nineteen children in the Longfellow building.

Every year the attendance in this building has increased until at the present time there are over sixty children on the third floor.

The heating apparatus was only intended to heat the first two floors, so on cold days it is almost impossible to heat the rooms on the third floor. Fortunately the weather has been unusually warm this winter, so teachers and pupils have had comfortable rooms most of the time.

In nearly all of the lower grades at the beginning of the year there were several children, who could not speak English. In those grades every teacher had between forty-five and fifty pupils, so it was impossible for them to spend much time on the individual child. The children in these schools who could speak English did good work, but those who could not understand what was said in the classes gained very slowly.

A few weeks after school began Mr. Paull asked me to give him the names of children whom I thought could be benefited by being placed in a room by themselves. I prepared the list as required. A few days later, I was told the committee had decided to hire another teacher for those children.

A room that we had been using for a recitation room was made ready for twenty children, and nearly all the children who could not speak English were sent to that room.

The children who have attended that school regularly have improved rapidly.

During the summer vacation four new drinking fountains were put into the lower front hall. These fountains are a great improvement over the unsanitary, crowded conditions of last year.

At the beginning of the winter term forty-eight children were promoted. Promotions were made in the first, second, third, fourth and fifth grades.

All this year we have been insisting not only on regular attendance, but on children trying to be in school on time.

The last two weeks reports showed that only thirteen had been tardy during the two weeks.

I wish to express my thanks to the school board, superintendent, and teachers for their co-operation and support.

Respectfully submitted,

LILA NORTHRUP, Principal.

Sanford, Me., Jan. 30, 1908.

In comment, we wish to call particular attention to the room opened during the fall, for those children, who, upon entering the school, were found to be deficient in the knowledge and use of the English language. The general spirit in the room is good, and the pupils are working comfortably among themselves, far happier than when in the larger rooms their deficiencies were in contrast with the capabilities of the other children. We believe that the results abundantly justify the opening of the room.

While the work in this building presents some unsolved disciplinary problems, we can testify to the general faithfulness and success of the teachers and to the constant vigilance of the principal.

OUR SPECIAL DEPARTMENTS.

That the specializing tendency, in education today, is well nigh general, finds evidence in the fact that no school system is felt to be essentially modern, and adequate to meet demands, that does not provide specialists in its departments of drawing and music.

The employment of such teachers is real economy; more work is done in a given time, and it is better done than when left to the more generally trained teacher.

We accordingly submit the reports of our special teachers in drawing and penmanship and in music.

As our present supervisor of drawing and penmanship has been conducting the work but one half of the year, we think that her apparent enthusiasm and report of a wholesome temper among the pupils, with reference to her subjects, indicates success in her special department and a promise of excellent results in the future.

The real fruits, of this department, are not to be found in drawings or in copy books, but rather will they appear at a later time in life in the form of refined taste and acceptable practice.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF DRAWING AND PENMANSHIP.

Sanford, Me., Feb. 1. '08.

Mr. Hall, Superintendent of Schools, Sanford, Maine.

Dear Sir:—I respectfully submit the annual report of the work in my departments in the graded and ungraded schools of Sanford and Springvale.

DRAWING.

“A talent for any art is rare; but it is given to nearly everyone to cultivate with earnestness. The more things thou learnest to know and to enjoy, the more complete and full will be for thee the delight of living.”—Platen.

Thus have we come to realize the vast importance of this factor in the development of the child, especially in his social relation as a producer for the social good, with an appreciation for the work of others.

Art education is a means to awakening the powers of observation, and to the development of one of the greatest powers, the creative imagination. It stimulates the desire to express that which is observed and leads to the deep appreciation of all that is good and beautiful. As teachers and supervisors we strive with this object.

The work in drawing so far this year has proved very satisfactory, due to the conscientious and earnest effort on the part of both teachers and pupils. I shall briefly give the substance of the work being carried on in the various grades and high schools.

In the first grades wide range is given as to material for practice. Free hand drawings are made from objects of interest to the child, also from nature. A little illustrative practice of stories and Mother Goose rhymes is carried out. Pencil and crayons are used as mediums. We frequently take our period for free hand paper cutting, an excellent means of expression in the primary grades.

Grades two and three use drawing pencils, crayons and scissors as mediums. We draw from nature, and from simple objects, in outline, endeavoring whenever possible to bring the object before the pupil. Imaginative pictures are attempted, and the illustration of incidents and the children's personal experiences.

The fourth and fifth grades have been drawing from nature, objects involving two dimensions, the type solids and objects of like proportions. We expect to draw from pose and soon begin color lessons. In these two grades we use the five pan color box. Brush and ink is also used.

Grades six, seven, eight and nine, the opening of the fall term, made drawings from fruit and flower sprays, and vegetables in pencil shading and pencil mass. Recent practice has been on the lettering, free hand and with measurements. We now also have our paints, the eight pan color box. We expect to do some good work in water colors before the close of school.

The Freshman class, Springvale High school, have been working from still life. The lack of former practice in this line made the work somewhat hard, but we shall continue and hope for better results. At present our lessons are on design.

The Freshman class, Emerson High school, are extending their efforts to design.

Sanford High school drawing classes are working at a great disadvantage, because of the cramped quarters and weak tables. Especially the mechanical drawing pupils are hindered by the tables. They have proved most discouraging to their best efforts, responsible for many untidy papers.

Aside from an equipped drawing room in connection with the High school, a great aid in systematizing the teaching of drawing in a place of this size, is a good art text book. It is a valuable reference and guide in the hands of the grade teacher.

The drawing in the district schools, as nearly as possible is being carried along with that of the graded schools. The pupils are not found wanting in interest and enthusiasm. They and the teachers have done remarkably well, considering the absence of previous instruction in this branch.

PENMANSHIP REPORT.

More and more is good penmanship being appreciated, and its value felt. A stepping-stone to something better in various walks of life, its greatest need is perhaps (felt) realized in the business world, the greater advantages occurring here. From such needs, after the dormant period of vertical writing, public schools have come to do their part, in producing better penmanship. By better penmanship we mean good legible writing, that is, free, easy and rapid of execution. Arm movement seems to be filling this long felt want. This is what we as a body are striving to bring forth, though it takes many years, from its first steps in the public schools, to occur its complete accomplishment. I herewith state briefly the substance of our penmanship practice in the different grades.

In the first grades the minimum letters of the alphabet are taken up according to their similarity. Large movement exercises are taught in connection with the letters. Similar letters are combined into words and later short sentences.

The second, third and fourth grades take the capital letters according to their similarity. Accompanying movement exercises are practiced with the letters. Words and page writing follow.

Commencing with the fifth grade through the ninth grade, arm movement is required and practiced. The pupil is given all that will enable him to acquire a good legible hand writing, freely and easily executed.

With the High school classes I am endeavoring to cover a practical course in business penmanship. I am greatly pleased with the spirit and interest shown on the part of the pupils. Good results cannot help but follow.

The same may be said of the penmanship in the district schools as was stated of the drawing. Copy books are used with the practice paper. Their work ranks well with that of the town schools.

I wish to mention the excellent appearance the drawing and penmanship papers present as a whole, from all the grades. Their neatness is to be commended.

In closing I desire to thank the superintendent, teachers and assistants for their hearty co-operation, and express my appreciation for all that has been done toward the betterment of the work in these departments.

Respectfully submitted,

CLARA E. BARNITZ,

Special Teacher of Drawing and Penmanship.

Since that remote day, when Orpheus charmed the beasts of the field with the music of his lyre, until now, none has seriously denied the effects of musical sound upon animate creation. How natural then that we should find music an important influence upon the conscious lives of our school children. A general aesthetic appreciation is cultivated; disciplinary control is aided, and a naive optimism is encouraged.

Believing that these ends are served by our work in music we present the report of our special teacher in that department.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC.

Sanford, Me., Feb. 1, 1908.

Superintendent of Schools, Sanford, Me.

Dear Sir: At the beginning of the fall term a decided step in advance in the study of music in the schools was taken in placing music in the high schools for weekly practice. The results so far attained have been gratifying. The result of their previous instruction in the grades is shown in the readiness with which unfamiliar music is taken up, and the ease with which difficulties are mastered. So far, octavo music has been used almost exclusively.

In the grades, the Modern Music Series and Books II and III of the Cecilian Series have been used with the same satisfaction as in previous years. On account of the small number of singers in the ninth grade at Sanford this year, it was found necessary for the eighth and ninth grades to have their music lesson together.

In September, 1907, a piano was purchased and placed in the room occupied by the eighth and ninth grades at Springvale. This piano is proving very satisfactory and useful, and is already half paid for.

I wish to acknowledge the interest and help given me during the music lesson by the teachers in both Sanford and Springvale.

Respectfully submitted,

SUSAN E. FROST,

Instructor of Music.

In brief retrospective glance, over these special reports, it is desirable that we should give our attention to some matters of rather pressing importance. A rapid glance at the statistical table of attendance, that follows these pages, will reveal the fact that several of our grades in Longfellow school are divided, there being what are known as an upper and a lower 4th, an upper and a lower 3rd, etc. A hurried return to the report of the principal of that building, shows that in the first, second, third, fourth and fifth grades, forty-eight promotions were made at the beginning of the winter term. In the third grade of the Lincoln school we find a situation that demands a separation of the grade into two sections, in order that the children of similar degree of advancement and ability may be brought together.

These conditions we firmly believe, demand a systematic division of each grade, into sections whose work shall be compassed in one year, and from which promotion shall regularly occur, twice each school year. By this means it would be possible for the unusually capable child to make extra progress in a year, commensurate with his ability, as the amount of extra work to be done would correspond to the progress of a division for one-half year only. There would be, as well, advantage to the pupil, backward from untoward circumstance, or from indisposition of will or of health, for the additional time necessary to cover the ground required for consistent progress, will be limited under the suggested arrangement to one-half the year. Thus the discouragement consequent upon the need of repeating the work of an entire year will not be felt. This plan has been seriously and satisfactorily carried out in Providence, R. I., to our personal knowledge, and is being adopted in adjacent places, with full belief in its success. It is our hope that another school year may see our schools organized under this plan.

In reading the superintendent's report of last year, we find reference made to an intended course of study for our graded schools, and that some preliminary work has been done in that direction. It is our purpose, with the collaboration of our teachers, to complete this work, and to put into the hands of them all, a course of study that shall be prepared with careful regard to the usual determinations of the relative importance of the different subjects taught, and the proper time to be apportioned to each. Further, attention shall be given to correlation, as being a systematic effort to inter-relate the matter of our graded school curriculum, until it shall present a unity of interest and developmental intent. Lastly the work will be arranged to provide for the promotions in each year as above suggested.

When beginning our work in Sanford we were surprised at finding no course of study in general use, and anticipated, what we have since found to be true, a considerable difference in the amount of work done, matter treated and progress made in the same grades in the different schools. That this condition of things is not more marked, is due, we think, to three things: First, and most important, the fact that our grade teachers are all graduates of Normal schools and therefore professionally familiar with the general limits of the work for each year; secondly, the use of the plan book which establishes this knowledge in practice; and thirdly, the monthly report of work accomplished, which has afforded a means of discovering any considerable departure from the general course, and which might lead to correction of any such wandering. We believe, however, that in spite of the practically automatic adjustment of this matter of curriculum in the past, a definite course of study will be of great help in our schools.

There is a final matter to which we believe very serious attention should be given, and that is the increase, in fact and in prospect, in the number of pupils we are called upon to care for in our schools each year. A comparison of the statistics of this report with those of a year ago will show this.

Annual census	2,678	2,883
Parochial school enrollment....	380	396
Public school enrollment	958	1,031
Public school enrollment, fall term 1907-8, 1,078.

When we consider the conditions in our large buildings, the matter stands proven again.

At the present time the Lincoln school is crowded, and no place can be found there for any more pupils or for any enlargement of the work. The condition of the Longfellow school is even worse, as the report of the principal shows, while in the Emerson school, the claims of the grades and of the High school for more room, are in conflict. At present, with no sixth grade in the Emerson school, the four grade rooms there meet the demand; but with the regrading of another year, we may expect a demand for more room for the missing grade, while there is none to be had. From the outlook of the High school, matters are even more forbidding. With the possibility of enlarged laboratory equipment, provided by the Hollinrake bequest, and with the hope for increased facilities for doing the work of the Commercial Department,—that our High school may meet the call of the day in that direction,—we must use some of the room devoted to the grade work at the present time.

How can the problem of this situation be solved?

We believe, finally, only by another school building. We are bold to make this statement, from the fact that some action has been taken, with the idea of providing such a building, by securing an option upon a lot for a school-house upon the east side of the river. A building in that vicinity would relieve the situation at the Longfellow and Emerson schools and open the way for what we believe to be a greatly needed change from the present High school arrangements.

In our first meeting with the schools of Sanford, we wondered to find two high schools. From more familiar acquaintance with the facts, wonder has only changed to regret that there should be such a dissipation of energy and means, to maintain two high schools, when by consolidation economy could be realized in effort and expense, and our high school as a unit be to us, even more than now in its divided existence, a cause for congratulation.

We believe that while the traditional devotion to their institution, of the citizens of Springvale, is a fine instance of constancy, it cannot aid the Lincoln High school, nor give to its pupils the advantages of the larger school at Sanford. This traditional devotion also fails to consider the much greater cost per pupil of the Lincoln High school. Last year the expense was as 90 to 42 and this year it is as

'84 to '41, when compared with the expense at the Emerson High school. Economy and educational expediency then urge that the interest for the original, time-honored High school in Springvale should pass into the larger interest for the best possible educational advantage of the pupils of high school age in all Sanford. The consideration of distance is not serious, for transportation by the Atlantic Shore Line Railway is both feasible and reasonable. Further, by the removal of the Lincoln High school from its present place, room will be provided for the grades and pressure relieved at that point.

In these, our personal comments and report, we have had to depend largely on impressions. We trust that these impressions may grow into reliable knowledge, and that our efforts, for the welfare of your schools may have their fitting results.

We wish at this time to express our appreciation of the kindly spirit with which we were met by your retiring superintendent, Mr. Paull. Everything was done by him to make the entrance upon our work pleasant and reasonable. To the teachers we are in debt, for kindly greeting and cordial support, while the members of the School Board have made life pleasant under somewhat trying conditions, by an unquestioning confidence in our ability and good faith.

Simple justice demands that we give you the best service in our power.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY J. HALL,

Superintendent of Schools.

Sanford, Maine, Feb. 1, 1908.

To the School Committee of Sanford:—

You have done me the honor to ask me to prepare a statement to be incorporated in the report of your superintendent, which statement should consist in part of a report of my work in your schools, and in part of some recommendations as to the future.

I herewith present that statement, which must necessarily be a brief one, lest I trespass on what your superintendent may cover in his report. The statement will necessarily be of a paragraphic nature, and there will be no attempt at a logical or chronological arrangement of the points touched upon. I shall simply mention briefly some of the things which were done, with what measure of success you can perhaps best judge.

The enforcement of the new child labor law, by which all children under fourteen years of age were excluded from the mills, gave us at the opening of the fall term a double problem.

One part of the problem was to get the children into the schools. This we were able to do with a good degree of success through the efficient work of the truant officers.

The other part of the problem was more difficult of solution. It was the problem of the adjustment of the children to grade. Some of them had been out of school for several years, most of them had never been in any public school, and one girl of thirteen years of age was found, who, so far as we could judge, had never been to school.

To care for these children properly in the regular grades was impossible. So twenty were selected and placed in the small room on the third floor of the Longfellow building, and a special teacher was assigned to them. The progress which these children made while I observed the work, was exceedingly gratifying.

More schools of that kind, a small number of pupils who are deficient, placed under a skilful teacher, that they may be helped along more rapidly, would be very profitable and helpful in any school system.

During the first year of my superintendency, at my request, the system of penmanship was changed. Good work was done by the regular teachers, but I felt that better work could be accomplished had we a supervisor. You kindly allowed me to carry out my idea, and the work of penmanship was combined with that of drawing and a supervisor secured to take charge of both.

This made something of a change in the character of the work in drawing, as it placed part of it in the hands of the grade teacher, where we believe that it belongs.

Of the working of the new plan of supervision in these branches I can only speak so far as I saw it. But my belief was that it was a decided success.

This work was broadened in scope from what had been done in the past, and the new supervisor was asked to go to the rural schools, visiting them every third week, and spending an hour on each visit.

I may say here that I believe that the music also should be carried into these same rural schools, as it could easily be done.

At my request you allowed the introduction of music into the high schools, which I believe was a step in the right direction.

There are many men in Sanford who have had no educational advantages, and have no knowledge of English either to read it or to write it.

A company of these men at Sanford last winter asked for a teacher of English one evening each week, and the same request was made by a company at Springvale last fall. These requests you allowed me to grant, and the progress which these men, some of them forty years old, made, was very gratifying.

You also gave, at my request, a very much needed increase in salaries in grades one to four, inclusive, making the maximum for those grades $12 per week. In doing this you were but keeping step with other towns and cities, and doing what was fair and right.

I presume that almost every one in Sanford knew that I believed a year ago that a new building should be erected at once, and at my request a lot was selected by a committee of the town, chosen for that purpose. That building was not built last summer, but should be built this summer to be ready for occupancy in September.

The Longfellow building has been and is very much crowded. We were compelled to take one of the fifth grades to the Emerson building, and even then we were compelled to use the small room on the third floor of the Longfellow.

The use of the room at the Emerson inconvenienced us very much in high school work, as we were compelled to put in two additional teachers, and became at once much crowded.

The pupils who live in the vicinity of the mills, and on that side of the river, should have a chance to get the work of the first six grades in a building in their vicinity. The first six grades for the other pupils in Sanford village, and the seventh and eighth grades for all, should be in the Longfellow building. The Emerson building should contain only the high school and the ninth grade.

One of the rooms now in use for grades in the Emerson should be fitted up for the commercial department of the high school. One should be fitted up as a drawing room. Even then there would be no more room than is necessary for high school work, that it might be done to the best advantage.

Not the least of the advantages to accrue from the taking out all grades below the ninth from the Emerson building, would be the matter of basement discipline. With the variety of ages in the building at the present time, this is a problem of no mean proportions.

The new building which should be built should be an eight room building. Six of the rooms would soon be needed for the six grades, and the others would be needed at once for an evening school.

I should like to say very much about an evening school. I believe that an appropriation should be made this spring and that you and your superintendent should commence at once to plan for one to be carried on next year.

I said to you in my last annual report, "The question of the number of high schools to be maintained seems never to have been permanently settled." I desire to say in this statement which you are allowing me to make, that which I have said to many people in Sanford and Springvale in personal conversation, that I believe the high school question should be settled permanently, at once, and there should be but one school.

No more favorable conditions geographically could exist than do exist in Sanford. The Emerson school is favorably located on a trolley line, and the pupils from Springvale could reach the building almost as easily as they do the Lincoln building at the present time.

Whether the question be argued from the standpoint of the economic advantage to the town, or from the standpoint of educational efficiency, there is no valid argument for two high schools, of the same character, offering the same courses.

If you or the citizens of the town are determined to continue two schools, why not divide the work and make one classical and preparatory for college and technical school, and the other a school for industrial training, both on the present commercial lines, and on the line of work which is being done in many cities in manual training and specific training for the trades.

In a community like Sanford there is splendid opportunity for just that kind of school.

I believe that this question should be settled at once, for at present you are weakening your efficiency in both schools.

Allow me in closing to thank the committee for their cordial support and ready acquiescence in my plans, the teachers for their genuine loyalty, and the citizens of the town for their spirit of harmony in the work of the schools while they were under my supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

A. R. PAULL.

Tramps committed to Alfred	2

Families of neglected children reported	2

Intoxicated persons sent home off from the street..	167
Disorderly persons sent home	4

Owing to the large number of breaks the past year and a greater part of them in sections where an officer never goes unless called, for the reason there is no one to go, we would recommend for your consideration the appointment of at least three men for the ensuing year. One for North side of the river, with two additional winding boxes, one to be located at the corner of Brook and Cottage street, and the other near the new school house. Two men for the South side of the river, one for each side of Washington street, with additional winding boxes for the upper side, one on State street, and one at the corner of Maple and Riverside Avenue, and additional boxes on lower side, one at corner of Jackson and Main, and the other at corner of Jackson and Allen St. We would also recommend that the town purchase a stretcher to be kept in detention room for use of officers, in case a sick or disabled person was found on the street. It would have been a very nice thing to have had at least three times the past year, and on two occasions for citizens of this village.

Respectfully,

CHARLES E. BENNETT,
ALEX M. DART,
Police Officers.

GEORGE W. HAYES,
LEWIS E. WIGGIN,
Constables.

CHARLES E. BENNETT, Clerk.

We wish to call attention to several items, as follows:

TOWN FARM IMPROVEMENTS.

As the buildings at the town farm had no piazza, therefore being no place for the inmates of the farm to get out in the summer, we deemed it a necessity that there be one and we have had one built around one end and one side at a cost of $310.55, including repairing ell. The buildings are in good repair with the exception that they should be painted this year.

FOREST FIRES.

Last season being extremely dry, the town was visited by forest fires to quite an extent, but think we were very fortunate in escaping with much less damage than many of our neighboring towns. We have paid on account of fighting these fires nearly four hundred and fifty dollars.

POLICE EXPENSES.

The town appropriated $1,200.00 for police, $600 for each village, but we found this amount inadequate for the Sanford District and therefore have used about $200 from the incidental account.

TEMPORARY LOANS.

At the last annual town meeting the Selectmen were authorized to raise by temporary loans, sums aggregating $14,916.40. Outside of these temporary loans the town debt has been decreased by $2,488.54.

ROAD IMPROVEMENTS.

It being almost a necessity that crushed stone be used in building the state road and repairing the general highways, we have procured from the manufacturers an Aurora stone crusher, which was used on the state road the past season, with eminently satisfactory results, and can be purchased on April 1st for $1,420.00 and we recommend this amount be appropriated for this purpose.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT

of the

SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

To the citizens of the town of Sanford:

Your committee herewith submit their annual report, also the report of the Superintendent of Schools and such other reports as are usual to be included with this report.

The report of the superintendent and other special reports are worthy of your closest attention.

They contain such criticisms and recommendations as only those closest to our schools can give.

Although quite a number of changes have necessarily been made in the teaching force of the schools during the year, among others caused by the resignation of Mr. Hersey which was received with great reluctance by the committee, the general high standard of the schools have been maintained.

During the year a course of manual training and domestic science has been established at the Emerson school, made possible by the generous gift of Mr. Joseph Hollinrake, who in his lifetime was ever a friend of our schools and interested in their welfare, and who many times urged the advisability of such a course. It is the intention of the committee to extend this course to the Lincoln school as far as the facilities of the building will allow; and in this connection we wish to take occasion to thank the donors, for the most excellent picture of Mr. Hollinrake which now occupies a prominent place in the halls of the Emerson school building.

The school building voted at the last annual meeting is fast nearing completion. It is built from plans furnished by John Calvin Stevens of Portland, is of the Ferguson system, concrete hollow blocks, practically fire proof and up to date in every respect.

With the completion of the Roosevelt school we are well provided with room with the exception of at the Lincoln school where the rooms are over crowded and if there is any considerable increase of attendance a new building will be necessary, which might be built on the same lot facing Mill street and displacing the old building now there, or upon some other lot to be chosen.

We ask your consideration of the question, if as good or not better results might be obtained by uniting with some adjacent town in electing a Superintendent, and with less expense to the town, the State paying an equal amount as the towns, in which case we think a most efficient Superintendent could reasonably be retained, and changes in this important office would be less frequent, also that the money for common schools, repairs, etc., be raised in one sum and for school purposes, as often it is necessary to purchase supplies for which there is no specific appropriation.

We therefore recommend the following appropriations: The sum of $700. if the town united with another in choosing a Superintendent, otherwise the sum of $1,200. for salary of Superintendent; for Free High Schools $4,500, and for school purposes $13,000, which is a sum equal to the amount raised last year for the same purposes.

In the future we ask the same hearty co-operation of the citizens of Sanford in and for our schools that they have always given.

GEORGE A. GOODWIN,	}	Superintending School Committee.

MYRON E. BENNETT,

REPORT

of the

Superintendent of Schools

To the School Board of Sanford:

I have the honor and the pleasure to present to you my first report as Superintendent of schools, the tenth of the series of such reports.

As my period of service covers but a scant half year about the most that I am able to do is to make some comments upon conditions as I find them and submit for your consideration the reports of those who being more directly in touch with conditions have more definite knowledge, with my comments thereon and offer some suggestions which appear to me to be for the betterment of the school system.

More than passing comment on the material surroundings, the excellent buildings, adequate equipment, etc., is not necessary. Of the teaching force and the general atmosphere prevailing, the widespread sentiment among the citizens that the schools shall be of the high standard much could be said with justice. The vacancies caused by resignations and otherwise before the opening of the fall term were filled as follows. Mr. Hersey was succeeded by Mr. F. L. Sawyer, a graduate of Harvard, with successful teaching experience. Miss Florence Evans was promoted to be assistant in the High school. Miss Gertrude Dow took the place of Miss West in Grade IX, and Miss Charlotte Feeney was made principal of the Longfellow building. Other new teachers in the Longfellow are Miss Margaret Sullivan Grade IV, Miss Helen Cushman Grade III, Miss Edith Giffin and Miss Eva Edwards Grade I. Miss Jessie A. Muir of the Chicago Art Institute and Zanerian Penmanship school is supervisor of drawing and penmanship. At the Lincoln High Miss Davis replaces Miss Bragdon and in the grades the new teachers are Miss Lillian Conner, Grade IV, and Miss Mabel Goding, Grade III. Shortly after the opening of the term Miss McIntire of Grade VIII and IX was forced to resign for personal reasons, much to the regret of all, and Miss Ethel Hobbs was promoted to that grade and Miss Alice Harmon to Grade V. Because of the large number of pupils in the combined VI and VII, and VIII and IX grades it was deemed advisable to secure an assistant to divide her time between these two schools and Miss Emma Jordan was elected to this position. With these exceptions the schools are under the same teachers as last year and all are performing their duties conscientiously, enthusiastically, and with due measure of results.

One feature of most superintendent's reports of the present time is the plea for the increase in the salary of the teachers. Happily, I shall be able to omit this as the present salary schedule, adopted last June, makes it possible for us to command the services of the best of the graduates from the Normal schools of the state and to compete with the cities to our advantage for the best teachers.

Of the commendable things which have come to my notice perhaps first should come the matter of attendance since only when this is regular can the full work of the school room be accomplished. In evidence of this I would say that at the end of the fall term we gave to pupils who had not been tardy or absent one-half day during the term over three hundred certificates testifying to this fact, which number was more than one-third the total enrollment of that term. In this connection it seems desirable to call attention to one pupil in the third year in high school who has not been absent or tardy since entering the fourth grade. Aside from these who as a matter of pride have maintained such a record of attendance, that of the schools as a whole has been good and is stimulated without doubt by the very efficient work of the truant officers in looking after such few as persistently absent themselves on the slightest pretences.

Effort has been made to require the attendance for the statutory period of all pupils unless very sufficient reasons are presented for allowing them to enter the mills, but the pressure is very great and will not be relieved till the legal age of employment and of school attendance are harmonized.

As to the general work of the schools I find that in arithmetic of a high order and in general satisfactory work is in most branches being done. The texts in use in geography are not fully satisfactory and the course as arranged should be modified in some ways and I would urge the further introduction of the Tarr & McMurray books as a means of improving the work in that subject. In reading we are seriously handicapped by the lack of available reading matter, in the lower grades particularly, and a substantial increase in supplementary readers would be of material value in improving the quality of the reading of the various classes.

The rural schools, though all are small, are in charge of competent teachers and are doing as well as could be expected with their lack of stimulus which comes with a larger number of pupils. These schools are adequately equipped in most ways. The Jefferson school will not maintain the required "average of eight" and will have to be discontinued unless the town votes otherwise. If further consolidation of these schools were possible it would result in a saving of money to the town and greater advantages to the children.

The school fire horrors of last year in various parts of the country caused widespread investigation as to the condition of school buildings and in this state resulted in requests from the state department for a thorough investigation of fire escapes, furnaces and doorways and a report to the department. Our buildings appear to be safeguarded as to furnace arrangements and stairways and all buildings fulfil the requirements of the law as regards doors opening outward and fire escapes. During the summer new iron fire escapes were placed in the Lincoln and Longfellow buildings and fire drills have been practiced to accustom pupils to their use

HIGH SCHOOLS.

The reports of the principals of the Sanford and Springvale High schools present fully and clearly the conditions and needs of these schools and I would call particular attention to that part of the report of Mr. Thompson concerning the sanitary condition of the Lincoln building and of the smaller building used by the first grade. The other recommendations contained in these reports should also receive consideration

The work of both schools is of a high order and meets the needs of the pupils very well. With the introduction of the work in Manual Training and Domestic Science will be begun, I trust, the development of a new course more particularly adapted to meet the needs of those who are to take up industrial occupations on the completion of their school work.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE SANFORD HIGH SCHOOL.

Sanford, Maine.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

In response to your request, I submit my first report as principal of the Emerson school from September—when my services began.

The number of pupils enrolled in the High school is eighty-one, of which seventeen are Seniors, eighteen Juniors, twenty-five Sophomores, sixteen Freshmen, five special. Twenty-five are taking the Classical Course, twenty-five the Commercial Course, and thirty-one a general course.

Three are tuition pupils. One of these, Sanzo Ooka, a special student with the standard of a senior, is a graduate of Rizyo, St. Paul's College, Tokio, Japan, the country of his birth.

The commercial department continues under the instruction of Miss Ethel C. Buckman, Randolph Normal and Bay Path Institute Latin, French and Freshman English are conducted by Miss G. Edith Mahy, A. B., Brown University.

The Mathematics, Ancient History and Sophomore English are under Miss Florence H. Evans, A. B., Mt. Holyoke College.

Chemistry is under the charge of our superintendent.

The Junior and Senior English, Mediæval and Modern History, Commercial Geography, Physics, Botany, Commercial Law and Virgil, once a week, are assigned to the principal.

The pupils have had the benefit of one lesson a week in writing, in free-hand and mechanical drawing under Miss Jessie A. Muir, and in singing under Miss Susan Frost.

With the beginning of the present term, the High school and the 7th, 8th and 9th grades have had the opportunity of a two-hour elective per week in manual training under Miss Edith Long of Pratt Institute, and in domestic science under Miss Candace Cummings of Thomas Normal. Seventy members of the High school have taken one or the other of these courses. I believe many pupils of low standing in other classes will excel in these branches and, with renewed courage, improve in their regular work. I will leave to you the honor of a more full report of the advantages of these new departments to the schools of Sanford.

The four rooms on the first floor are occupied by three grammar grades and one intermediate with an enrollment of one hundred fifty-three pupils, which with the High school makes the total number of pupils in the building 234. Miss Gertrude Dow has charge of the ninth grade of twenty-pupils, Miss Nellie O. Littlefield of the eighth of forty-seven, Miss Florence Morrill of the seventh of forty-nine, and Miss Lila Northrop of the fifth, of thirty-two pupils. These teachers are doing faithful and efficient work and are ever ready to co-operate in any suggestion or plan that tends to the harmony of the Emerson school.

The resignation of Miss Elizabeth Watson during the summer and the consequent division of her work among the remaining teachers, caused some unexpected changes for which they had no opportunity to make the proper preparation. While there were necessarily decided disadvantages suffered, the cheerful manner in which my associates shared the extra work deserves my gratitude and the appreciation of the school board. You relieved the congestion in a measure by the assumption of the chemistry class, and the union of the junior and senior classes in Virgil with the plan that the juniors read Cicero next year with the present sophomores and the elimination of one course in history and one in science further relieved the difficulties of the situation. The general plan of the courses of study with proper discretion in eliminating small classes in certain subjects is well adapted to a school of the size and character of our High school. The magnificent equipment for high school work at the Emerson building is a proud monument to the loyal services in the past of those concerned in its creation.

The ambition and progress shown by the school is a gratifying tribute to their efforts. The Goodall medal was won by Violet Hazel Ferguson. Jennie M. Cloutier stood second, Margie M. Blanchard third, Eva M. Cloutier fourth, Amy L. Blanchard fifth, with a difference of less than one per cent between the five.

I believe the best way for teachers to begin to improve the schools is by making every possible use of the appliances in their hands and of the time at their command in preparation for their work. In this connection it has been a pleasure for me to observe daily in my associates evidence of this work of preparation and interest in the progress of their pupils without any attempt to make showy exhibition of their recitation work. I trust that you and your school board will feel that I also realize the importance of drawing from a living fountain the vital inspiration necessary to maintain and advance the standard of the Sanford schools.

We need better arrangements to protect the reference books from dust, not only for the health of the pupils, but also to better preserve the valuable books which we now possess and to which we are likely to add when the town and its pupils realize the benefits to a high school of a growing reference library.

In the hall, forty-five pupils in bookkeeping are doing excellent work in spite of many difficulties, namely, the room has accommodations for only twenty-four; it has inadequate daylight, improper equipments for artificially lighting the tables, and lacks proper facilities for black-board work. The advisability of equipping room I for the commercial work and the so-called library for a typewriting room deserves your consideration. Especially as the use of the hall for class work interferes with the purpose for which it was originally planned and to which it is well adapted. Two more preferably visible typewriters are also urgently needed. Pupils in this course would like to prove the excellence of this department by doing the work of the business men in town.

We have suffered some waste of time for want of promptness in getting supplies and in some cases have had to borrow from or loan to the Springvale High school. This seems to me to be accompanied with more loss than gain in the case of both schools.

The present method of selling the pupils the consumable supplies is a very satisfactory one, in case of the High school since it inculcates a lesson in economy worth more to the pupil than free supplies and saves watching for waste which, in case of some Massachusetts schools in good standing becomes almost malicious where these supplies are free.

I am now on my second half year in the service of the schools, and the only communication I have had with many of the parents is a wireless one on the faces of the pupils telling me that they come from good homes and from parents who are anxious for their success in the world. My answer to that communication is that I realize the great responsibility resting upon me and upon all teachers, and that I shall endeavor to prove worthy of the honor conferred upon me by their school board. If anything goes wrong in the school life of their son or daughter they will always find me glad to meet them and to co-operate with them in correcting or removing any condition by which the fruition of the school life is less than they have a right to expect. I shall appreciate the friendly effort to correct the faults and improve the standards of the school more than praise of what is unworthy.

Our growing boys and girls need plenty of sleep and good food. Regular vigorous competitor physical exercise added to these impart a vigor and tone to youth, gives joy to its activity, a spirit to everything it does; hence, it gives to the school life the school spirit about which we hear so much. The boy who has wholesome diet, regular sleep and proper athletic exercise differs as much from the one who does not as two colts do. One goes because he feels like it, the other because he is driven. I shall hope to see this side of the school life receive more attention with the coming of spring. I am glad to see that an interest in graduation exercises has been revived by the school board. The uplifting moral influence upon both the school and community of well prepared graduation exercise given before the parents and friends of the school is an important educational factor in the town.

I wish in conclusion to thank the school board, the teachers and the people of the town for the quiet and courteous support which I felt sustaining my hand in beginning my work among them

Respectfully submitted,

F. F. SAWYER,

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE LINCOLN SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I submit the following report of the Lincoln school and of the Springvale High school for the year ending Jan. 31, 1909:

THE LINCOLN SCHOOL.

There have been several changes in the personnel of the teaching force. Miss Ethel M. Hobbs was transferred to the eighth and ninth grades in place of Miss Josephine McIntire, who resigned in September; Miss Alice M. Harmon was transferred to the fifth grade; Miss Lillian A. Connor was elected to the fourth grade; Miss Mabel J. Goding, to the third grade; Miss Ethel N. Grant was transferred to the second grade; Miss Alice L. Gowen was elected assistant in the second and third grades; and Miss Emma A. Jordan, in the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades. By the retirement of Miss McIntire, our body of teachers suffered a distinct loss.

The teachers, as a whole, are a company of earnest workers, the net result of whose work shows a steady improvement throughout the grades.

We labor somewhat under a disadvantage in that two of the teachers are obliged to conduct their classes in the corridors, an arrangement which, to my mind, is not altogether sanitary and, in several other respects, not conducive to the best results. I hope that, in the near future, some means may be employed to remedy this state of affairs.

Our present seating accommodations in many of the rooms will not be adequate, if there shall be a considerable increase in the enrollment during the coming year.

Several necessary alterations and repairs were made in the buildings during the last summer. These included the rebuilding of the lower part of the tower, a change in the arrangement of the high school rooms, the laying of a considerable area of new flooring and of new treads on the stairs, the erection of a suitable fire escape, and some repainting of the interior of the building.

I recommend a thorough inspection of the textbooks now in use to the end that many which are practically unserviceable on account of long use may be replaced by the proper books.

I also recommend that certain necessary repairs, a list of which has been forwarded to the school committee by Mr. F. A. Clark, receive the attention of the Board—particularly, an increase in the number of basement accommodations in the main building, and a thorough overhauling of the plumbing in the basement of the first grade building. In this latter place, the whole outfit is a continual source of expense, during the winter, besides being a source of unsanitary practices on the part of the pupils.

I earnestly hope that means may be provided, at an early date, to furnish an equipment for manual training and the allied work.

THE SPRINGVALE HIGH SCHOOL.

In the summer, Miss Blanche A. Bragdon resigned to accept a similar position in Massachusetts, as also did Miss Corinne L. Hayward. Both these teachers were capable young women and accomplished their work well, while connected with the school.

The new teachers are Miss E. Christina Davis, of Rochester, N. H., and Miss Vena M. Garvin, of this village.

A class of fourteen entered the school in September, making the enrollment forty. To accommodate the increased attendance, the main room was enlarged during the summer. According to present indications, this rearrangement of the rooms will accommodate the school, perhaps a year and a half longer.

The purchase of a Crowell cabinet has placed our equipment for physical science on a suitable working basis, and fills a need that has existed during all the previous history of the school.

The chemical equipment will need replenishing as soon as sufficient funds are available. No demand for such supplies has been made for some time, because during last year I had no class in chemistry. The present class is getting along fairly well, but we shall soon be in need of supplies in order to accomplish any work at all.

The commercial course continues to be popular. It is our aim to make the work in this strong and efficient. Our equipment to do this work has been strengthened by the fact that Miss Garvin is now able to give all her time to high school work.

I recommend that one of the old machines of our original supply of typewriters be replaced by a new one, also that the Underwood machine now rented be replaced by purchasing a similar new machine of late model.

I recommend that inkwells be provided in all the desks in the building where they are now needed, that, in the high school rooms there be provided an extra inkwell in a certain number of the desks, so that the classes in book-keeping may not be obliged to have red ink in separate bot-bles on the tops of desks—a fruitful source of annoyance both to teachers and pupils.

I recommend that suitable shelf room be provided for books of reference and other material used in the high school.

In conclusion, I wish to extend to yourself and the members of the Board my appreciation of favors and helpful suggestions; to my fellow teachers, thanks for hearty co-operation in making our work efficient; and to Mr. F. A. Clark for valuable assistance in maintaining regularity of attendance in difficult cases.

Very respectfully,

FRANK C. THOMPSON,

Principal of the Lincoln School and of the Springvale High School.

Springvale, Maine, January 30, 1909.

Owing to the non-completion of the new school building on the other side of the river, considerable confusion resulted at the opening of the fall term but this was soon overcome and the work of the various grades in the Longfellow proceeded regularly. It is to be regretted that this building has not been available for use so far this year but it will be appreciated all the more when ready, as it appears it will be now, for the spring term.

In general the conditions in the Longfellow are satisfactory. Miss Feeney as principal is proving of good executive ability and is receiving the cordial support of the teachers.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF LONGFELLOW BUILDING.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I submit my report of the condition and progress of the Longfellow School.

The whole number of pupils attending at the present time is 396 of which number 60 will be removed to the new school building when completed.

The removal of these pupils will relieve the crowded condition. One of the rooms vacated will be used for a recitation room where pupils will receive special help in reading, writing and arithmetic from the principal and regular class teacher.

Acting on the superintendent's suggestion that it was better to do a few things carefully and accurately, by giving plenty of opportunity to do a thing well before passing on to new problems, more stress than ever before is being laid on thoroughness in the four processes taken in grades four and five. This will better fit the pupils for the work in the grammar grades.

Other subjects are taught with the same efficiency. The good results are directly due to diligent practice and good instructions.

Renewed effort has been made this year to keep in school all children between the ages of seven and fifteen years. The attendance has been very good.

The board of selectmen has given much help in the direction of furnishing shoes and rubbers to children to make them able to go to school.

The truant officer has endeavored at all times to promptly investigate cases of this kind placed in his hands, and his work has been diligent and efficient.

The teachers and pupils were encouraged on Parents' Day by the unusually large number of visitors which shows that the parents and friends are taking an active interest in the schools

The building has been provided with new fire escapes. Fire drills are practiced once a month.

I wish to thank the school committee and superintendent for the cordial support which they have given me, and the teachers for their willing co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLOTTE M. FEENEY, Principal.

DRAWING AND PENMANSHIP.

Sanford, Maine, February 1, 1909.

To the Supt of Sanford Schools.

DEAR SIR: I herewith submit the annual report of the work in my departments in the graded schools of Sanford and Springvale.

DRAWING.

"There is no Art for Art's sake. We exist for man, and can be worthy only by being useful. The lordly palace grew out of the hut that sheltered from wind and rain some barbarous fisherman clothed in the skins of beasts; the sweetest and most celestial song caught its first echo from the tender lullaby with which some poor worker sung her babe to sleep. An art is born by man's craving for a higher and better life."—J. S. Spaulding.

Because I so fully appreciate the truth of the above I advocate the adoption of the "Applied Arts Books" which make plain the path which their title implies.

Thus far this year the work in drawing has been seriously handicapped on account of lack of funds. We have been forced to the almost exclusive use of paper, pencil and paints, being unable to carry construction work in the primary grades or to apply design in the higher grades.

The work being done is as follows:

In the first grade we have made tables, chairs, beds and baskets to illustrate various stories. Their games and stories have also been illustrated in colored crayons. Some simple object drawing has been done with pencil. We have learned the size and use of inches and half inch, and the forms square, oblong and the terms, vertical, horizontal and slanting. Conspicuously paper weaving has been done, paper mats, lanterns and baskets have been woven.

Grade II uses pencils, scissors and crayons as mediums. We draw from single objects in outline, and illustrate stories and games; also make nature scenes suited to the time of the year. We have continued using the inch and applied the fractions one half and one fourth.

In Grade III the same mediums are used though water colors should be substituted for crayons. In addition we use some charcoal. Here the child is led to see shadow and to distinguish between shadow and shade. A little of the latter is attempted. Paper units are cut to apply in design.

In Grade IV we learn how to apply water color and ink wash, continue charcoal in object drawing, some paper weaving, cutting and folding. Here we begin lettering.

In Grade V we use all mediums as in Grade IV and begin the study of perspective. We did some constructive work and applied design to it.

Grades VI, VII, VIII and IX continue with problems begun in lower grades.

In both high schools the work is somewhat difficult to handle on account of pupils entering the classes from the rural schools where the work is necessarily below the graded school requirements. This is particularly noticeable in the Emerson building. Here, too, no accommodations have been made for this branch and the pupils and teacher are seriously handicapped.

The work in the rural schools is carried on by the teachers who meet the supervisor every fourth Friday afternoon for plans and instruction.

PENMANSHIP REPORT.

If pupils could overcome the desire for immediate results in penmanship one great step in the direction of arm movement would be achieved. Writing will never be uniform until the pupil understands he must always use arm movement whether the lesson is strictly one in penmanship, spelling or composition.

We begin the arm movement in first grade and continue with unabated watchfulness through the grades and High school.

In the first two grades the writing is largely to discourage finger movement. We write simple words and intersperse with frequent drills. Beginning with third grade we take up the alphabet, small and capital letters in sets according to their similarity. This is varied with words, particular stress being given to the slant of the down stroke or strokes of each letter. If the pupils had before them perfect copies of penmanship their progress would undoubtedly be more rapid. Compendiums should be supplied, as they provide the model without producing the cramped results which unvariably follow the use of copy books.

The grade teachers have been particularly enthusiastic, many of them taking the work with the classes in order to be better able to conduct the lessons between visits of the supervisor. Without their hearty and efficient aid the marked progress made could not have been accomplished.

JESSIE A. MUIR.

MUSIC.

Mr. D. W. Colby, Supt. of Schools.

DEAR SIR: The study of music in the schools of Sanford has been continued on the same general lines as in the previous year. Exercises in reading notes in the various keys, sight singing, ear training, written exercises, and the practice of two, three and four-part singing, are used in the grades to lay a foundation for intelligent work in later years. In the past year more individual work has been done than ever before, with results that show its value.

While realizing the value of the technical side of the work, I regard as of equal importance the necessity of securing from the classes a pure, musical tone, and thus preserving the natural beauty of the voice at an age when children are most likely to injure the voice by loud singing, which is a fault that has to be constantly guarded against.

Of the schools as a whole it can be said that their willingness to work and attention to the lessons has been very satisfactory. Especially is this true of the high schools. In the music studied here the aim has been not only to provide that which would be sung with enjoyment, but as well that which has permanent musical value, and would develop a taste for the best in music. It is pleasing to record that selections from the writings of such composers as Mendelssohn, Schubert and Rubinstein have been general favorites. Octavo music has been used in the high schools so far, but something that is much needed in the Sanford High school is a book containing selections for unison and recreative singing.

Plans have been made for giving concerts during the school year with the aim both of showing what the pupils can do, and of giving them the benefit of the special training that public performance always demands.

I wish to acknowledge the hearty co-operation of the superintendent and teachers in my work.

Respectfully submitted,

SUSAN E. FROST,

MANUAL TRAINING AND DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Possibly no matter in connection with school efficiency is receiving more general consideration among school people at the present time than the extension or the introduction into the curriculum of some form of work which will train the hand and the eye along with the mind. It seems to be a recognized fact among all classes from workman to manufacturer that the boys and girls of today go out from school without a definite point of contact with the life they are to lead afterwards, and all over the country efforts are being made to improve this condition by giving at some time during the school course some forms of hand work which later may have a definite value in the occupations followed, by means of sloyd classes, cooking, industrial training and trade schools either as part of the regular school course or connected with it.

Early in the year a bequest of the late Joseph Hollendrake of one thousand dollars became available for the benefit of the Emerson High school to be expended as the school committee and board of selectmen deemed advisable. The two bodies met and after discussion it was decided that the intentions of the donor would best be executed by providing opportunity for some form of manual or industrial training for the pupils of the high and grammar schools. In accordance with this decision the two large rooms in the basement of the Emerson school were finished off and equipment for instruction of the boys in wood working and of the girls in cooking installed and special teachers of these subjects secured. The equipment in each department provides for the instruction of twenty pupils at a time and all classes from the seventh grade up are taking this work. Additional equipment has been provided for knife work by the boys in the fifth and sixth grades in the regular class room and they will be given this for a period of one hour each week. While this is going on the girls in the room will be taught the elements of sewing.

It is to be hoped that means may be found to equip rooms for these branches at the Lincoln school so that pupils in the upper grades may receive the benefit of instruction in them.

D. W. Colby, Supt. of Schools.

The Manual Training department was introduced into the schools of Sanford at the opening of the second term. Classes with the boys of the 7th, 8th and 9th grades and the high school were organized the second week of the term.

The first three lessons have been spent in familiarizing the pupils with the benches, tools and the correct use of them and in making working drawings of the first model. The pupils will be required to keep their drawings before them and follow them in working out the models in wood. This is calculated to form habits of careful observation, neatness, good workmanship and to enable the student to read a working drawing, to make a good working drawing and be able to make an accurate model in wood from it.

The student's confidence in his own ability will be increased and his individuality brought out by his being required, later in the year, when his grasp of the principles of wood working and the formation of the above mentioned habits warrant, to design and execute original projects. It is to be hoped that the older students will be able to work out problems in joinery before long.

The interest and enthusiasm with which this work has been begun is very gratifying to the instructor and is prophetic of good results.

EDITH E. LONG, Instructor.

February 1st, 1909.

D. W. Colby, Supt. of Schools.

The Domestic Science course of the Sanford public schools bids fair to be one of the most interesting and profitable courses in the schools. The interest and enthusiasm shown by the girls is a great step towards its success.

The course is given with the idea of a manual training, while the pupils studying think of it merely from the utilitarian standpoint. It is easy to detect the girl who has never used the spoon and mixing bowl before, or the girl who has never used the needle.

The cookery classes are to be taught the practical dishes which will come into use in the daily life of the home. One practical lesson has been given, creamed potatoes. Several of the girls have informed the teacher already that they have tried them at home with wonderful success.

The course for the senior class has been planned a little more completely so that the girls who graduate so soon will have a fair idea of the general principles of cookery. In the other classes the work will be more extensive upon each subject.

The seventh grade has been started in the sewing class. Each lesson shows marked improvement, and one model is finished—a pin ball. A bag to carry the pin ball and a needle book together with the work will soon be attempted. Everything made will be of some use later. It is planned to start the fifth and sixth grades into sewing very soon.

Callers will always be very welcome in the kitchen. They will be treated as hospitably as our means afford.

CANDACE CUMMINS, Instructor.

MEDICAL INSPECTION.

It is more than probable that a bill providing for regular medical inspection of the pupils will pass the Legislature during the present session. Should this be the case the school authorities should be prepared to act and provisions made that proper record be kept of the results of such inspection. The expenses for this need not be large. In Massachusetts where this inspection is required one or more physicians, as are required, are paid a certain sum, varying from fifty dollars or more for a certain series of visits and very tangible results in the prevention of contagious diseases and in other ways secured.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

During the winter an evening school has been maintained by semi-private interest. Opening with an enrollment of about ninety its attendance at the present averages between thirty and forty, this giving evidence of a demand among those debarred from attendance at a day school for an opportunity to increase their store of knowledge.

There has been brought before the present Legislature a bill similar in design to the Massachusetts law which requires that no person under sixteen who can not pass a certain educational test be allowed to work in any mill or factory, which seems likely to become a law. In view of the possibility that such should be the case and that opportunity be required for such preparation to any now employed or to be employed later and also since we have now those who desire to continue their education while engaging in their regular occupations it would seem wise to make plans and provide for the necessary funds for such a school under the direction of the School Board another winter.

SUBSTITUTES.

Considerable difficulty has been experienced this year in securing substitutes to take the schools of teachers who are obliged to be absent from illness or for other good reasons.

At present there is not available, aside from teachers already having their regular duties, anyone in town free to act as substitute in the schools. If the present policy of not omitting a session either when teachers are ill or desire to avail themselves of the privilege of visiting day some arrangement should be made to assure the presence at all times of such a substitute. If it were considered advisable another properly qualified teacher could be employed for this particular purpose and during such time as not regularly engaged in substituting could be advantageously occupied in performing such duties as assistant and in others as the superintendent might assign to her.

PRESENT NEEDS.

Aside from such repairs, equipment and other desirable additions already touched on there is needed:

First, a larger equipment of text books to permit a broadening and correlation of the work in the various grades. Particularly is there need of more and greater variety of readers for use in the lower grades. While the fundamental series is particularly well adapted to teach the child to read quickly, without several different readers of the same grade to be read in succession facility in reading will not come.

Second, the Kindergarten. At present we have a large percentage of children who are scarcely more than five years of age when they entered the first grades in the fall. As in many cases they are not mature enough to do the regular first grade work it results that the first grade becomes really a sub-primary grade and a large proportion of the class are held back for a second year's work in this grade. This is a serious handicap to the work of the grade and has also an unfavorable effect on the children. We can not refuse to take in any pupil who is five years of age, however immature they may appear, but with the Kindergarten all such could be placed there and adequate work be done in first grade.

Again, with our introduction of manual training into the grades we should have its logical beginning, the Kindergarten, with the continuance of its hand work, the gifts and occupations, in the lower grades through weaving, paper folding and cutting, cardboard construction, etc., to prepare for the work in the upper grades.

Third, a livelier interest on the part of the parents in the actual work of the schools which would lead to more frequent visits to the school rooms and consultations with the teachers as to the work of the pupils. It is true that on Parents' Day at one of the buildings we had a comparatively large attendance but the individual visit of the parent, seeing the class work every day and a talk with the teacher goes much further in bringing about a mutual understanding.

The personel of the teaching force of the town is of a high order. Of the forty-three teachers and supervisors employed six are graduates of colleges, five of professional training schools, twenty-four of normal schools or equivalent training schools, three have had partial normal school training and but four are without particular training save that of successful experience. All are working in harmony for the best results, not only in the school immediately in their charge but for the system as a whole and to these teachers primarily is due what measure of success is achieved.

In conclusion I wish to express my sincere thanks to the school officials and teachers for their co-operation and to the citizens of the town for the cordial reception given me in taking up this new work.

Respectfully submitted,

D. W. Colby.

REPORT OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENTS.

SANFORD FIRE DEPARTMENT.

SANFORD, MAINE, Feb. 1, 1910.

To the Municipal Officers of the Town of Sanford:

The Board of Engineers of the Sanford Fire Department submit the following recommendations for the ensuing year.

We would recommend the purchase of 1000 feet of rubber lined hose, several alarm boxes, also new insulated wire to rewire old boxes. We will need a new ladder truck in the near future, but as our present quarters are not suitable to house it would not advise the purchase at present. We would suggest hub runners for the hose wagon and chemical. We wish to commend the officers and members of the several divisions for promptness in answering alarms and dispatch in executing orders at fires.

We thank the Sanford Mills department for answering all alarms and for timely assistance at several fires.

Respectfully submitted,

R. RANKIN,
LINCOLN C. HOLMES,
C. S. HOLMES,
Board of Engineers.

The Clerk of the Department submits the following report :

There has been added to the department the past year, a new hose wagon, six alarm boxes, one indicator for engine house. 500 feet of rubber lined hose, two long plaster hooks and three dozen pairs woolen mittens. The chemical has been repaired and repainted. There have been fifteen general alarms.

The excess of liabilities is $1,039.29 greater than last year, caused in part by the payment of two school bonds, $2,000.00, and $2,542.61 for the Roosevelt school, for which no appropriation was made.

As $2,000.00 of the schoolhouse bonds come due each year, and in 1914 the sewer bonds begin to mature at the rate of $2,000.00 a year, we recommend that sufficient appropriations be made to cancel all outstanding temporary loans before that date and would suggest that the sum of $10,000.00 be raised this year.

Respectfully submitted,

SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

To the Citizens of the Town of Sanford:

Your committee herewith submit their annual report, the report of the Superintendent, with special reports of the principals and special teachers.

These reports embody the general work done during the year. The past high standard has been maintained and good work is being accomplished all along the line.

During the past year it became necessary to make several extraordinary repairs, among which may be noted the placing of snow guards on the Lincoln building and the placing of a substantial fence around the yard to replace the old one, the painting of the inside of the Roosevelt building and the placing of stand pipes and purchasing new seats and desks for rooms at the Longfellow, all of which were, in the opinion of your committee, necessary.

The opening of the Roosevelt school has relieved the overcrowded condition of the Longfellow and the grades there are now of proper size; the crowded condition at the Lincoln school continues, which, however, we hope to be remedied by the erection of a school building by the Nasson Institute; however, we recommend that a committee be elected by the town with power to select plans and a location for a building, if they find it necessary, and to report at some future meeting.

This year the town joined with Alfred in the election of a superintendent ; in our judgment the plan is a success and we recommend its continuance.

We also recommend the continuance of an evening school with such assistance as we are able to give the same.

The Laws of 1909, Chapter 73, provide for the appointment of one or more school physicians by the school committee, which appeals to us as entirely reasonable and proper, and we therefore ask that the town vote to so authorize the committee to make such appointments and to raise a sufficient sum of money for the same.

With the added expense of maintaining the Roosevelt school and that the present standard of the schools may be maintained we recommend practically the same appropriations as for last year, namely, for Superintendent $700, for High schools $5,000 and for school purposes $13,000.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE A. GOODWIN,

MYRON E. BENNETT,

DANIEL W. WENTWORTH,

Superintendent of Schools

To the School Board of Sanford:

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to present to you and the citizens of Sanford this report of the affairs and conditions of the schools, it being my second report and the eleventh in the series of such reports.

The year which has passed since the last report was made has been one of steady growth and improvement, many of the plans outlined in that report have materialized and the schools made of greater efficiency. An outline course of study has been prepared and the teachers are now working under its provisions and I trust that before long it may be in permanent form. The Tarr & McMurray geographies have been introduced throughout the schools, the course in history lengthened and supplementary readers in ancient history placed in the fifth grades.

For various reasons there were a number of changes in the teaching force and at the opening of the fall term there were fourteen new teachers, all graduates of college or normal schools and well fitted for the positions they hold. The opening of the Roosevelt School for the spring term proved a great relief on the congestion at the Longfellow

School and has made for better conditions there. At the opening of the fall term a second seventh grade was made at the Emerson School as there were too many pupils of that grade to be cared for efficiently by one teacher. Classes were rearranged at the Longfellow School so that we now have there one first, second, third and fourth grade, a mixed fourth and fifth, two fifths and one sixth grade. There are at the Roosevelt School one first grade, a combined second and third and a fourth grade, and at the Lincoln School one first, second, third, fourth and fifth, a combined sixth and seventh and eighth and ninth. There are two assistants in this building.

There are seven rural schools with about the same attendance as last year except that the attendance has increased at the Jefferson School. These rural schools are following as closely as circumstances will permit the outlines of the course of study in use in the graded schools. Beginning with the fall term some elementary hand work has been taken under the direction of Miss Cummins and is proving of interest and value.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

The two high schools have about the same attendance as last year but bid fair to increase, since the entering classes are larger. Some slight changes have been made in the courses of study and they are doing a quality of work on par with the other high schools of the state, thus obviating further attendance at other fitting schools for those who intend to enter college. At the opening of another year it would seem advisable to divide the school year into two semesters of eighteen weeks each, holding examinations for promotion at the end of each. Details regarding these schools are given in the reports of the principals which follow.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE SANFORD HIGH SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools :

I submit my second annual report as principal of the Emerson School.

The number of pupils enrolled in the High school is seventy-four, of which nineteen are seniors, twenty juniors, fourteen sophomores, seventeen freshmen, and four special. Seven of these are tuition pupils. Twenty-four are taking the Classical course, twenty-five the Commercial course, and twenty-five a general course.

The Commercial department is conducted by Miss Ethel C. Buckman, Randolph Normal and Bay Path Institute.

French and English are conducted by Miss Ethel M. Kelley, Boston University, A. B., who fills the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Edith Mahy.

The freshman English, physical geography, physics, botany, senior French, and chemistry are assigned to Miss Nellie M. Beckwith, Mt. Holyoke College, A. B., who takes the place of Miss Clara R. Hoyt.

Mathematics and ancient history are under Miss Florence H. Evans, Mt. Holyoke College, A. B.

Latin, commercial arithmetic, United States history are under the Principal.

Manual training, mechanical and free-hand drawing, under Miss Long, and domestic science, under Miss Cummins, are elective in the High school.

We have in our High school a good number of pupils faithful and devoted to their work. The Goodall gold medal, which was given to encourage excellence in scholarship, was won by Miss Ethel Marion Weymouth. Violet Hazel Fergusson stood second, Margie Blanchard third, Jennie Cloutier fourth, and Eva Cloutier fifth, with a difference of less than one per cent. between the five.

Very little change has been made during the past year in the course of study. According to a recent vote of the School Board, each pupil is required to prepare one rhetorical exercise each term.

Elective, manual training, and domestic science are allowed to be counted for a half-course. These courses do not, by any means, accomplish their highest purpose in turning out carpenters and cooks, but by teaching the pupils the use and care of tools and the importance of accuracy and method in doing things.

The High school does its greatest service for those pupils who pursue their studies with scholarship and culture, rather than the practical, as an aim. As the highest aim of athletics is to develop a healthy and strong body, capable of withstanding physical hardship, for which the games furnish the motive, so the highest aim and greatest achievement in the High school is not the exact qualification for a special position, but rather the development of intellectual stamina and power, the courage and ability to attempt and master difficulties.

I do not know of any better way to impress upon the minds of the parents of our bright boys and girls the value placed upon a liberal education by the world's greatest business men, than by calling their attention to the millions of dollars that have been given by successful, practical men for the maintenance of educational institutions and the many millions of dollars that have been given to found scholarships, under which your boys and girls can be beneficiaries, if they qualify themselves by selecting a proper preparatory course, and diligently pursuing it to the end.

I believe that the courses of study now required for admission to our colleges of arts and sciences offer a sufficient variety of subjects as well adapted to the physical and mental development of our young men and women as any course of study offered in our schools.

For those who have not the qualifications or financial ability to secure a liberal education, our school maintains a business course and all the facilities are open to them, so that they are securing their full share of our school privileges.

I wish to call the attention of parents to the importance of examining the report cards before signing them, and to the further importance of punctual attendance whenever it is reasonably possible.

This High school is well equipped with books, laboratory apparatus and supplies for successfully carrying out the aims of the school. I should recommend that fifty dollars be provided for such apparatus, supplies and reference books as the faculty and superintendent might find most valuable for the school during the coming year.

Before closing, I wish to express my gratitude to the faithful teachers with whom I have been associated in my work, and to you and the School Board, who are giving to interests of our teachers and pupils their devoted attention.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED L. SAWYER,

Principal Emerson School.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE LINCOLN SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The following is submitted as the report of the Lincoln School and of the Springvale High School for the year ending January 31, 1910.

The personnel of the teaching staff, with three exceptions, is the same as one year ago. The new teachers are Miss M. Emma Gorden, Miss Elizabeth Moore, and Miss Gertrude G. Cooper, all graduates of the Farmington Normal School. I consider the whole body thoroughly earnest and conscientious in their work and, as a natural result, they are doing effective work with their classes.

Some disadvantages to the best results, as I mentioned a year ago, still exist. I refer to the necessity of conducting recitations in the corridors, this being due to the overcrowded condition of some of the class rooms.

I believe that practically all the repairs and improvements which I have suggested or asked for from time to time throughout the year have been made or planned to be made as quickly as opportunity offers.

I earnestly hope that the day will soon come when the course in industrial training, already started in some of the grades, may be extended, as doubtless it will be when your Board finds convenience to do so.

THE SPRINGVALE HIGH SCHOOL.

The enrollment of the school is practically the same as one year ago. The class room accommodations are sufficient for the present teaching force.

The assistants are doing much better work than last year and have visibly profited by the experience of that year.

I respectfully call attention to the fact that, if this school is efficiently to fulfill the courses laid out for the students, we must have a teaching force sufficiently large that the school day may be divided into periods of sufficient length to do the work well; that there shall be a sufficient number of recitation periods each week in each subject, and that each teacher may have at least one free period every day to do necessary individual work with pupils and to keep up with the great quantity of written work which is a necessity in such classes. It is a fact that we three teachers are struggling to successfully accomplish the same work which is elsewhere divided among five or more teachers.

To add another teacher to the faculty would involve the need of another class room. This is only another feature of the overcrowded conditions which have resulted from the growth of the whole school system in our village. It seems to me that the need of more room is imperative. We have looked somewhat for developments in the matter of the Nasson estate to relieve the situation. It is yet possible, I understand, that relief may come from that source. At any rate, I hope that our citizens will regard the matter of enlarging our school plant in the near future with such foresight and breadth of outlook, that they may not, in any way, hamper the excellent work which the schools of this village are doing.

I recommend that, as early as it may conveniently be done, one more teacher be added to the faculty of our High school.

Kindly accept my thanks to yourself and the Board, which you represent, for whatever you have done to help us, the local teachers, to do our work well.

Very respectfully,

FRANK C. THOMPSON,

Principal of the Lincoln School and of the Springvale High School.

Springvale, Maine, January 31, 1910.

During the summer vacation needed repairs were made on the Longfellow building and it is well adapted to care for the eight schools which now occupy it. Under the energetic direction of Miss Fernald, who succeeds Miss Feney as principal, the work is going forward very satisfactorily.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE LONG- FELLOW SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools :

The following is my report of the condition and work of the Longfellow School:

The whole number of pupils attending the school at present is 326, which is a slight falling off from the attendance of the fall term. The use of the Roosevelt building has greatly relieved the overcrowded condition of the rooms and the attendance in the different grades is now more nearly the proper number than for the two years previous.

The regularity of attendance has not been all that could be desired. A few individual cases has caused considerable trouble, but in many instances the non-attendance was on account of sickness. We are hoping that the spring term will bring a decided improvement. We endeavor to insist not only upon regular attendance but on children being in school on time. The cases of tardiness are not many.

The work of the grades is, on the whole, progressing very well. We are insisting upon neatness and accuracy in all written work and upon more care and thought in preparation for the daily recitation. We hope for increasingly better results in the fundamentals—reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic and language. Pupils needing extra work in the different subjects receive special help from the principal or assistant. We hope by doing this to bring these pupils up to the required standard. We ask for the interest of the parents in this matter.

The rooms which were left vacant by the removal of children to the Roosevelt school are used for manual training and sewing, in which there is one lesson a week for the fifth and sixth grades.

I wish to thank the school board, superintendent and teachers for their willing co-operation and support.

Respectfully submitted,

LILLIAN M. FERNALD.

I wish to call your attention to the report of Miss Northrup and in particular to that referring to the establishment of a school library. Some of the schools already have them, and I feel that a little encouragement by additions to them by the committee would be a stimulus to the pupils to still further increase them.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE ROOSEVELT SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

This new, concrete building is appreciated by the parents, teachers, and pupils. It is well heated and lighted. These two things have helped to make our school work more beneficial and pleasant.

The play rooms in the basement have given the pupils an opportunity to enjoy and exercise themselves on stormy days. On those days in buildings where no such rooms are provided, pupils are usually more restless after recess than before, showing they have not had sufficient exercise. On a few extremely cold days we have thought it advisable to allow those who wished to use the play rooms.

At present there are four grades in the building, but only three rooms are used. As the second and third grades are both small it was thought best to have them in one room.

Some of the pupils in my room are anxious to secure books to read. Many of them tell me they cannot get books from the library, as they are not old enough. As we have studied the lives of good writers many have been interested enough to try to get books written by them, but some have failed. I wish a few suitable books might be placed in this building to be loaned to those who are anxious to read.

When we gave special invitations to the parents we were glad so many responded, but we wish more would visit us during our regular school work. We assure a cordial welcome to all who care to come.

I wish to commend the truant officer, Mr. Ed. Wentworth, for the faithful performance of his duty.

Allow me in closing to thank the committee, superintendent, and teachers for their hearty coöperation and support.

Respectfully submitted,

January 31, 1910.

LILA M. NORTHRUP.

The departments of Manual training and Domestic science just opened at the date of the last report are well organized and no one who has knowledge of the results accomplished will have doubts as to their permanent value. Education of this nature is being recognized more and more by school authorities everywhere and extended wherever possible. While perhaps we do not fully realize it, the present is the day of the "ready made." Boys and girls, if they wish any toy or plaything, have it bought for them, better no doubt than they could make or even imitate, but by so doing they have taken from them the power of construction and in later years they are unable to use their hands as skillfully as they should for lack of this earlier experience. Handwork should be a required part of each year's school work and opportunity and material supplied, so that the hand may be trained to act as well as the head. Our manual training, wood working, sewing, and cooking begin this work in the upper grades and it should be amplified for the High School. This is a manufacturing community. A majority of the pupils are looking forward to a lifetime spent in some occupation requiring skilled hand labor; if in our upper grades and high schools the principles of mechanics and the applications of physics and chemistry to the manufacturing industries of the town were taught we would be educating our pupils far better to occupy positions of trust than if we continue to educate merely the head. By offering such a practical course it would be possible to hold pupils longer in school better fitting them for future citizenship.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL TEACHER IN DRAWING AND MANUAL TRAINING.

To the Superintendent of Schools :

I herewith submit the following reports of the Manual Training and Art Departments in the Schools of Sanford :

MANUAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

The courses offered in the Manual Training department are still somewhat elementary although much more interesting than last year. A comparison of the majority of the boys at the beginning of the course last January with the same boys now will show a surprising increase in inventive and executive ability, in confidence and interest. The aim of this department is not, as many seem to think, to turn out carpenters or cabinet makers. The grade school is not a trade school. No boy is ready to specialize either as an artisan or as a professional man until he has a thorough grammar school and high school education and college education if possible. Neither is the aim of this course to provide the boy with a number of articles of furniture and of play which will be of immediate use to him — as many suppose.

This department is calculated to be of as much use to the boy, educationally, as his arithmetic or his geography. In it he must learn thoroughness, strict obedience to directions, respect for tools and materials, good workmanship and proper use of tools. The number of models actually made and their utility are of only secondary importance. On the other hand, if through his Manual Training the boy discovers his natural talents, or if he creates something truly beautiful or something of practical usefulness to his fellowmen, and at the same time forms the habits above mentioned, then Manual Training serves a double purpose and is of still greater value in the school curriculum. The Manual Training work begins in the fifth grade. Very elementary work is done with only the knife, and tri-square and in thin wood. The models, such as are made in one piece. In the sixth grade the tools are the same, but models consisting of several pieces such as picture frames, brackets, match boxes, etc., are attempted.

In the seventh grade the bench work is begun and the pupils are taught the use of different tools. In the eighth grade they work in thicker wood and the curve is introduced in the models. The ninth grade begin joinery and make such models as towel-rollers, book racks, mail boxes, tool racks, etc.

The High School class works out simple problems in furniture making in the Mission style. All students are required to make a working drawing of each model before beginning work and to follow the drawing in constructing it from wood.

The work in the High school is greatly simplified by the power saw, and as the department enlarges other useful equipment will be added.

In conclusion I wish to extend an invitation to all who have not visited the shop to do so. Classes are in session on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and Friday mornings.

DRAWING.

The course has been carried on in the various grades as follows :—

Lower grades: Study of spectrum colors in rainbow form followed by color drawing with crayon and water color of autumn leaves, flowers, fruits, and simple landscapes. Simple action figures in straight lines have been attempted. These grades have also had free hand paper cutting and simple problems in construction in paper and cardboard.

Water colors have been used in the third grade.

Grades IV to VI: Color has been taken as in the lower grades. Drawings illustrative of games and familiar scenes in pencil and in color, simple object drawing in crayon and water color involving the cylinder and ellipse. The use of the finder in spacing and a few problems in geometrical construction and simple lettering.

Grades VII, VIII, IX: Natural forms in pencil tone, pencil outline and water color, still life in pencil, charcoal and chalk are executed. Egyptian Symbolism is copied and studied and symbolic Egyptian book covers designed.

An initial letter is designed and painted and copied. Lettering and geometrical construction problems are studied in more detail than in other grades.

High School: The free-hand drawing class have studied subordination of line in design and worked out a problem in stenciling. They are now working for pencil technique and at the same time studying perspective and light and shade in still life.

The Mechanical drawing class is in two divisions — one beginning with the simple geometrical problems in construction and working up to simple problems in projection and working drawings. In the other division the problems are more complex. In both the ink and ruling pens are used and time is spent on copying simple alphabets.

The department is considerably handicapped by the lack of several sets of the large sized type form of cylinder, cube, etc., in each building, which are used in the study of perspective and for lack of a good supply of simple, artistic still life in good colors to be used in groups for water color painting, pencil sketching, charcoal and chalk work.

I wish to extend my thanks to the teachers for their assistance in my work and to the School Board and Superintendent for their support and willingness to provide for the needs of the department.

Respectfully submitted,

EDITH LONG.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL TEACHER OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

To the Superintendent of Schools :

The work in domestic science has been of a very practical nature. The food cooked has always been something which could be made at home and enjoyed by the family. The girls are encouraged to try the lessons at home and most of them do with success.

Several times during the year the table has been laid for guests and the rôle of maid and cook was enjoyed as much as the spread.

There is no reason why the rising generation of Sanford girls will not produce the best housewives so far. We believe that a woman's place is in the home and that no occupation can be more worthy or honorable than that of a housewife. To this end we do not neglect the patching and darning, and altho' it is hard to teach little girls that darning is the most beautiful kind of embroidery, they are learning its truth. Clothes for our dolls are interesting and lead to clothes for ourselves.

The children in the rural schools have had a taste of domestic art in the way of industrial work. Napkin rings, picture frames, dolls' hats and little tea-pot mats of raffia, dolls' hammocks and woven holders have brot a little different idea of school to the children in these schools.

Respectfully submitted,

CANDACE CUMMINS.

MUSIC.

We now have a very fair equipment of books for the study of music and in the High School other selections for variety and pleasure. The drill work is thoroughly done and the chorus work in the upper grades and High School is of a high order.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL TEACHER OF MUSIC.To the Superintendent of Schools:*

It is now ten years since music was introduced into the schools experimentally, soon to be made a part of the regular course of study. It has been my constant aim as teacher of this branch to cultivate in the pupils a love of song and of the best music, to so teach the principles of music that the singing should be done intelligently and correctly, and to insist upon a manner of using the voices which should both preserve and improve them. There is much musical talent among the children and young people of the town, and this has added much to the pleasure and profit of the work.

Since the last report, public concerts have been given in both Sanford and Springvale, with a view of showing what the pupils were capable of doing. The programs of these concerts introduced, among other numbers, chorus work from the High schools, two-part singing by the Girls' Glee clubs, and part singing from the grades. The proceeds of these concerts were used for the piano fund.

No changes in books have been made this year. In the Sanford High School the Assembly Song Book has been introduced, and is being much enjoyed.

I wish to gratefully acknowledge the helpful assistance of the Superintendent and the teachers with whom I am associated.

Respectfully submitted,

SUSAN E. FROST,

Instructor of Music.

---

The Lincoln building, while well equipped, does not adequately accommodate the increasing classes, particularly in the four upper grades, which are now combined in two schools. To secure the best results these grades should be separated. The necessary use of the corridors for recitation rooms is most unfortunate.

Should accommodations be provided by some arrangement with the trustees of the Nason estate the rooms in the Lincoln school, vacated by the upper classes would be amply sufficient for the growth in the lower grades for some time to come. Failing in this arrangement a new building for the High school and grammar grades should be provided at the earliest possible moment.

During the past year cases have been brought to your attention telling more forcibly than words can do of the need of a regularly appointed school physician to whom could be referred the many questions that arise and whose advice could be asked concerning points of school hygiene and whose physical examination of the pupils would correct many unfavorable conditions now existing. I am convinced that a careful examination of the pupils would reveal the existence of many cases of adenoids, proper treatment of which would materially improve the standing of the pupils affected. In order that this may be done it will be necessary to secure favorable action by the town at the annual meeting.

I would again urge that adequate provision be made for an evening school which should be a part of the public school system. There is a demand for such a school which should be met.

In view of the fact of an increased appropriation by the state the thought will naturally come to the thrifty that now we can reduce the amount raised by the town and "save money." Schools are not to save money but to spend it to the best advantage to produce well trained, healthy bodied young people capable of holding their place in the world and in their turn taking their places as citizens to have the charge of affairs. To do this requires money and then more money. Our schools are increasing in efficiency; by means of increasing salaries we are enabled to get and to hold better teachers and we have good school buildings and equipment. In order to continue this increase we shall need more buildings and more and better equipment and any considerable reduction in the amount raised would seriously handicap if not prevent it. The amount spent this year is none too much for the coming year and the town is amply able to provide it.

Effort has been made the past year to get into closer touch with the parents for mutual benefit of the school and the pupil by sending a printed form regarding absence from school and also when the standing is unsatisfactory. It is hoped that parents will see in this only wholesome interest in the welfare of their children and will coöperate with the teachers in their efforts.

In the rearrangement of the grades at the opening of the fall term in as far as possible the number of pupils per teacher was reduced and equalized. While this has not been carried to the extent desirable it is an improvement. When conditions are such that no teacher shall have more than thirty-six pupils under her care the amount of time given to the individual can be increased, less time will need be devoted to the mechanical and routine work of discipline, etc., and more actual instruction given.

The question of the non-promotion of pupils from grade to grade is always present and is a serious one. If unprepared pupils are passed on they hamper the teacher in her work and in a measure prevent the proper advance of the majority of the class. On the other hand if all such pupils are held back there results a condition equally undesirable; older pupils are classified with those two or three years younger, which is not conducive to good discipline, the work of instruction is more difficult and the total number of pupils in school is increased, due to pupils remaining longer in school than they normally would, and these repeaters cause an increase in the expense of maintaining schools.

In as far as possible, the plan followed is to consider each pupil as an individual for promotion and to inquire into all circumstances involved, age, probable length of school attendance, etc., and to promote or not according to what seems to be for the greatest future advantage to the pupil.

There are at present in the grades about eighty pupils who are taking the work of the grade for the second time. The largest percentage, about forty, being in the first grades and is there because of conditions taken up in the last report and would be greatly reduced were the Kindergarten a part of the school system. The others are scattered through the various grades and are for various reasons, irregular attendance being probably the most important. Poor physical condition which would be discovered by a school physician is also a considerable factor. This retardation can probably never be entirely eliminated under the present conditions, but can be materially reduced by a more thorough understanding of the conditions causing it.

The following proposed change in the school hours might receive your favorable attention. Should the sessions begin at 8.30 in the morning and continue till 11.45 and in the afternoon be from 1.15 to 3.30 without an afternoon recess but with time to pass to the basement, the actual time for school work would be as at present. This would allow for seven forty-five minute periods at the High School, give more time in the morning session when pupils are at their best, and by shortening the afternoon session relieve the strain on pupils and teachers.

In closing I wish to urge that parents assist as much as possible to carry out and supplement the school work. A great many things must be taught to young people to make them thrifty, industrious, courteous and able to become the intelligent citizens we all desire, and the school cannot do it all, for it has them only a comparatively small portion of the time and other influences are acting outside of school to counteract that of the school. Parents can aid materially by an intelligent interest in school matters, not the gossip about this teacher and that episode in the school, but by following carefully the work of their children, watching the report card and consulting with the teacher should there be a lowering of the marks, by supporting the teacher in all matters till it is fully shown that the teacher is in the wrong, by encouraging regular attendance at school and discouraging attendance at entertainments and places of amusement, by oversight of their companions and places of resort and by requiring a proper amount of sleep. Were all these done by all parents a much greater degree of satisfaction would obtain.

During the past year I have received unvarying courtesy and support from the teachers, all of whom are loyally endeavoring to carry out the school policy and to whom any credit for advancement must ultimately be given. To them I extend my hearty thanks, also to the members of the School Board for their consideration and support.

Respectfully submitted,

D. W. COLBY.

This is a very heavy steel and cement bridge, having two spans of 22 ft. each and 26 ft. wide and practically indistructable and we believe that all our wooden bridges should be displaced by bridges of this or some other permanent type. Bridges of this kind could be built most anywhere else in the town very much lighter and therefore very much cheaper than this one.

There had been no nests picked previous to Town Meeting, so the nests were very thick in the Spring and it seemed expedient to pick them, which we did at an expense of $762.00. When the time for using the sprayer arrived, the number of moths had so decreased that we thought it expedient to spray only within the limits of the two villages, which was done in 3 and one-half days. The sprayer and its equipment cost $1,167.00, and we consider it to be as good a machine as can be bought, and as near as we can observe the spraying is a success.

OLD TOWN HALL, SPRINGVALE.

To the Selectmen of Sanford:

I herewith hand you an itemized account of all money received and expenses incurred on account of Old Town Hall, Springvale, for the year beginning Feb 1, 1910, and ending Jan. 31, 1911. As you will see, the receipts have been considerable less and expenses larger than common. I was obliged to make repairs to the roof, put in cellar windows, and make necessary repairs on plastering and woodwork inside. There should be two hot-air furnaces installed, to take the place of the six stoves. It would be more economical and better results can be obtained. $200 sould be expended for the purpose named.

Respectfully,

FRANK A. CLARK,

Janitor.

REPORT OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENTS.

Sanford Fire Department.

Sanford, Maine, Feb. 1, 1911.

To the Municipal Officers of the Town of Sanford.

The records for the past year show that our department responded to more alarms than ever before during any previous year. They also show that more property was endangered with a less loss than on any preceding year.

While we feel much pleased with this enviable record, we must not lose sight of the fact that in our town there is an unusual amount of material for a serious conflagration, and that unless some radical changes are made in the near future we may have cause for regrets.

It is necessary that something be done regarding a fire station. Either the old one should be enlarged and repaired, or a new station erected.

Thirty-eight alarms were responded to during the past year. The average attendance was  $32\frac{1}{2}$  out of a total of 39. The companies have turned out very quickly and they have maintained excellent discipline at all fires.

With the above facts in mind, we feel that the firemen are entitled to a larger salary than they are now receiving.

It was the pleasure of the Chief Engineer to attend the International Association of Chief Engineers at Syracuse, N. Y., during the week of August 23, 1910, where many interesting discussions were listened to and much information obtained.

We wish to extend our heartiest thanks to the members of the Sanford Mills Fire Department for the efficient services which they have always rendered.

Respectfully submitted,

M. E. BENNETT,

L. C. HOLMES,

GEO. W. HAYES,

Board of Engineers.

OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF # OAKDALE CEMETERY.

To the Board of Trustees:

Having had a special interest in the welfare of our cemetery for many years, I was easily persuaded to take the position of Superintendent when it was offered me.

There were to my mind, many improvements that could be made that would cost little, but add greatly to the general beauty of this, the last resting place of our departed friends. Little did I anticipate the amount of care and personal attention that would be required, still I can say it has resulted in much satisfaction to me and I trust to you, who have done much to assist me in obtaining what results we have accomplished.

It seemed to me that if the lots could be made more attractive the receipts from care and sale of lots would more than offset the expenditure. I am glad that we can say now, at the close of the year, your books show a balance in our favor of over six hundred dollars of cash in hand, so that the coming spring there will be something with which to continue the work. Also that a much larger amount has been laid out in the needed work in the cemetery than was spent last year.

Many lots have been sold as a direct result of the town owning this burial place and of the improvements that were being made. At this time the drives walks and unsold lots are in a decidedly improved condition.

The old tool house that was in a part of the cemetery that should be the most beautiful, was removed to a less conspicuous place, the rubbish about it cleared away, the trees trimmed and dead wood removed so that this is now an attractive spot instead of an eyesore. The meadow at the south of the bridge was really a swamp. This has been plowed, levelled and made into a smooth green plot, which, with the brook flowing through, is now an attractive part of the cemetery, besides giving us about eighty cords of the very best loam that could be had, and this good loam is the one thing we most need in our work. This has been hauled out and is rotting ready for use when needed. Many unsold lots have been graded, loamed and seeded and are now ready for immediate use. The leak in the bridge was repaired, the bottom of the pond graded and unsightly stumps, etc., removed, all this at considerable expense, but with very satisfactory results.

The number of lot owners who have placed their lots in annual care has greatly increased and I think will continue to do so. It is a small expense, but adds much to the appearance of the cemetery. There are many owners, of course, who will not do this, and some lots must have a neglected appearance as a result, and for this reason if for no other, I would suggest that when more land is laid out with burial lots, as must be done in the near future, they be sold at a price to include perpetual care, and a portion of the purchase price, sufficient to allow this, be set aside and added to our perpetual fund.

More attention should be paid to this perpetual care fund. I am glad to say that this also has grown somewhat during the year, with much promise for the near future. This fund will do for the last resting places of our dead for all time what we are doing year by year, and I feel that the lot-owners would pay into this fund a sum of money the income of which will care for their lots forever if they would give it a little careful thought.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. W. HUFF, Superintendent.

MILK INSPECTOR.

To the Selectmen of the Town of Sanford:

Gentlemen: I herewith submit my report as Milk Inspector for the past municipal year. The amount of milk consumed in the town of Sanford was from about 780 Cows. The value of milk sold was about $47,000. At present there are 27 large dealers and 24 small dealers, besides the different places that sell in town. There has been quite a number of changes among milk dealers in the past year. The test for butter fat revealed, out of a hundred and eighty tests, 54 between three and three and one half per cent, 71 between three and one half and four per cent., 32 between four and four and one half, 16 between four and one half and five per cent., 7 between five and six per cent.

I have made forty-one calls at the homes of milk dealers, examining utensils used in handling their milk, finding them in many cases much improved since last year. Each dealer seemed to try to outdo his competitor in producing a good quality of milk. I have found thirty-seven cases of contagious diseases, which were destroyed at once and all precautions used to stop further spread of such diseases. There have been a number of cases of simple diseases come to my knowledge, all of which I have treated and used every precaution as to a sanitary condition. Milk being used as it is in the natural state in every home in our town, should be cautiously handled and watched, as it serves as a good medium for nearly all of the contagious disease producing germs to multiply and be conveyed in. I find the dealers are all using every means at their command, guarding against such impurities, in each of my calls. The dealers have been very courteous and seemed pleased to show me the way they handle their milk.

Respectfully submitted,

DR. W. R. JACKSON,
Milk Inspector of the Town of Sanford.

SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

To the Citizens of the Town of Sanford:

Your committee have the pleasure to herewith present their annual report; also the reports of the Superintendent of Schools, Special Supervisors and Instructors.

We began the school year with a new principal in each high school. For the Emerson High School we were extremely fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Burnham, for many years principal of the Biddeford high school. The lack of discipline which was so apparent in this school has been entirely overcome, the school is well organized and is making excellent progress. For the Lincoln school we selected Mr. McGaw from a long list of candidates and we feel certain that the work in this school is progressing as satisfactorily as is possible with the limited equipment which this school has.

Your committee believe that every citizen should appreciate the high personnel of our present teaching force. We are absolutely safe in saying that no better force can be found in the State.

It is our opinion that the medical inspection of our pupils should be continued. It is, however, to be regretted that some of the parents have given little or no attention to the physical defects of their children after the reports have been made to them.

We cannot overestimate the value of our public schools and the possibilities for increasing their direct benefits to the State and to our town are only circumscribed by limitations which the very training given in our public schools will hasten to remove at a compound ratio.

We commend to your careful consideration the reports of the Superintendent of Schools, Special Supervisors and Instructors.

Superintendent of Schools

To the School Board of Sanford:

I herewith present to you and through you to the citizens of the town my third annual report, the twelfth in the series of such reports.

The financial statements and the tables on the last few pages give the statistical data concerning the support and administration of the school system.

Of the finer details of the work you will learn by a perusal of the reports of the heads of the various departments, in which you will find many comments and recommendations so fully and plainly outlined that I have felt it unnecessary for me to call other attention to them. In making this report it is pleasant to say that the work being done in all the schools is of excellent quality.

During the year necessary repairs have been made and some permanent improvements added to the equipment of the various buildings. Arrangements for the application of the Nasson Estate fund to provide a school building at Springvale having failed immediate steps should be taken to make provision for the increasing number of pupils there. As has previously been pointed out in preceding reports, the accommodations in the Lincoln building are entirely inadequate for the proper care, comfort and good health of the pupils attending, and a new building either for the grades or for the upper grades and the high school is a necessity.

In both the Longfellow and Lincoln buildings there are several rooms originally designed for the accommodation of higher grades which, owing to the increased number of pupils are being used for lower grades, who find the seats unfitted to them. These should be replaced as rapidly as possible with modern adjustable chairs and desks. The seats removed could be used advantageously in reseating the rural schools, as has been done in the Washington and Holmes schools. The steam plant in the Longfellow building, after more than twenty years of service, needs overhauling and possibly a new boiler. The Edison building, if it is to be continued in use, should have quite extended repairs.

In continuance of the plan to reduce the number of pupils per teacher in order to get the maximum of results, two first grades were formed in the Longfellow school at the opening of the year in September, also two fourth grades. At the Lincoln school the sixth and seventh grades, formerly in one room, becoming entirely too large to be handled by one teacher, were separated, and, class rooms not being available, a room in the Kempton building was rented and furnished for the seventh grade.

The first grade at the Lincoln school is increasing in number, so that another year, to secure the best results, the pupils should be in two rooms.

During the year a careful examination of the sight and hearing of pupils has been made, the results tabulated on the blanks provided by the State. Wherever defective vision or hearing was found it was reported to the parents. As a result of these tests it was found that 10.2 per cent. of the pupils have defective vision and 6.7 per cent. have trouble with the ears resulting in partial, and in one case almost complete deafness. While in many cases the parents on notification of these troubles have procured glasses or had competent treatment given, in others nothing has apparently been done. In some cases the necessary expense has doubtless been prohibitive or involving too great a hardship, and it would seem within the province of the committee to provide means by which the school physicians, after proper investigation, could procure such relief.

During the year a number of pupils suffering from various eruptions and for other causes have been sent to the school physician for treatment and advice and in all cases has proved of value. If it were possible another year to begin a series of careful annual inspections of each pupil, making permanent record of the results on properly arranged cards, records would be had which would prove to be of great value both at the time and later. It is now very generally conceded that the main factor in the retardation of pupils is from physical defects, often unrecognized. It is even claimed that decayed teeth cause many children to lose a year of school work. In view of these facts, considering the increased expense caused by these retarded pupils, there would be returned several times over the cost of such inspection.

The school attendance as a whole shows an improvement over former years which would be more marked this year but for epidemics of measles and other childhood diseases which have had their run during the fall term. This is in a large measure due to the influence of the teachers, who through their special training are able to so thoroughly interest their pupils that in the main school holds greater possibilities, and they prefer to attend, lest they miss some good thing. The system adopted several years ago of giving certificates to those not absent or tardy during the term has also had a considerable influence in inducing regular attendance, and that more recently introduced of giving a more elaborate one for such a record for an entire year will offer still further incentive, nearly fifty of these last being awarded for perfect attendance during the last school year.

Careful attention has been given to cases of absence. Wherever any doubt has arisen as to good cause for absence a printed form asking for reasons has been sent to parents and persistent absence looked up by the truant officer. As even a half-day's absence often makes a serious difference in the work of pupils, it is hoped that parents will not allow it only for good reasons. While without doubt, under the conditions, some pupils of school age are not in school endeavor has been made to keep all such in school.

That group of subjects which collectively are called language show generally the least return for the effort made. This may be seen in the everyday speech of the pupils. Closely allied with this is the failure of the pupils in reading, from lack of care in preparation or failure to understand the printed word, to readily comprehend or sense the meaning of the phrase, sentence or paragraph, and to fail to grasp the idea conveyed when reading to himself, or to cause others to comprehend it when reading aloud. That a more systematic method in these branches might be inaugurated a special teacher in these subjects has been employed, and while naturally striking results could not be expected in so short a time, an improvement is beginning to show.

The evening school has now been open for seven weeks, three evenings per week, and will continue five more, or until the appropriation made is exhausted. There are attending from forty to sixty each night, showing the demand for such a school. Those attending are divided into three sections, those just learning to read, those who read simple English and can do the fundamental processes (as addition, etc.), and a third division taking grammar grade work. The subjects taught are reading, spelling, language by dictation and arithmetic. This school is accomplishing good work under rather adverse conditions and it is to be hoped that more liberal provisions may be made for another year so that its scope may be broadened.

Attendance at the high schools show an increase over last year. With the increasing number increasing needs must be met in order to sustain the high standards set. The teachers in both schools are burdened to the limit with classes and if further broadening of the work is to go on additional teachers will be needed. Adequate books of reference are greatly needed in both schools to facilitate the work. While the public libraries meet this demand to a certain extent the fact that they are not always accessible limits their usefulness, and it would seem wise that each year a certain amount be set aside for the purchase of needed books of reference and a systematic plan followed in selecting them. The introduction of manual training, domestic science, drawing, book-keeping, stenography and typewriting is a beginning in industrial and vocational training that should be continued and extended. Our courses of study in the high schools should not be dominated by the college idea, but should be adapted to the needs of the average pupil whose outlook is not upon one of the professions but to some form of employment requiring special training in some form of skilled labor, either in its use or its oversight.

The death of Mrs. Marcia Perkins during the spring term removed from the teaching force of the town an efficient and conscientious teacher, who for a number of years had faithfully performed her duties in the Whittier school. Appropriate measures were taken by the Sanford Teachers' Association, of which she was a member.

That the people of Sanford want that which is best is evinced by their readiness to appropriate money for the schools. In this they are to be congratulated. By reason of this is possible the enthusiastic, earnest and capable teachers who so conscientiously work for the advancement of their pupils, the well equipped buildings and abundant material to work with, to which is due what measure of success is reached in educating the youth of the town to become well equipped citizens.

To the townspeople, the committee and the teachers I am pleased to express my appreciation of many courtesies extended.

Respectfully submitted,

D. W. COLBY.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF SANFORD HIGH SCHOOL.

---

To the Superintendent of Schools, Sanford, Me.

Sir:—

I hereby submit my first report as principal of the Sanford High School. This report necessarily covers only the period extending from the time I began my work with you in September last to the present date.

The conditions then existing are so well known and understood that they need not be considered here. Discipline demanded and received attention first of all. This problem almost solved itself, as the hearty co-operation of the pupils made comparatively easy what otherwise might have been a somewhat difficult task. Under the influence of such a spirit, the school quickly became an orderly, well-organized, contented, almost self-governing body of pupils. Had not this spirit prevailed the good work that has been accomplished so far this year would have been impossible.

ATTENDANCE.

The enrollment at the Emerson School, which includes the Grammar grades as well as the High School, is considerably over two hundred.

The whole number belonging to the High School for the fall term was seventy, and the average attendance was sixty-five. While this is generally considered a good average attendance, it is lower than it should be in a community where the larger part of the pupils live within a comparatively short distance of the school. The last half of the term showed an improvement over the first half, but the number of absences is too great. Parents and pupils alike apparently fail to realize how important it is that the pupil should be present at every recitation. Time and opportunity lost by absence from the class room can never be made up, however faithful the pupil may be. Compulsory regularity in work which shall develop the habit of doing things well at a required time, is one of the most valuable courses that any school can offer.

COURSES OF STUDY.

A revision of the courses of study was made at the beginning of the year, in order that each course might be fully adequate to the purpose for which it exists. The school now offers five courses, the Classical, the Scientific, the General, the Four-Year Commercial and the Two-Year Commercial. The Classical Course fits for admission to the collegiate or scientific departments of any college, provided the proper electives are chosen. It gives an all-round academic education, strong in languages. The Scientific Course fits for admission to schools of Technology, the scientific departments of colleges and to Normal school. It gives an all-round academic education, strong in mathematics and science.

The General Course also prepares for admission to Normal schools, and provides an all-round academic education, strong in history and English.

It is the purpose of the Four-Year Commercial Course to fit the pupil for commercial occupations and at the same time to require such prescribed and elective subjects as will necessarily tend to broaden the narrowing effect of subjects purely commercial. This course has been materially strengthened along commercial lines by increasing the amount of time devoted to Stenography, Typewriting and Bookkeeping during the last two years of the course.

In response to a growing demand, a new Commercial Course of two years was instituted. Its object is to provide instruction in commercial subjects for those pupils who are not able to spend more than two years in the High School and yet are sufficiently mature to undertake work of this character with profit and reasonable assurance of success. This course is recommended only in such cases; it does not confer a diploma upon the pupil, but grants a certificate in recognition of two years of successful work.

Domestic Science is offered two hours a week to first and second year pupils in all the courses; drawing, freehand and mechanical, and manual training are offered two hours a week to all pupils in all the courses. A year's work in any one of these subjects counts as a half course.

SELECTION OF COURSE.

For pupils entering the High School, the selection of a course of study is an extremely important matter. It should be made only after careful consideration and consultation. The principal of the High School is always glad to advise parents and pupils in the selection of a course of study. The first factor in the selection of a course should be the desire for a sound, cultural education. Second, the course should be suited as far as is possible to the pupil's special aptitudes. Third, any definite plans for further education or occupation after leaving the High School will aid in making the right selection.

No public high school has a right to conform its course merely to the demands of a college preparatory school. But every standard high school, registered as a standard High School of Maine offers a course or courses which will prepare for any college in our State. The Sanford High School offers two such courses, the Classical and the Scientific; we possess adequate teaching force and the necessary equipment, provided the pupil selects the necessary amount of proper electives. It is not necessary for a pupil preparing for college to attend any other preparatory school; ample opportunity is provided in our High School to prepare for any college in our State or in New England. Students fitting for college must consult the principal as to selection of studies after the first year. Delay in the selection of the course or of the college to be attended often means an additional year of preparation.

SEMESTER PLAN.

In order to strengthen the standard of the school the semester plan has been adopted, whereby written examinations in all subjects are given at the end of each semester. The marks from these examinations, combined with the marks obtained in recitations, determine the standing of the pupil. A study is satisfactorily completed when an average of 70 per cent. for the year's work is obtained. Candidates for graduation from the High School must complete studies amounting in all to sixteen points. Each study pursued five times a week counts one point for the year. The required and elective studies of each year should amount in all to twenty recitation periods weekly. Additional studies cannot be taken except with the consent of the principal.

EQUIPMENT.

The equipment of the Sanford High School is unusual for a town of its size. Only five high schools in the State possess so complete an equipment in all the departments of manual training, domestic science and commercial branches. During the past year increased facilities for instruction in office practice have been provided in the commercial department, making our equipment one of the most complete, if not the most complete in the State. An express office, brokers' offices and a banking department afford practical training in the actual details of business. Instruction in this particular phase of commercial work is given during the last half year of those pupils taking either the Four-Year or the Two-Year Commercial Course.

It has been necessary to use the library temporarily as a room for the classes in Stenography, which are taught by Miss Garvin of the Springvale High School. We hope that the time will soon come when the library will be needed for its original purpose and will be well stocked with books of reference for all departments of the school. No more worthy cause can be recommended to the Alumni Association than the furnishing of the school library.

We hope that additional equipment may be provided in the near future for the science department. It is my firm conviction that the sciences in this school should be developed in line with the industries of the town, not in line with the requirements of the colleges. Industrial and commercial chemistry and applied physics are demanded by our young men in preparation for intelligent work in the mills of our town.

THE TEACHING FORCE.

It gives me great pleasure to publicly acknowledge the willing co-operation and the unswerving loyalty of my co-workers in the school. The school was especially fortunate in retaining the services of Miss Florence H. Evans, A.B., Mt. Holyoke, who continues to have charge of the mathematics and history. It was also fortunate in the choice of its new teachers. Miss Marion A. Ballou, A.B., Mt. Holyoke, has charge of the Latin and English; Miss Isabel Venard, A.B., Smith College, French and English; Miss Eda M. Ruggles, of the Bryant and Stratton Business College, Boston, has charge of the Commercial department. All are excellent teachers, enthusiastic in their work, and successful in securing good results in their classes. The policy of the school board in employing only college graduates, who are well-trained for their work, is deserving of the highest commendation.

The records of the school for the year last past show that the Goodall medal for excellence in scholarship and deportment was awarded to Eva M.

Cloutier.

I sincerely believe that the liberal and sane policy of the school authorities promises well for the future of your High School. The school ought to be the educational center of the community and as such must be adapted to both its material and cultural needs.

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation of the cordial support which I have received from the Superintendent and School Board.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY H. BURNHAM.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE SPRING- VALE HIGH SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The Springvale High School is located at present in the Lincoln Building. There have been registered 51 students, 22 boys and 29 girls this is nine more than are credited in the report for 1910. There are 19 Freshmen, 15 Sophomores, 10 Juniors, and 7 Seniors. Twenty-one are pursuing the Classical course, twenty-two the General English course, and eight the Commercial course.

To render the training from the four years spent in High School of greatest value to the individual students should be urged to elect some difficult subjects and to pursue them with diligence, rather than to devote all energy to the easily acquired branches.

The rooms allotted to the High School are hardly sufficient for the number of students. The number of teachers is also insufficient; there should be an additional teacher provided at once. Manual training and some domestic science should be introduced, hands and brain being trained together. Miss E. C. Davis is teaching the classes in English, Latin, and History; Miss A. M. Garvin has charge of the Commercial Department, and the Principal conducts classes in Mathematics, Science and French. The quality of the work in every department is first class, and each teacher is working beyond what ought to be expected of a High School instructor; there is scarcely any opportunity for that great essential—individual work with students. Also, the Principal should have some free time for general supervision.

The lack of reference books is embarrassing to the school. A new dictionary, a good encyclopedia, and sundry departmental books are much needed for daily use.

Coming as a stranger to Springvale last September, the Principal required some time to become acquainted with the traditions and methods of the school. The general good spirit which was found to prevail is testimony to the earnest labors of those who have preceded; and the visible friendly co-operation of parents, students and teachers is highly valued.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE LINCOLN BUILDING.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The nine grades connected with this building register 298 pupils, all of which are accommodated in this building, except the first grade which occupies a small building in the rear of the Lincoln, and the seventh grade for which a room was provided on Main street at the beginning of the fall term.

Of the teachers employed, the Misses E. Hobbs, Cooper, Harmon, Gordon, Grant, and F. Hobbs have already served one or more years in the Springvale Schools the Misses Oliver, Buzzell, Coombs and Barron began their work in Springvale with this year.

Several of the rooms are too crowded; without a mechanical ventilating system there is insufficient fresh air for health, and with an over-burdened teacher sufficient time and attention to each pupil is impossible. Some classes are still conducted in the corridors, to the detriment of the class and with disturbance of classes in nearby rooms. There should be some provision made for a lunch and play room in the basement—especially for those children who are transported and who must remain at the building during the noon hour.

Each school has been conducted with great efficiency and each teacher is deserving of much commendation. It is hoped that the citizens will support every effort to improve the schools, and that parents will aid by encouraging words and by seeing to it that their children attend with interest to the great business of learning.

G. H. McGAW.

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL OF LONGFELLOW SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The following is my report of the condition and work of the Longfellow School:

In the six grades of the school there are registered 332 pupils, occupying nine rooms, one fifth grade using the new room on the third floor. The attendance in all of the grades has been good except during the latter part of the fall term, when an epidemic of measles kept many of the younger children from being present. The cases of truancy are confined to a limited number of pupils, who need to be followed up very closely. In general the parents are to be thanked for the co-operation they have given the teachers in keeping the average of attendance high.

The work of the grades is, on the whole, progressing very well under the present teaching force. There are many cases of marked improvement in the work of individual pupils over their work of last year. Other pupils, on the contrary, are not doing the required work satisfactorily. These pupils are receiving special help in reading, arithmetic and geography, with the hope that by this means they may be ready for promotion. Every month, at the time the rank cards are sent out, notices are also sent to the parents of those pupils whose standing is not satisfactory asking for their interest in the matter. In several instances a decided improvement has been shown as a result. We are always glad to have the parents visit us on special occasions, but we wish they might make it convenient to see more of the regular work, for in the end that is what counts.

One lesson a week in manual training is given the boys of the fifth and sixth grades; at the same time the girls have sewing lessons in their rooms.

A fire drill is given at least once a month. At the time of the last drill, when all the rooms in the building were occupied, all the children had passed out of the building in two minutes, carrying their wraps, and in four minutes all were again seated at their desks.

There is a great need of a basement playroom, furnished with some simple gymnastic apparatus, which might be used on extremely cold or stormy days. As arrangements are now, the lower grades spend the recesses of such days in their rooms playing games or having physical exercises, while the higher grades have a five-minute intermission only.

I would call the attention of those parents who may later receive a notice regarding some physical defect in their children, to the advisability of having the defect remedied as soon as possible. Nearly all the backwardness of children may be traced to some physical ailment, such as deafness, poor eyesight or adenoids. It seems unnecessary that such things should be allowed when, in almost every case, the outlay of a few wdollars will work wonders. I am glad to notice that more and more of the parents are having their children's teeth cared for by the dentist. The good work should be carried further.

In closing, I wish to thank the Superintendent, the School Board and the teachers for their very cordial support.

Respectfully submitted,

LILLIAN M. FERNALD.

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL OF ROOSEVELT BUILDING.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Last spring when the grading lists were completed it seemed advisable to have another teacher at the Roosevelt for the ensuing year. When the fall term opened the room that had not been used was made ready for the second grade and another teacher was employed. After school began we were surprised that so few pupils entered the third grade. Thinking that truancy might be the cause of this decrease in numbers the truant officer was sent to find out why they were absent. In most cases he reported that the parents had moved. After we were sure that the third grade would not be much larger we thought best to close the second grade room and put that grade with the third. This was done very early in the term.

During the fall term many of the children in the first and second grades had measles. At one time only five in the first grade were able to attend, so that grade was closed for a few days. So much time was lost by these young pupils that I hope all the parents who had children out at that time will make a special effort to keep them attending regularly the remainder of the year.

The new slate blackboards that were put in during the summer vacation have made the work of the teachers much easier.

The first of last year there were many cases of tardiness in this building. We all tried to lessen the number, but for a long time the results were discouraging. However, the last of the year there was steady decrease. So far this year we have had very few pupils who have been tardy.

The service rendered by the truant officer has been prompt and efficient.

I desire to express my thanks to the teachers for their hearty co-operation, and to the superintendent and committee for their encouragement and support.

Respectfully submitted,

LILA NORTHRUP.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF DRAWING AND MANUAL TRAINING.

The work in Drawing and Manual Training is planned with the thought that each student may gain in powers of observation, appreciation and expression. A careful planning of some truly useful article, related to school or home life, and the designing of some decoration for it is the sort of problem which brings to the child pleasure and richness of living, and to the world useful men and women. The manner in which these problems are handled is self-expressive in character. Judgment, self reliance, concentration, neatness, order and a love for truth are qualities which are called into action.

In the fifth and sixth grades manual training appears in the form of whittling: tools, try-square, knife, pencil, rule; wood, 3-16in. basswood. In the seventh grade we begin bench work; tools, planes, saws, bench hook, boring tools, spokeshave; wood, basswood or whitewood. In the eighth grade bench work; tools, those of previous year with the following new tools: marking gauge, bradawl, chisel clamps, countersink, screwdriver; wood, whitewood and basswood. Ninth grade benchwork; new tools, crosscut saw, chisel, gauge, mallet and turning saw; wood, whitewood and walnut. High School classes work out larger models, including furniture.

The drawing throughout the grades and High School is planned according to the seasons as follows:

Fall—Nature drawing, color study, decorative arrangement.

Spring—Plant drawing, study of ornament, design.

The excellent equipment of both Drawing and Manual Training departments in Sanford is most helpful, while the co-operation of the teachers is inspiring.

Respectfully submitted,

BESSIE F. PALMER.

REPORT OF SPECIAL TEACHER OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

---

To the Superintendent of Schools of Sanford, Me.:

I submit my first report as supervisor of Domestic Science.

The aim in this practical branch is to have the pupils learn to do those things which every young woman should do for the benefit of the future generation. Each one should be able to make the simpler garments which she must wear, and to prepare and cook food of good value and nourishment to the system which is ours to keep good and pure.

The cooking department is well equipped. The girls are doing good work individually and as a class. They have tried some of the recipes at home and many have reported favorably.

We have had several visitors, including some of the parents. I should be glad, however, to see many more.

To get the best results the sewing department should have more utensils added. It is my aim to have each girl, starting with the sixth grade, make things for herself, so that in the end she may have something useful.

So far the sixth and seventh grades have made a combination bag and apron and are now making a flannel skirt. It should be remembered that each grade has only forty-five minutes a week, and that out of this time the work is distributed and collected. The fifth grades have made a work-bag and are making a kitchen apron. The improvement in their work since the first of the year is very marked.

It does seem as if something might be done for the eighth and ninth grades at Springvale. May I suggest that two machines be put at their disposal, so that they may have a class in making dresses and shirtwaists. They could then make some of their own dresses. This has been done with great success with girls of the same grades in other places.

In conclusion, I wish to thank the Superintendent and School Committee for their hearty support.

Respectfully submitted,

MARTHA BETSY MASON,

Supervisor of Domestic Science.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF READING AND.. LANGUAGES.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Since special training in reading is an innovation in our public schools, I want to speak briefly first of the purpose and plan of this department.

Naturally the most obvious object which we have in view is that of training our pupils to read with intelligent interpretation of the literature and with a quality of voice that will give pleasure and profit to himself and his hearers. But there are results coming from the training for this purpose that seem to me to be even more practical and far-reaching. In the very effort to clearly interpret the printed page to the listener the reader's own mental processes are stimulated, his ideas become clearer and his reasoning powers are developed. The better one gets to read vocally the better understanding and grasp of the literature we know he has when he reads to himself silently.

The endeavor to correct faulty articulation and enunciation, will, we hope, in time bear fruit in the speaking voices of the children as well as in their reading. Again, the overcoming of self-consciousness and the gain in confidence that comes to one in knowing how to use the speaking voice well, and in daring to use it as well as he knows, can hardly be over-estimated.

Beecher has said of the cultivated speaking voice that it "is like an orchestra. It ranges high, intermediate or low unconsciously to him who uses it, and men listen quite unaware that they have been bewitched out of their weariness by the charms of a voice not artificial, but made by assiduous training to be his second nature."

In all of the higher grades, in addition to the regular reading lesson, we are working on some piece of good literature as a model, striving for an intelligent and natural vocal expression. Thus far we have worked especially for vitality and animation, for a drawing out of the pupil the best expression of himself—that which he feels but often dares not give expression to.

In the lower grades the same ideas, modified to suit each grade, are carried out. Little plays, in which the children act the stories of the reading lesson, help to serve the purpose.

I have introduced the Cone Chart system of training for the speaking voice—a method which has been very successful in those cities where it has been in use for several years. In addition to this, we work on many other exercises for the overcoming of faults in voice and for correct breathing, without which there can be no right use of the voice.

In two of the first grades we are trying a new system of reading in place of the Ward, which has been in use so long. The results have been very satisfactory.

More supplementary reading is still needed in most of the grades, but that lack is gradually being supplied as we find suitable material, it being wisest to choose carefully and to choose only the best.

For the first six grades the work consists almost entirely of language lessons, that is, the oral and written expression of English. Beginning with the seventh grade, technical grammar is taken, the language lessons being continued in connection with it at least one day of each week.

The course is made as practical as possible, the purpose in view always being the establishing of correct forms of English, the elimination of the incorrect and the increasing of the vocabulary, all of which are of such importance to the child, since later in life his ability or fitness will be so often judged by his written or spoken word.

In technical grammar in the three upper grades the pupils keep their own notebooks, which instead of conforming to one text-book, have definitions, notes, illustrations and arrangements of the subject which have been carefully selected from many sources. I have arranged for a uniformity of work, so that all the rooms of any one grade in the town are following practically the same plan at the same time.

I am grateful to the School Board and Superintendent for their support and their interest in my work and to the teacher for their earnest co-operation.

WINIFRED SHACKLEY,
Supervisor of Reading and Language.

REPORT OF SPECIAL TEACHER OF MUSIC.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The study of music in the public schools has been continued on practically the same lines as heretofore, though every year an effort is made to improve on previous work, as experience suggests and as new ideas present themselves. In some respects the work done by the schools has been more satisfactory than ever before.

A constant effort is made to combine the care and improvement of the voices with such technical work as shall lead to intelligent singing in the future, and the use of such recreation songs as shall lead to a love of singing itself.

In the Springvale High School during the fall term a glee club was organized, but this has been changed to a double quartet, the members of which are different each week. It is planned for this quartet to sing before the class at each music lesson, thus to gain confidence and accuracy.

An entertainment is being planned to be given in the Town Hall on the evening of March 1st. There will be selections by a high school orchestra, by a girls' glee club, solos and readings by pupils, and an operetta to be given by members of the ninth grade. It is hoped that this entertainment will be the means of raising money enough to pay off the debt on the piano in the ninth grade room.

I gratefully acknowledge the kindness and assistance of the teachers with whom it is my privilege to be associated, and also of the superintendent.

Respectfully submitted,

SUSAN E. FROST, Instructor of Music.

GET THE SAVING HABIT

Lay up for a rainy day. Money in one's pocket is often spent on the spur of the moment, while you will think twice before drawing on your balance in the bank. The one sure way to save money is by depositing it in a responsible bank; that is the only way to prevent it from burning holes in your pockets. Pay your bills by check, which makes the best kind of a receipt. We are not offering you big returns on small investments, but a safe depository for your funds and interest on same at a rate consistent with sound banking. Put your money where it will be safe and draw interest while you sleep. Cultivate the saving habit in your children by opening a savings account in their name. Teach them to save their pennies. One dollar will start an account at this bank. Prosperity dates from the first dollar saved. The money you have made in the past you have spent and somebody else put it in the bank. Don't let the other fellow save what you earn. Why not put your own money in the bank? Try it, if you have but a dollar. Why not begin TO-DAY?

SANFORD FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Report of the Board of Engineers

To the citizens of Sanford:

The lost by fire in the United States and Canada during the twelve months ending December 31, 1911, as compiled from the carefully kept records of the Journal of Commerce, was $234,337,250. or $2.43 per capita for the entire population. The fire loss in Sanford was $8,425. or $1.40 per capita. While our department has answered nineteen more alarms, and the property endangered was many thousands of dollars more than ever before, we have succeeded in keeping the loss down as shown above.

The men have responded promptly and worked diligently at every alarm.

Twelve new hydrants have been set by the Sanford Water Co. during the year, in places where they were most needed. These make a total of 67 hydrants available.

Five new fire alarm boxes have been installed by the town and one by the Sanford Mills, making a total of 27 boxes. We would recommend that three new boxes be purchased, one for North Ave., one for upper Main and one for Mechanic St., near the new station.

The equipment at the Central station is in excellent condition with the exception of two of the horses; one is nearly blind and the other causes considerable trouble in going under the harness when an alarm comes in. While these conditions are not serious, we would recommend that these horses be exchanged and we believe that this could be done without much expense to the town.

It was our pleasure to give a demonstration for the Underwriters on Jan. 17, 1912, at 10.15 p. m. An alarm was pulled in from box 24 and in four and one-half minutes the three pieces of apparatus were at the box with a total of twenty-four men. The streets were filled with snow and the horses were compelled to walk the entire distance, (about  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a mile.) The next morning an alarm was pulled in from box 23 at 7.20 a. m. and in ten minutes the department, assisted by the Sanford Mills department, which always responds to an alarm from this box, had laid and connected twenty-three streams (including two chemical streams) and raised 220 feet of ladders on and around the Leavitt Block.

It is almost needless to say, that the entire department is deeply indebted to the citizens for the new fire station, and we deem it not out of place to extend our heartiest thanks to the citizens for their generosity. We extend a cordial invitation to any citizen or visitor to call at the station at any time and inspect the station.

In concluding this report it is again our pleasure to extend our sincere appreciation for the assistance and courtesies received from the Sanford Mills Fire Department.

REPORT OF BUILDING COMMITTEE FOR NEW FIRE STATION.

To the Citizens of Sanford: .

Before making any decision regarding the New Station, members of the committee, with the architect, visited several fire stations in surrounding cities. Plans were then drawn embracing what your committee considered, all of the details required in a modern fire station. The plans were then submitted to several builders and the following bids were received:

|                            |             |
|----------------------------|-------------|
| John W. Burroughs Co. .... | $12,895.00 |
| Fred S. Sherburne .....    | 13,900.00   |
| W. H. Haines .....         | 14,000.00   |

After careful consideration we decided that it would be for the best interests of the town for the committee to erect the building by the day under the supervision of the architect.

In purchasing the material the local dealers were asked to submit estimates and in each instance the material was purchased from the firm quoting the best terms.

The foundation is made of solid concrete re-enforced with steel rods. First quality brick were used throughout the building and the entire frame is well-seasoned Southern Pine except a part of the roof where first quality spruce was used. The interior finish for the first floor is hard pine and for the second floor cyprus. In each instance the best quality was used.

TOWN OF SANFORD

The hardware for the outside doors and the horse stalls was made by John H. Clay and the fixtures are the best it is possible to secure.

The building is heated with a Gurney Steam Boiler, and the plant is guaranteed to heat the station to a temperature of seventy degrees with an outside temperature of twenty degrees below zero, and it has actually met with this requirement.

The plumbing consists of modern fixtures thoroughly installed, including a well appointed bath room, with bath tub, closet, urinal and wash bowl. Hot water is supplied by an auxiliary heater placed in the basement so that hot water may be had at any time without running the large boiler.

Electric fixtures and lights are installed in all parts of the building, including an automatic switch which is connected with the fire-alarm system, so that all required lights are switched on automatically by the fire-alarm.

All outside wires including light, fire-alarm and telephone, enter the building and run directly on to a slate switch board, thus avoiding the danger from fire through any of the above sources.

With the exception of the brick laying, all work on the building was done by the day and every laborer was a resident of the town.

In the basement besides the heating plant is a fire-proof room for the batteries required for the fire-alarm. These have heretofore been located at Sanford Mills. The first floor is devoted entirely to the use of apparatus and horses. The second floor is divided as follows: Hay and grain room, card and smoking room, Assembly room, Engineer's office, bath room and four sleeping rooms. At each end of the corridor leading out of the sleeping rooms is a sliding pole.

During the construction of the building we have found it advisable to make several changes from the original specifications and in each instance the change was made not to decrease the cost but to increase the efficiency of the building.

The committee at first thought it would leave the upper story unfinished but as events have shaped themselves the very first thing asked for by the insurance companies was for good quarters for the men in the building. We also have made the assembly hall as attractive as possible, as we believe that the fire department will be more efficient if the members have something to stimulate interest in their work.

The city of Waterville has just finished a fire station very similar to ours which cost $17,000.00.

Considering the efficiency of our fire department and the remarkable low fire loss in our town, we believe the tax payers will one and all agree that it is better to have a building suited to the purposes for which it was built, even at increased cost, rather than to have built within the limits of the appropriation and not have had a suitable fire station large enough for our future needs.

The Fire Underwriters have thoroughly inspected the building and pronounced it to be one of the best arranged and equipped buildings in the State, and they have accordingly agreed to reduce the insurance rates 20 per cent. on every dwelling within five hundred feet of a hydrant, provided, three permanent firemen are kept at the station.

AUDITOR'S REPORT.

This is to certify that I have examined the accounts of the Town of Sanford, as shown to me by the Selectmen, and find them correct.

S. O. NICHOLLS, Auditor.

Report of Bankers Audit Co.

Portland, Maine

to

Inasmuch as the accounting of the average town government is rarely more than a series of rolls and memoranda, a thoro audit is a difficult undertaking; and, while this town's accounts and methods do not differ materially from those of most other towns, in some respects they are better; yet, they are far from adequate for a town like Sanford, ranking as it does as one of the largest in the State, and having a large income and expenditure annually.

Having no verified statement of the financial condition of the town at the beginning of the period, necessitated an investigation to ascertain the same as nearly as could be done from the accounts of the past year; for an audit of income embraces what should have been received as well as what is apparent as accounted for.

To have made a complete audit of the town's affairs would have required the examination, to a considerable extent, of the accounts of previous years, but, as our audit was confined to the work of the last fiscal year, we were obliged to set up the statement for the opening of the year on the basis of what the transactions of the last year revealed.

The books of a town should show accounts covering all assets from previous periods capable of realization in subsequent years, thus making everything a matter of record that nothing of value to the town may be overlooked; and also, of equal importance, a correct record of outstanding liabilities and town debt.

Where the assets and liabilities are not incorporated into the accounts, liquidation of liabilities in the succeeding year would adversely modify any good showing that a government might be able to make; on the other hand, the realization of assets not previously stated would inflate the revenue advantageously to help a poor showing.

In but a few instances will the ordinary system of municipal accounting exhibit the true condition of the affairs of the municipality.

The statements usually prepared and submitted present a report of the receipts and disbursements, but rarely more than an approximate estimate of the assets and liabilities.

The revenues for the year should include obligations accruing due to the municipality by tax levy or otherwise for that year, altho they may or may not have been collected within the period.

Expenditures of the government for the year are all of the debts contracted belonging to that period, whether paid within the year or not.

The fundamental principle is that each year's expense against income should stand by itself, and be shown.

---

To present an accurate statement, results from all subsidiary books should be collected in a general ledger and all accounts and claims should be entered, if correct, by the proper officers as credits to the claimants in the books of the town, charging the proper accounts for the expenditure. These debts will then appear in the balance sheet with the expenditure of the year correctly shown.

If there were adopted by the town a simple but efficient plan of accounting, one easily understood and readily applied, its advantages would include a large saving to the town, while conveying a better understanding of its affairs.

All incoming governments would then keep accounts in the same manner and form as their predecessors, making statements along identical lines, including therein, properly classified, all financial transactions, and the tax-payers would have material for comparisons the accuracy of which could be relied upon.

Not the least of the advantages accruing would be the possession by the town of an authentic set of records, taken together constituting a unit, showing at all times complete information of results of operation.

In our statement of income and expenses, we have not included in the amount available for common schools the unexpended balance from the previous year; but we have charged the whole amount of income for the current year to expenses in order that the balance or liability could be shown at the end of the year.

As funds once appropriated do not have to again

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE

be appropriated, if proper accounting methods are followed, the expenditure of the unexpended balance will discharge the liability without affecting the revenues or expenses.

It is acknowledged to be good practise to draw town orders for expenses known to have been incurred, and to charge such orders against the appropriation to show the liability therefor. This is the exact course we have pursued with the revenues available for the common schools, which it is known must all be expended, except that no order was drawn for the amount.

While our figures show a deficit for the year amounting to $8,067.18, $5,000 of this increased debt was authorized by vote of the town for the purpose of erecting the new fire engine house, and the balance is more than accounted for by the additional cost of the fire station above the amount available therefor.

NOTE:—$1,000 should be added to the above $5,000, as it was authorized and expended for addition to Cemetery.

Our tabulation of income and expense shows $3,000 to have been appropriated for "Town notes and bonds" (reduction of town debt) with no expenditure against it, and an unexpended balance equal to the amount of the appropriation. As a matter of fact, $2,000 of bonds and $1,350 of notes which were outstanding at the beginning of the year have been paid, but this was done by again borrowing amounts equal thereto, and the transactions are plainly shown in the Non-revenue statement.

NOTE:—As a matter of fact $2,000 of bonds and $2,350 of notes which were outstanding at the beginning of the year have been paid; a $1,000 note on Sept. 1st from funds received from taxes and not borrowed; the $1,350 referred to above was notes on which payment was demanded, and for the payment of which no appropriation was made. As the $3,000 appropriated was exhausted by payment of $2,000 bonds and $1,000 note, it was simply a matter of changing these notes over from one person to another.

It will be seen that, in reality, there was no actual reduction of the debt, but on the contrary, an increase of the debt on account of town notes and bonds.

It is evident that if the ordinary income was insufficient to pay running expenses, the debt could not be reduced.

We have only included in the assets the amount actually found to be due from the State of Maine on account of expenditures upon State roads. The balance of $189.04 apportioned by the State is available upon an expenditure of that amount for State road improvement, and until such amount has been so expended, it does not become an asset to the town, but the town, by so expending, will acquire that much more improved highway without cost to itself.

We have not included in the assets any sum due from the State for dog licenses to be refunded for the very good reason that the amount is unascertainable, it not having been apportioned by the State, and for the other equally good reason, that when it is apportioned, it belongs to the revenue of the period next succeeding January 31, 1912, for which reason we included in the income of 1911 the amount received on account of a similar apportionment for that year, and it is manifestly improper to have included the apportionment for two years in one year's revenues.

NOTE:—If the town was going to wind up its business right now, we think that this money, collected in 1911, forwarded to the State and a part of which we are entitled to receive back from the State, would necessarily be reckoned as an asset.

In several instances the bills or vouchers supporting expenditures were missing. In a great number of cases the bills do not show on what account the expenditure was incurred. We do not undertake to vouch for the correctness of the charges to the several appropriations, but believe they are substantially as shown, but had there been some simple method of marking or approval of bills by those in charge of the work to associate the expenditure with that required by the appropriation, we could have given reasonable assurance of the correctness of the charges.

NOTE:—This is an unfair criticism; in a few unavoidable cases vouchers are missing, but in all such cases we show the indorsed check, showing receipt of the money, and there are no great number of cases, if any, in which the bills do not show the department for which they were incurred, and there are no bills which are not charged to the right department.

It is not to be expected that the figures of the town officers will agree with ours because their method differs, and the ordinary style of reporting towns' accounts do not embrace all of the details necessary to show a proof.

One very common result of improper methods in town accounting is that appropriations are very frequently overdrawn, subjecting the administration to criticism. Proper accounting would indicate at all times during the year the standing of all appropriations.

It is very desirable that when an expenditure is made, the account to which it is chargeable should be immediately ascertained, and it should be so charged and not, as in the case of sidewalks and highways, all expenditures be charged to roads and then separated by adjustments or credits afterwards, nor should they be left to co-ordinate branches of the government to be shown in their separate reports; in other words, the general books should show the results of all public works in detail.

It is as desirable to know the standing of the different public enterprises from time to time, as it is at the close of the year, and it is manifestly proper and convenient that this information be centralized in the office of the Selectmen, instead of being scattered among numerous departments.

No payments should be made by the Treasurer except upon order of the municipal officers. If it is desired that the Town Treasurer should be custodian of the funds of the Cemetery Association, then any payments from such funds should also be upon order of the Selectmen. This procedure is quite necessary in order that all financial transactions may go through the accounts of the Town in proper order and under the proper dates, and in order that all vouchers therefor may be lodged with the municipal officers.

It is equally important that all moneys due the Town be paid over to the Treasurer promptly by the several departments authorized to collect.

We recommend that as the interest day of either of the bond issues approaches, the Treasurer, on order of the Selectmen, deposit total required amount in the bank where the coupons are payable, said

Report of the Superintending School Committee

To the Citizens of the Town of Sanford:

Your committee has the pleasure to herewith submit its annual report for the fiscal year ending Jan. 31, 1911, also the reports of the Superintendent of Schools, Special Supervisors and Instructors.

At the beginning of the Spring term the Sanford and Springvale high schools were combined. Mr. Burnham was retained as principal, with the regular teaching force as assistants.

Your committee believes that every citizen should appreciate the excellent personnel of our teaching force. We recommend that everyone interested visit the schools, and thereby show to the community and teachers that their work is approved.

We consider that under the new educational law our night school has been of great advantage to those who have not acquired a rudimentary education and we recommend its continuance.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools

To the Superintending School Committee of the Town of Sanford:

Gentlemen:—For the first time I submit to you, and through you to the citizens of Sanford, the school report for the year ending January 31, 1912. The work of the schools for the past year has been completed in a satisfactory manner. Our teachers have been capable, conscientious and hard working. Every possible effort has been made to secure good teachers—scholarship and training are essential to success in teaching but the most vital element of all is the ability of the teacher to make school work attractive and be able to interpret and express the best there is in life.

On April 1, 1911, the records show that there were in Sanford 2955 persons between the ages of five (5) and twenty-one (21) years. The total school enrollment for the fall term of the year was 1660, of which 1151 are in our public schools and 519 in the parochial school.

We have added one teacher at the Roosevelt so that all the rooms there are now in use. One more room should be provided at the Longfellow and at least four rooms should be provided at Springvale. There should be two first grade rooms and two second grade rooms at the Lincoln. Mr. Colby in his last report said, "The accommodations in the Lincoln building are entirely inadequate for the proper care, comfort and good health of the pupils attending." I hope a new building sufficient for the needs of Springvale may be erected next spring and summer.

A new boiler has been placed in the Longfellow building during the past year and the heating plant at Springvale will have to be repaired this summer. Perhaps a new boiler must be added there as the old one is in bad condition, having been used for the past twenty years. Extensive repairs were made on the school house at Butler's Corner, and it is now an attractive room.

I have issued one hundred three (103) Age and Schooling Certificates during the Fall and Winter. The greater part of the children receiving them are fifteen years old. The reason always assigned for the child's leaving school is, "His earnings will help us." I wish to show the relation between actual time of school attendance and wage earning power as given by Dr. W. T. Harris, while United States Commissioner of Education. He made a special study of this question and found that each child in Massachusetts received an average of seven (7) years schooling, while in the whole United States the average per child was only four and three-tenths years. The average earning power of the inhabitants of Massachusetts was seventy-three (73) cents per day and for the whole country it was only forty (40) cents per day. You will see from this that the ratio of years of school life was 70 to 43 and the ratio of earning power was 73 to 40. Other conditions than educational qualifications do many times affect wage earning power, but I believe that larger earning power is a result of broader education.

If the schools are to prepare for complete living by promoting social efficiency, some effort should be made to save the teeth and conserve the general health of our school children. Only about one-fifth of them are now having their teeth cared for by a dentist.

In addition to the amount reported there is due the town from fifty to seventy-five dollars on supplies sold and twenty dollars on high school tuition.

During the spring and summer papers were filed with the State Superintendent for two-thirds of the amount paid to the teachers of Manual Training and Domestic Arts. No appropriation was made by the town but these teachers were paid $1700.00 from the common school money and we have received $966.66 from the state and credited it to the common school account. Later we shall receive $166.67 more to be credited to the same account. This year I hope a separate appropriation may be made for these subjects so that no criticism may be made from the State.

During the coming year I hope that more parents may visit our schools and see what our teachers are doing and what they are trying to do. Hold the school to be one of the chief factors in the growing life of the child and give the teacher that moral support without which she cannot do her best work.

Our evening school was opened at the Emerson and is in session from seven to nine o'clock on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Much interest is shown in the work and I hope to see a larger appropriation next year, so that we may have a small evening school at Springvale. There is a large unfinished hall at the Longfellow building that could be fitted for an evening school for about $600.00.

Our schools have had a prosperous year and I see no reason why the appropriation for common schools should not be decreased $1500.00. In conclusion, I wish to thank you, the members of the school board, for your help and advice and for the interest you have shown in all school matters presented. My thanks are also due the teachers and pupils for their hard work and pleasant associations. To the citizens my thanks are extended for your many kind words and deeds and the interest you have shown in the schools.

Respectfully submitted,

ISAAC A. SMITH,

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF SANFORD HIGH SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of the Schools of Sanford:

I hereby submit my second report as principal of your high school.

The year has been one of prosperity and marked advancement. The class that graduated in June numbered twenty-five---the largest in the history of the school. The Goodall Medal for excellence in scholarship and conduct was awarded to Ethel M. Weymouth of the Junior Class. The number enrolled during the fall term was one hundred twenty-three, making the total attendance at the Emerson building over two hundred fifty. The average attendance and number of cases of tardiness at the high school show a decided improvement over last year.

The changes incident to the reorganization of the school were given in such detail in my last report that it is not necessary to repeat them. The marked change in the condition of the school shows that the innovations were successful and justifies their inauguration. The school now has definite ends in view and definite plans for attaining those ends. The organization of the school is better, the teaching force more efficient and the average work of the pupils higher than ever before.

The new courses are now well established and, judging from the results already obtained, promise well for the future. A class of fourteen began the study of German in September. This is a two-year course beginning in the Junior year and will meet the entrance requirements of all the colleges in Maine and those of other colleges and scientific schools. The four distinct courses now offered are the General, the Commercial and the two preparatory courses—the Classical and the Scientific. These courses are adequate and the teaching force highly efficient. It is no longer necessary for the boy or girl desirous of continuing his work beyond the high school to go elsewhere for his preparation. An early decision as to the institution he is to attend, a wise choice of electives under the direction of his teachers and faithful application, will give him the desired preparation here in this school.

Boys and girls are the best asset of a community. The best investment a community can make is to offer such opportunities that those boys and girls may become efficient citizens. Every boy and girl that pursues his education beyond the high school adds, either directly or indirectly, to the resources of the community. He may become a direct leavening force by his residence there or he may become an inspiration to others by his success elsewhere. The state stands ready to do its part, therefore it devolves upon the community to provide the best possible preparation that our youth may take advantage of the opportunities which the state offers. Our state Normal Schools provide excellent professional training for grade, for domestic science and for manual arts teachers. Our state University at Orono is noted for the excellence of its engineering and scientific courses while Bates, Bowdoin and Colby offer excellent opportunities for collegiate training at a minimum expense. The recently proposed college for girls will complete a system of schools for higher education that will give an open door to every ambitious student in our state.

Not only must the high school offer adequate preparation for higher institutions but at the same time it must also offer its very best to that great percentage of its pupils whose academic training will end with their graduation. That this end may be attained, nothing should be allowed to interfere with anything that tends to increase the efficiency of the school organization, the teaching force or the pupil.

To accomplish this, money must be spent liberally but with discrimination. No amount is too great. When wisely spent, such money brings returns beyond the power of man to foretell. This wise spending is one of the great educational problems of the day. Concentration for greater efficiency is one of the methods of solution that has been tried and found productive of excellent results. It is a demonstrated fact that the maintainance of high schools in small places is a poor investment. Again and again false pride has been responsible for the maintainance of a high school and an academy in the same town and for the maintainance of weak high schools in small communities adjacent to cities when it would have been better business policy to have maintained one strong school that would have been a source of pride to the town and to have paid the tuition and transportation of the high school pupils in the city schools with their efficient teaching force and strong organization.

When two members were added to the teaching force, the efficiency of your high school was greatly increased. This made possible the division of the work along departmental lines—one of the strongest features of the present organization of the school. Each teacher is directly responsible for some particular kind of work and is able to concentrate his energies on that subject for which he is especially trained. In this the pupil benefits by instruction from a specialist in each branch of his course. Miss Evans has charge of the Mathematics department;

Miss Davis of the Latin department; Miss Venard of the Modern Language department; Miss Ring, who succeeded Miss Ballou, of the English department; Miss Ruggles of the Commercial department; Miss Cogswell, who succeeded Miss Garvin, teaches stenography and typewriting; while the principal teaches the sciences and History of Literature. Such a division of work is in harmony with the latest ideals in educational methods. Specialization increases the efficiency of the teacher and the opportunity of the pupil while at the same time it enhances the reputation of the school.

Under the present system each teacher returns to the building on stated afternoons every week for individual work with pupils. The pupil who has failed to do satisfactory work in recitation or has been absent from recitation is required to return and make up such work. Pupils that need help in their regular work are encouraged to return and receive such individual instruction as will enable them to overcome their own peculiar difficulties. It frequently happens that the different pupils who hesitate to ask questions during the recitation period will seek individual assistance from the teacher if the opportunity is offered. This is important as the pupil acquires confidence in himself and his instructor while the teacher better understands the needs of the pupil. This sympathetic relation between teacher and pupil is essential for the best work of both. No such scheme is possible in a school that requires two sessions.

The high school is the climax of the school system of every town and city. The present status of your high school may well be a source of pride to every citizen of our town. The building, the equipment, the number of courses offered, the efficiency of the teaching force, the splendid spirit of the school all justify the liberal policy of the town in its conduct of the school. I wish to especially commend the spirit of the school. It would be difficult to find a finer body of young men and women than those who compose our school. We cordially invite parents, town officials and all others to visit the school and see this orderly, high minded, industrious body of pupils at their daily work.

The school needs more reference books along both general and special lines for the library and some changes in the laboratory equipment. A new filing cabinet for cards and papers is desirable. These will add to the efficient working of the school.

I wish to hereby acknowledge the loyal support of the school officials, my co-workers and my pupils which has made the success of the past year possible.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY H. BURNHAM.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF READING AND LANGUAGE.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

We have worked in all grades, from the first to the ninth, to train pupils in the correct use and command of the organs of speech and to secure ease and naturalness of expression.

Many voice-developing exercises are used for purity of tone, open mouth and throat and use of lips. I find that many cases of poor articulation come from the habit of talking with the mouth nearly closed, or of talking through the teeth.

Because good reading depends not only on a good voice but also on the ability of the reader to make whatever he is reading live over again for himself and the listener, we try constantly to develop the imagination of the child and to get him to make the thought which he reads his own.

The Progressive Road to Reading, which was tried in two first grades last year, was introduced into all the five first grade rooms at the beginning of this year. This method differs from most others in presenting, the very first thing, interesting folklore stories which the children love, instead of the usual pages of disconnected and uninteresting short sentences. Now after one-half year's work the majority of the first grade children have a stock of about three hundred sight words, are able to read with good expression a dozen or more stories averaging four pages each, and have a good start in phonetics. This same series is now in use in our second and third grades.

The higher grades, beginning with the sixth, are reading pieces of standard literature. In all classes pupils commit to memory some of the best short poems by means of concert recitation, there being not much time for individual work in this line. Pleasing results in both voice and expression have been shown.

In several grades good work is being done by using dramatic readers in which the different parts of a little play or scene are taken by pupils and to some extent are acted as they read.

One marked improvement noticed is increased confidence on the part of pupils—a daring to stand before the class and to read as well as they can without embarrassment.

The work in language and grammar has followed out the same general plan as last year. Technical grammar is begun in the seventh grade. Below this grade most of the time is spent in working for correct spoken and written forms of English and in taking up the parts of speech in a very simple way.

I would express my thanks to school board, superintendent and teachers for their interest and aid in my work.

WINIFRED SHACKLEY,

REPORT OF INSTRUCTOR OF MUSIC.

To the Superintendent of Schools:—

The report of the music work done in the schools is necessarily much the same from year to year. As in other studies, the chief value of the course lies in the work done in the class-room, much of it drill work, combined as freely as time permits with recreative singing. Perhaps there is no accomplishment which enters so largely into the life of the community as singing, and those who are able to contribute a share towards the chorus work of the people with whom they are associated render a service to the community. The school work aims to teach the boys and girls what good singing is, and to enable them to give intelligent help in the chorus work of church and society. Aside from the work done in after life, there is no question of the value of music in the school room itself, as a source of enjoyment and as a study of mental value.

It is pleasing to report that the piano in the ninth grade room at Sanford is now entirely paid for. The operetta, "The Merry Company," given by the class last March, was performed with much credit to those who took part, and a good sum of money was realized. There still remains a debt on the piano, at Springvale, and preparations are being made for an entertainment and social to be given February the fourteenth, the proceeds to be used towards paying the amount due.

The Modern Music Series, which has been in use in the grades for six years, is to be superceeded by the Eleonor Smith Music Course, a more recent work. This book has already been introduced in a few of the lower grades.

Thanks are due to the teachers with whom I am associated for their continued help and interest in the music work.

Respectfully submitted,

SUSAN E. FROST,

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

To the Superintendent of Schools of Sanford, Maine.

I submit my second report as Supervisor of Domestic Science:

The purpose of this branch of education is to fit the young girl to be able to plan and execute a system of cooking and sewing.. It is the age of applied science and is an opportunity of benefiting the household and the health of the family. Whatever, then, will enlighten the mind, and lighten the burden of care of every housekeeper will be a boon.

This work will have accomplished its purpose if it interests those who understand already the principles of cooking, gives a few answers to those who continually ask, "Why?" and "How?" to sewing and stimulates to study and thought the many who have long labored with willing hearts but untrained minds and hands.

The children of the first four grades have started with hand work to train the hands as well as the minds for future use; in this they have responded well.

Next the fifth and sixth grades are working with reeds and raffla and are finishing up some very pretty bags and baskets.

In the seventh grades in Sanford the pupils have nearly all finished their aprons, caps and towels which they will use in the cooking classes next year. These same pupils are now drafting patterns of garments for themselves. Also the eighth and ninth grades of Springvale are doing likewise.

The eighth, ninth and High School pupils are showing marked improvement and interest in their cooking classes. In the rest of the class lessons Paper Bag Cooking will be introduced.

In conclusion I wish to thank the School Committee and Superintendent for their loyal support.

Respectfully submitted,

MARTHA B. MASON.

Supervisor of Domestic Science

Sanford, Maine, February 7, 1912.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF ART AND MANUAL TRAINING.

The work in the drawing and manual training is planned along a definite line of thought, the aim of which is to make a child appreciate the ordinary things about him and to give him a knowledge of the working and the possibility of the great industrial organization of which he himself, will some day become a part.

We will always welcome you to our classrooms and appreciate any interest shown in the work.

The equipment for both Drawing and Manual training is excellent, while the co-operation of the teachers, school committee and superintendent is an inspiration and a pleasure.

Respectfully submitted,

HAZEL GRACE ANDREWS

Supervisor of Drawing and Manual Training.

Sanford Me., Feb. 1, 1912.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF LONGFELLOW BUILDING.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

There are now three-hundred, thirty-six pupils in the Longfellow building. The pupils are about equally divided in the different grades except in the fourth, third and second, where, owing to the large number of pupils the work is too much for one teacher. The attendance has been especially good through the year except in grades one and two, where the irregularity of attendance was due to the prevalence of whooping cough.

Over one-hundred pupils or thirty-three and one third per cent. of the number attending were given certificates for being neither absent nor tardy during the fall term of fourteen weeks.

At the beginning of the winter term four were promoted from the second grade to the third and three from the third grade to the fourth.

The progressive "Road to Reading" which is in story form has been placed in the three lower grades and drills relating to this method are taken in grades four and five.

Hand work has been introduced in all the grades this year.

During the fall term a suitable fire escape was built from the third story to the second.

Fire drills are occasionally given.

I am especially pleased with the large number of visits we have already received from the parents of the children and hope that many more will visit us during the remaining weeks of the year.

The former Principal, Miss Fernald, called attention to the fact that the play room in the basement was greatly needed, especially in the unpleasant weather and I heartily indorse what has already been said and hope it will be accomplished in the near future.

I wish to extend my thanks to the superintendent, school board and teachers for their co-operation and support and also The Sanford Tribune for the interest it has shown in our schools during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

L. ALICE BEAN, Principal.

Sanford, Me., Jan. 30, 1912.

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL OF ROOSEVELT SCHOOL.

To the Superintendent of Schools:—

This year the first five grades are in this building. One room is used for the second and third, and the others have one grade in each. Ever since this building was first occupied we have thought that the succeeding year it would be possible to have one grade in each room, but so far the second and third grades have been too small for that plan to be carried out.

Several boys under fifteen years of age, who were not attending any school, have been reported to me. Mr. Wentworth looked them up and he has been very successful in getting them to attend.

When there is bare ground and the soil is damp or wet we have great difficulty in keeping this building clean. The children step from the mud directly into the lower hall. You would be surprised if you could see the amount of sand swept up by the janitor after we have used the building one day. I wish we could have walks or some gravel near the doors so as to lessen the amount of sand brought in.

During the cold and stormy weather we have appreciated the play rooms more than ever before. The children have a chance to play at recess. This rests them and they are as willing to study when they get back to their rooms as they are when they play out of doors.

In closing, I wish to thank the superintendent, committee, and teachers for their interest and help.

Respectfully submitted,

LILA M. NORTHRUP.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE LINCOLN BUILDING.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

In accordance with your request, I submit the following report of the Lincoln school for the past year.

The nine grades connected with this building register 328. The first grade occupies a room in the rear of the yard and the seventh grade is accommodated in a room on Main street.

Owing to the crowded conditions in the first and second grades, the formation of a combined first and second grade was necessary.

The school was not only fortunate in retaining able and painstaking teachers but in securing the services of Miss Carrie Paul, Miss Nathalie Moulton and Mrs. Vernie Skillin to fill the positions of those who resigned at the close of the spring term to take up work elsewhere.

Electric light service was installed in the lower story and the basement of the building, making it fully equipped in this line. The teachers highly appreciate this improvement.

Our pupils are proud of the new flag given us by the town at the beginning of the school year. The gift of four large silk flags by the Willard Relief Corps to the first four grades is much appreciated by all.

From the proceeds obtained at an art exhibition held last winter the following pictures have been purchased and adorn the walls of the various rooms: "Deer in the Forest," by Rosa Bonheur; "The Gleaners," by Millet; "The Monarch of the Glen," by Landseer; "The Fog Warning," by Winslow Homer; "Girl with Apple," by Greuze, and "Landscape with Windmill" by Van Ruysdale. The rest of the fund, comprising some over sixty dollars, will be used in the near future for the purchase of more pictures.

The epidemic of whooping cough has prevailed in our schools to a great extent; it has necessitated over fifty pupils remaining at home for several weeks.

I commend every teacher for putting forth her best efforts that the schools may attain a high standard.

TOWN OF SANFORD

The courteous manner of the pupils in all grades shows not only careful home training but a good spirit existing between teachers and those whom they instruct.

It is hoped that more parents will avail themselves of the opportunity of observing the work in the schools.

In closing I wish to thank the superintendent, the truant officer Mr. F. A. Clark, and all the teachers for their hearty co-operation in my efforts to make the school a success.

Respectfully submitted,

ETHEL M. HOBBS, Principal.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH

You would not run any machine without oiling and overhauling it—if you did it would soon be spoiled. It is the same with a watch. Don't wait until it is so badly out of repair as to require new parts and days of work on it. There is economy in having your watch attended to regularly—having it cleaned and oiled at least once a year. If properly done, your watch will last you a lifetime.
